HORTON SMITH TAKES NATIONAL OPEN LEAD WITH 142, TWO STROKES IN FRONT OF BOBBY

First Reservation to Treaty Offered in Senate

Norris Reservation Would Nullify All "Understandings" and Constructions Resulting From Papers.

REED AND ALLEN TO FIGHT NORRIS

President Says Dawes' Language in Letters Might Create Public Hostility to Pact Abroad

BY HERBERT LITTLE,
United News Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—President Hoover refused today to open to the senate the secret exchanges leading up to the naval treaty. Anti-treaty leaders replied at once with a charge that Mr. Hoover and the state department have saddled upon the country once again "old world secret diplomacy."

Then Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, counted as a treaty supporter, introduced the first proposed reservation, to make ratification on subject to the understanding that no secret papers modified the treaty and no secret agreements would in the future control its construction. Senators Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, a treaty conference delegate, and Allen, republican, Kansas, leader of the young guard republican forces favoring the treaty, immediately denounced the proposal and announced they would fight it.

Scale models of six and eight-inch gun turrets, and actual shells of the guns which form the center of the treaty controversy, stood in the senate chamber today as the dozen or so "battalion of death" treaty opponents again took up most of the session in desperate and vehement attacks.

Mr. Hoover in a formal message replied to the senate's resolution of yesterday, asking for all the secret documents. He said publication would constitute a "betrayal of trust" but that any senator could be, and several had been, permitted to inspect the papers in confidence.

Not "Explosive."

In a press conference later the president described the documents as containing opinions of officials of this and other countries regarding each other and some of the naval proposals, naming names and governments. Some were reliable, some were not, he said. He added that they were not "explosive," but left no doubt that the frank statements, if made public, might create public opinion abroad hostile to the treaty and perhaps to Ambassador Dawes, who transmitted the pre-conference naval reports.

Mr. Hoover's short message outlining his views reached the senate just as the bristly-haired Hale, of Maine, chairman of the naval committee, was making a 20,000-word attack on the treaty, and the message had to wait. When Hale finished, the slender Reed replied heatedly, expressing resentment at Hale's charge that the treaty hogties and hamstrings this country.

"I've never been to a ball game," said the caustic Reed, "but that some fat man in the bleachers could play better than anyone on the team."

Reed pointed sarcastically at the wooden gun models, and started giving statistics about six-inch guns being fired 11 times a minute in actual battle practice while the eight-inch guns which Hale upholds are machine-loaded and therefore much slower.

Reed berated "admirals who see so much of Washington and so little of the seas" and who, he said, were contending through Hale that "we should shoot our way to mastery of the

BY JOSEPH H. BAIRD,
United News Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(UN) The spirited renewal of banditry in the lower Yangtze valley of China is causing serious apprehension for the safety of the 355 Americans there, it was learned at the state department today.

This concern led the American consul general at Hankow, Frank P. Lockhart, to circularize the Americans in the valley and advise them to evacuate immediately to places of safety. Foreigners living in interior China are in "immediate danger," Lockhart advised the department.

The consul's telegram to Washington followed by only a day reports that American ships on the Yangtze had been fired on by Chinese bandits along the banks. Recently an American sailor was killed by bandit fire as his boat sailed up the river.

Communists Cause Fear.

Plain bandits and so-called "communists" are the depredators feared by American authorities in China. The bandits, it was said at the state department, represent not only professional marauders who have been active for years, but some of the cast-off troops of the numerous armies which have marched and countermarched over Chinese territory during the recent civil wars.

The danger, according to Lockhart's advices, is confined to the four Yangtze valley provinces of Hunan, Hupeh, Kiangsi, and "to a lesser extent," Honan. All of these lie within the nominal confines of the nationalist government.

State department data gathered on January 1, 1930, indicate there are 119 Americans in Hunan, 336 in Hupeh, 112 in Kiangsi and 114 in Houan. Of these 326 are in ports or international settlements where they enjoy the protection of American or European forces. The remainder, 355, are in the interior.

No More to Enter.

Most of these Americans, it was said at the department, are missionaries. Very few businessmen now reside in the Chinese interior.

The endangered Americans, Lockhart stated, have long known of the perils surrounding them. Nevertheless, he added, they continue to remain at their posts where, he explains, it would be difficult to evacuate them in case of active danger. They are, he feared, taking a perilous chance of being captured and held for ransom.

The consulate general is attempting to prevent the entrance of more Americans in the Chinese interior. For some time, Lockhart said, he had refused to issue travel certificates to points from which Americans cannot be safely and quickly evacuated.

Military protection of American interests on the Yangtze is depending on a fleet of seven light-draft gunboats composing the so-called Yangtze patrol. These ships were built in China for special service on the river, which is not entirely navigable to vessels of deep draft.

LITTLE BOY DIES IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Murdock Caldwell, 8, Fatally Hurt When Struck by Truck.

Murdock Walker Caldwell, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Howell Caldwell, of Peachtree road, suffered injuries in an automobile accident in front of his home early Friday night that proved fatal to him a few minutes later after he had been rushed to the government base hospital No. 48, near-by.

The boy was riding a bicycle and came out of the driveway to his home. The bicycle and a truck driven by Rob Sexton, of Chamblee, collided and the boy was thrown violently to the hard surface of the roadway. Rushed to the government hospital a short distance away, he died a few minutes later. It was thought that he suffered internal injuries and possibly a fractured skull.

Sheriff Jake Hall and County Policeman O. B. Rowell, of DeKalb county, investigated the accident, but made no arrest. According to the officers, the grandparents and other relatives of the boy were present and stated that the accident was unavoidable, and asked that no case be made against Sexton.

The body was removed to the funeral home of H. M. Patterson & Son and funeral arrangements will be announced later. The boy was an only child and in addition to his parents is survived by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cobb Caldwell, Mrs. R. Murdock Walker and his great-grandfather, William T. Ashford, also part owner of the Ashford Nurseries.

DUNNING WINS MOSES' SUPPORT

Senate Committee Head Favors Savannahan for Georgia G. O. P. Chief.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—An open rumpus within the Hoover administration over the tangled affairs of Georgia republicans was threatened today when it became known that Senator George Moses, of New Hampshire, in defiance of the opposition of Postmaster-General Walter F. Brown, will recognize the credentials of National Committeeman-elect M. O. Dunning, of Savannah, in his capacity as chairman of the republican campaign committee.

Senator Moses, a close ally of Claudius H. Huston during the fight that has been waged to oust him as chairman of the republican national committee, is expected to take some formal action within the next day or so looking to the formal recognition of Dunning, in so far as his senatorial committee is concerned.

In not waiting for the Georgia national committeemanship to be acted upon by the national committee, to which Chairman Huston announced Thursday it would be referred, the New Hampshire senator is certain to precipitate a row with Postmaster-General Brown, who has said that under no circumstances will he recognize the republican organization of the state which is headed by Dunning, present collector of customs at Savannah.

As the republican candidate for the United States senate in Georgia this year, Dunning, is was revealed, will have the full co-operation of Senator Moses, who is prepared to treat him as head of the official organization of the party in the state.

Shock to Brown.

Postmaster-General Brown will be both shocked and chagrined to hear the news of Moses' determination. During conferences with state leaders here this week he has let it be known that he has no intention of recognizing the Dunning group but will insist that the administration continue to deal with Josiah T. Rose, of Atlanta, an old friend and schoolmate of his in Ohio, who has served as chief patronage arbiter since the beginning of the Hoover administration. He has refused to admit the contention of the Dunning group that the Rose organization was defeated at the state republican convention, held in Atlanta on April 19.

The action of Senator Moses is designed to precipitate a spirited contest over the Georgia vacancy when the matter is taken up by the national organization.

KANSANS DEMAND LEGGE QUIT POST; ALLEGE INSULTS

Farm Board Brings Storm of Criticism Upon Self by Terming State "Hog in the Trough."

AMARILLO, Texas, July 11.—(AP) A demand from the publishers of a Kansas newspaper for the resignation of Alexander Legge as chairman of the federal farm board, and outspoken opposition to any reduction of wheat acreage in the Texas panhandle, today greeted Legge and Secretary of Agriculture Hyde as they continued their tour of the southwest wheat belt.

Coupled with their demand for Legge's resignation, Max M. and Louis Levand, publishers of the Wichita-Kan., Beacon, asked for an apology from the farm board chairman for what they termed an "insult" to the people of Kansas.

The publishers objected to a statement attributed to Legge in his speech yesterday at Dodge City, Kan., that "the biggest hog will always lie in the trough. Kansas is now in the trough."

Legge would not comment on the request of the Levands for his retirement, which was telegraphed to President Hoover and members of the Kansas congressional delegation as well as Legge himself.

The allusion to the hog in the trough was made by Legge in replying to the contention of Governor Clyde M. Reed, of Kansas, that wheat acreage reduction, as advocated by the government spokesman, would not solve the problems of the Kansas farmer and that if acreage was to be curtailed it should be carried out in other states not as well equipped to grow wheat as Kansas.

"We ask an apology from Mr. Legge and, since he says he has done all he can to help the farmer, we ask his resignation," the Wichitans said in their telegram.

At the meeting here today, one of a series arranged by Secretary Hyde and Chairman Legge to urge the wheat farmers to organize and to plant less acreage, several speakers opposed the acreage reduction proposals so far as Texas is concerned.

CAPPER ADVOCATES MORE U. S. BUYING.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(AP)—Closely following the action of two Kansas publishers today in demanding the resignation of Chairman Legge of the farm board, Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, joined Governor Reed of his state in advocating that the board purchase and remove from the market an additional tonnage of wheat.

The senator, speaking to representatives of the press, proposed an amount four times as large as that suggested by Governor Reed—recommending that the board buy 100,000,000 bushels. In his campaign against the board's acreage-reduction plan the governor has recommended the purchase of 25,000,000 bushels.

Declaring the government could not lose any money on the purchase of wheat at current prices, the senator said he would take the matter up with Chairman Legge as soon as he returned from his tour of the winter hard wheat belt in behalf of acreage reduction.

The demand for Mr. Legge's resignation is the most precipitate action the foes of his acreage reduction campaign have taken thus far. The conflict with Governor Reed has been fought on economic lines—the governor maintaining Kansas should be allowed to produce to the limit because she could produce cheaply and turn out a superior product. The chairman's answer has been that Kansas should be the first to reduce because it is the largest wheat state and adds the greatest amount to the surplus.

It was recalled at the farm board that Chairman Legge's reference to the "hog in the trough" is a pet phrase of his and one he has used before in urging large cotton producing states to reduce their acreage.

"He uses it as a simple farm term—one that speaks his own language to the farmer who has wrestled with the proclivities of the biggest pig in his pen," those familiar with him said.

Briand Plan Given Approval of Poland

WARSAW, July 11.—(AP)—The Polish government's reply to M. Briand's memorandum on a European union was handed today to the French charge d'affaires. It is an indorsement of Briand's "noble and generous idea."

In consideration of the fact that the problem proposed by the French foreign minister requires deep study, the Polish government contented itself with replying briefly and refraining from detailed suggestions.

The non-aggressive character of the proposed union was, however, stressed. In the opinion of the Polish government the union, if consummated, should not be directed against any nation or group of nations.

ALUMNI OF TECH TO MARCH MONDAY IN JONES PARADE

BY RALPH McGILL.

Georgia Tech men and the Junior Chamber of Commerce loom as the two largest groups which the Bobby Jones parade will incorporate Monday when the world's greatest golfer comes home from a trumphant invasion of England and a possible triumph at Interlachen.

Coach W. A. Alexander, director of athletics and one of the nation's outstanding football coaches, and Jack Thiesen, alumni secretary, are requesting all Tech students and alumni in the city to meet at Grant field on the North avenue side at 11:30 o'clock Monday morning to form for participation in the parade.

"Both Mr. Thiesen and myself consider Bobby Jones our most prominent graduate and strongly urge that all Tech men give up three hours of their time on Monday to march in this parade," writes Coach Alexander. "Bobby Jones is vice president of the Tech National Alumni Association."

City to Take Part.

Indications are that the appeal will have a gratifying response. This welcome for Bobby Jones has caught the public fancy in an unusual fashion and the whole city seems bent on taking part.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce started with an idea of having 50 men clad in white golf outfits and carrying a wooden club each, to march in the parade.

They have now boosted that number to 100 and plan to have what many or more marchers in the parade. Bobby Jones is the only honorary lifetime member of the Junior Chamber and they plan to turn out in full force.

Meanwhile Al Doonan, of the Atlanta Athletic Club, who originated the welcome plans and who is head of the committee carrying them out, is going ahead with plans for the biggest parade in history.

Line of March.

West Peachtree will be cleared near Baker street for the formation of the parade at that point. From there they move down Peachtree through the business section to Whitehall and on to Mitchell and thence to the city hall.

Plans to hold the reception at the state capitol were abandoned. The reception is by the city and of the city and it was felt that the reception should be at the city hall.

All business houses have been requested to close for three hours and if possible to have their employes march in the parade carrying suitable banners.

Military units, police, firemen, fraternal organizations and the various civic organizations are already in. So are the airplanes at Candler Field. They will provide an escort for the train into the city.

Streets will be decorated with flags and merchants are asked to see that flags are out in front of the buildings and to purchase confetti and other things appropriate to the occasion.

The Atlanta Crackers have agreed to march in the parade, they having an off-day. They will be in uniform for the occasion.

Valuable Uptown Sites Imperiled By Small Blazes

While variable winds Friday were breaking the backbone of Atlanta's record heat wave, Atlanta firemen were busy checking a series of blazes which threatened, but did only slight damage to, valuable business property in the downtown section.

Four companies were summoned to fight a blaze in an empty two-story brick building at Alabama street and Central avenue, formerly used by Armour & Company for a packing plant. The blaze attracted a large crowd but did little damage.

A three-story brick building at 52 Alabama street, owned by James L. Mayson, was slightly damaged on the third floor by flames thought to have started when some one attempted to burn some paper.

Sixteen automatic sprinklers were used to check a blaze which threatened several hundred bales of cotton stored in the C. L. C. Thomas warehouse, 225 Milton avenue, shortly after noon. Firemen succeeded in extinguishing the flames quickly.

Sweltering Heat Continues in Dixie

STORM WRECKS GEORGIA HOMES

Heavy Gale With Rain Sweeps Through Southern Part of State.

A wind and rain storm of cyclonic proportions struck south Georgia late Friday afternoon, wrecking houses, telegraph lines and damaging crops, according to reports reaching Atlanta.

Although it was impossible to ascertain the extent of damage in the sections, as telegraph wires were out of commission, it is believed that it will run into thousands of dollars.

The worst part of the storm is reported to have hit the Boston district, in Thomas county, where a high wind blew down large forest trees, laid four houses flat on the ground, and unroofed about a dozen other residences.

Highway No. 38 was blocked with 37 big trees blown across the road, and hundreds of trees were down in the near-by woods. Automobiles were forced to wait until highway forces could cut the debris away sufficiently to establish a route.

From Thomas county the storm traveled in the direction of Monticello and Tallahassee, Fla. Telephone operators and telegraph companies in Thomasville, which was out of the path of the gale, reported their wires out of commission to Boston, Monticello and Tallahassee.

The track of the Atlantic Coast Line also was reported blocked somewhere in the Boston district and trains were not able to get through.

Although details were lacking, it was learned that many families were made homeless in the Pavo, Pelham and Meigs districts.

All wires were down from Cuthbert to Eufaula, Ala., and the Central of Georgia railway to Montgomery, Ala., was blocked for several hours by uprooted trees and telephone poles.

Power lines also were crippled in Bainbridge and workers late Friday night spread a warning against live wires which were down in every section of the city, it was said.

No fatalities or injuries were reported.

Hawks Slightly Hurt As New Plane Falls

WICHITA, Kan., July 11.—(AP)—Captain Frank Hawks escaped with minor injuries here today when a new speed plane, the Mystery S, which he was testing in preparation for an attempt to lower his east-west transcontinental flight record, crashed to the ground while traveling between 80 and 90 miles an hour. Hawks suffered only slight cuts on the shoulders and neck.

The engine stalled as Hawks was returning to the Travel Air field after a trial flight. The undercarriage of the plane struck telephone wires at the edge of the field and the ship plunged nose first to the ground, turning over twice. Hawks remained with the plane, which was badly damaged.

The flier had planned to leave here tomorrow for New York to await the start of his record attempt with stops scheduled at Indianapolis, Wichita and Albuquerque. He now holds the east-west non-stop record.

Hawks said the mishap would delay his project about a month. After his injuries were treated at the airport he telephoned sponsors of his flight in New York and received authorization to have the plane repaired immediately.

Clouds Bring Brief Relief to Atlanta, But Rest of South Still Scorching; Death Toll Mounts.

While Atlanta Friday afternoon and Friday night was enjoying cooling breezes that checked a mercury apparently headed for another high record the rest of the south continued to swelter under temperatures that ranged from 108, recorded at Greenwood, Miss., to a more favorable 88 at Key West—on the gulf coast.

Sunstroke here claimed another victim, Ben Edwards, 65-year-old negro employe of the city waterworks department. The old negro was rushed to Grady for treatment but he died early Friday afternoon.

Four deaths from drowning, all occurring while the victims were seeking relief from the heat, were reported from Birmingham, which reported only 101 Friday as compared with Thursday's wilting mark of 105.

Two convicts, one a water boy at the Parchman, Miss., prison farm and another a chain gang prisoner in Fairfield county, South Carolina, were prostrated.

The death toll in the metropolitan area of St. Louis for the two days beginning Thursday mounted to 17, making a total of 23 for the past week.

One prostration was recorded at Macon, where the thermometer's rise to 103 was followed by soft breezes and a low humidity percentage.

Officials of the local weather bureau said that the relief was temporary. Beyond the possibility of thundershowers, always present in extremely hot weather, no rain was in sight, and the indications were that the heat prevailing in practically every section of the country would continue to be reflected in Atlanta's temperature.

The high temperature Friday was 95 degrees, reached a few minutes before the noon hour. By noon, however, the temperature had dropped to 93 degrees, from which it gradually dropped as the afternoon lengthened. A constant breeze also added materially to the relative comfort of the afternoon in comparison with those of the past week.

While it was admitted by officials of the waterworks that the city may be forced to adopt emergency measures in the consumption of water unless rains occur in north Georgia within the next week or ten days, W. Zode Smith, general manager of the works, and Alderman Claude L. Ashley, chairman of the water committee, Friday declared that rumors of a serious shortage of water facing the city were "exaggerated."

Both Smith and Ashley Friday visited the waterworks and pumping station plant on a tour of inspection, but no statement was issued as to their observations. Previously it was learned that the level of the Chattahoochee river was two feet below normal and that the consumption Thursday of $40,550,000 gallons set an all-time record. Filling of the old reservoir to supplement the new reservoir was ordered Friday, it was said.

Hapeville thus far is the only borough in which the public has been requested to curtail the use of water to actual domestic and physical needs. A new supply well has just been put in service, it was said, and until the flow from it reaches normal citizens have been asked to refrain from unnecessary sprinkling of lawns and too frequent washing of cars. No actual shortage exists, however, it was said.

Decatur, East Point and College Park reported that their water supplies thus far had not been noticeably hampered by the period of drought which set in during the last days of June and which has continued to date. Avondale Estates reported periods of weak pressure, but it was said that no shortage exists.

Atlanta's temperature record this summer has been abnormally high. Four times this summer all records for the past five years have been broken. June 23 and 24 both showed temperatures of 99 degrees, the second day showing in the detailed weather report as one-tenth of a degree higher than the first, and July 9 and 10 showed 99.6 and 99.7 degrees, respectively.

All comparisons with former high temperatures in Atlanta go back to 1925, when, on September 8, a temperature of 102.2 degrees was reached. July 3, of that year also showed 101 degrees and August 20 100 degrees.

In contrast with 1925, the warmest year, records of the local weather bureau disclose that 1899 was the coldest. Eight degrees below zero, the coldest day in the history of the Atlanta weather bureau, was recorded February 13, 1899. The year 1899 also brought the lowest temperature of records here for the months of March, June and September.

In addition to the drouth reported in northwest Georgia, severe crop damage in Kentucky was charged Friday to the effects of heat. In Cumberland county, North Carolina, a hail INTERLACHEN COUNTRY CLUB, MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 11.—Bobby Jones went out in his shirt tail today and shot a 73 in the second round of the national open championship, giving him a total of 71-73—144, even par, for the halfway mark. Bobby had bought one of these fishnet garments with which one wears no tie and the tail of which is left outside the trousers, like a sweater. Cooling breezes fanned the fairways today, reducing the temperature to something like 159 Fahrenheit which was far below the incandescent weather of Thursday. The breeze flapped the tails of Bob's shirt about and gave an illusion of coolness. He closed out his round clear-eyed and seemingly in fair shape.

Tonight the British open and amateur champion stands two strokes back of his greatest rival, Horton Smith, the long-hitting Joplin (Mo.) pro who shot a dazzling 70 to total 142. With Bobby are "Light Horse" Harry Cooper, the veteran shot maker from Chicago, and Charles Lacey, of Philadelphia, who bagged totals of 144. Whiffy Cox and Mac Smith are just a step behind.

Bobby again played meticulous golf. A couple of adverse breaks on the home-coming nine and one hole badly played cost him strokes that might have put him far in front. Yet he was pleased with his round. "I played very well, I think," he said in the locker room afterward over a foaming glass of root beer, his favorite tipple here. "I played the 15th very poorly but otherwise I was hitting the ball and putting well enough."

Best of all, Bobby seemed serene in his position two strokes back of Horton Smith. Apparently it suits him to be there. Where the day before Bobby had finished worn and haggard, today he was in a joking mood and seemed easy in his mind.

The weather might have been cooler but the grand old tournament blazed like a pine forest in the fire of competition. The pace was killing.

NEW STORES ADDED TO ROGERS' CHAIN

Two new stores are being opened by the Rogers chain this week-end, one located at 533 Peachtree street, which officials of the company intimate will be their key store, and another at 608 North Highland avenue, N. E.

Free food samples and souvenirs will be presented to visitors during the opening by the management. In charge of the Peachtree street store is C. B. Christian, and the Highland avenue store will be managed by H. E. Haslett.

The new branch on Peachtree is one of the finest stores in the chain, with special equipment and furnishings. Many mirrors are used throughout the room, which is large and well ventilated.

One of the features of the new store will be its method of merchandising meat. Individual cuts of frozen meat, prepared by Swift & Co. in transparent wrappers, with the cut stamped on each package, will be handled at the store.

Archduke Leopold Committed to Prison

NEW YORK, July 11.—(AP)—Archduke Leopold of Austria, indicted in April for grand larceny in connection with the sale of the $450,000 Napoleon diamond necklace which belonged to his aunt, the Archduchess Marie Therese, surrendered his $7,500 bail today and was placed in Tombs prison.

The archduke presented himself to the court, his attorney said, because he desires an immediate trial.

He is required to return at once to Austria to look after matters arising from the death of his brother, Archduke Ranir, he said, and is not sure he would be allowed to re-enter the United States, despite his indictment, if he left it.

CANADIAN DESTROYER LAUNCHED BY ENGLAND

SOUTHAMPTON, England, July 11.—(AP)—The new Canadian destroyer Saguenay was launched from the Thornycroft yards today. A sister vessel, the Skeena, is to be launched in September. They are of 1,330 tons displacement, with the length of 310 feet and a speed of 35 knots. The Skeena and Saguenay will replace two destroyers now on loan to Canada from the royal navy.

COURT CROWDS TITTER AT FAN-DANCE OFFER

A la Eve, Gotham Cop States

NEW YORK, July 11.—(AP)—A gray-haired police officer of dignified mien took off his horn-rimmed glasses in old Jefferson market court today and offered to perform a fan dance if Earl Carroll would just furnish the fans.

The officer was Acting Captain James J. Coy, theatrical critic of the police department, and he was testifying against Carroll, a stage comedian, and eight comely show girls whom he had charged with staging an indecent performance.

He told of buying an $11 ticket to the Carroll "Vanities" and watching four scenes, which he considered entirely inoffensive. But then came the fifth scene, a daisy field in which there lay numerous young ladies waving fans.

"Into this scene," Coy continued, "danced Faith Bacon, waving before her two large ostrich feather fans."

"Do you identify this defendant as Faith Bacon?" the prosecutor asked, motioning to Miss Bacon where she sat with the other show folk inside the rail to rise.

Miss Bacon, a blonde in summer furs and a wide-brimmed lavender hat, took a bow.

"That's her," said Coy. "She danced with these two fans waving in front of her and when she turned to leave the stage I saw that she was nude from the nape of her neck to the soles of her feet."

Under cross-examination Coy insisted that he was positive Miss Bacon was not wearing flesh colored tights, although he acknowledged that the lights were dimmed during the scene and that a gauze curtain hung between the dancer and the audience.

"But while she was facing the audience you had no idea that she was undraped?" defense counsel asked.

"She kept herself covered with the fans," Coy replied, "passing first one and then the other in front of her. If the fans are here I'll show you how it was done."

Miss Bacon smiled and a titter ran upward through the crowded courtroom. Magistrate Maurice Gotlieb banged his gavel for order and threatened to clear the court if there was a repetition of the laughter.

Captain Coy, not pressing his offer to give a terpsichorean performance, continued to tell of the other act to which he objected. In that act the stage was set to resemble a show window in which five wax models were impersonated by showgirls. An actress was teaching Jimmy Savo, comedian, how to dress a window, and at her directions he removed stockings and otherwise altered the raiment of the living models.

The hearing was adjourned until next Tuesday, with Captain Coy the only witness to have been called so far.

IT is sometimes hard to tell how much Milk is used in making a bread until you taste it—but then, what a difference!

Bread is the staple of your diet, and of the diet of your children, who are growing and need nourishment.

Then, in bread two things are very important ... that it really be nourishing and healthful ... that it have a rich, creamy flavor, so you may really enjoy eating it.

The old idea that "bread is bread" is rapidly dying out, for so many housewives are beginning to compare one bread with another.

Those who do, quickly find a much richer and more enjoyable flavor in Merita Bread for an abundance of Milk is used in making Merita.

Merita Flour must be rich in protein, for this is a vital element of food. In our Laboratory a sample of every lot of flour we use is chemically digested, just as the body digests food, to determine just how much protein it contains.

Many Atlantans Anxious To Adopt Little Child

All Atlanta wants to adopt a baby girl, or so it seems, said Patrolman Joe Wiley, policeman stationed at Grady hospital, Friday night.

Early Friday morning a little 2 1-2-year-old girl waif was brought to the hospital by police officers who stated that the child had possibly been abandoned and left in a nursery. Patrolman Wiley carried the child to his home as the hospital was too crowded to care for it, and an account of his action was carried in afternoon newspapers.

An article appeared with a picture of the blue-eyed baby being held in the arms of Wiley and by 4:30 o'clock the telephone at the Wiley home, 689 Home avenue, began to ring. At 8 o'clock Mrs. Wiley had received an even number of 50 telephone calls while her husband had gotten almost 20 at Grady hospital. All callers wanted to adopt the baby.

The child was left with Mrs. J. J. Baker, of 327 Cooper street, two weeks ago by the mother, who said she was Mrs. Billie Daniel. The mother came to the Baker home once, according to Mrs. Baker, and brought clothing. She never paid for the upkeep of the child and so Mrs. Baker became worried and notified police.

Taken to the station house Thursday night, the infant made friends with all of the officers and was taken home by C. C. Brooks, night secretary to the chief, for dinner. Later she was taken to Grady but as there was no room there, Patrolman Wiley took her to his home when he went off duty Friday morning. He stated Friday night that when the hospital had accommodations that he would possibly return it.

"I haven't any right to adopt the child," he said, "and I can't let these other folks adopt it either, because it isn't mine. The mother will possibly call for it, but in the meantime the city or myself will look after it. Why one woman called me and asked me to bring the baby out to her house and let her see it, as she wanted to adopt it."

Tongue Gains in Charm With Jellied Tomato Juice

BY JESSIE MARIE DE BOTH

The package foods that line the shelves of our groceries are largely the result of women's demand for sanitary products, packed in convendient form. Yet today it is the women who complain of the prices that this extra labor and material entails. Is it reasonable to expect insured cleanliness and compact containers at the same price of bulk products carelessly handled, and exposed to dust? We have insisted on the development of an elaborate charge and delivery system to suit our personal convenience, and complain of the difference in price between these and the cash and carry stores. A bit inconsistent, isn't it? Well, as some male critic remarked, "What's the use of having a mind unless one can change it?"

It really is an individual question for each housewife, some finding it sufficient economy in time and energy to order supplies by phone—to offset the savings of personal marketing. Anyhow, we all believe in a fair supply of package and canned goods on our shelves. Even the tiny kitchenette may be prepared for the emergency of unexpected guests or a hurried meal.

As a suggestion for the possibilities of canned products, suppose we consider a staple food like lunch tongue. To many, it is just a good sandwich filling or a cold meat dish. To slice well, it should be chilled first, then it can be neatly arranged around a mound of potato salad and garnished with crisp radishes or quartered dills. If mustard pickles are preferred, serve them separately. For a more elaborate cold platter we make some jellied stock with a bouillon cube, a teaspoon of gelatin and a scant cup of boiling water. Season it well and mold the tongue, whole or sliced, with some diced celery and green pepper. Half a cup of whipped cream sharpened with a tablespoon or more of horseradish and one of mild mustard is excellent with cold tongue.

Perhaps we wish to vary with the dish of potato salad for some special occasion. Then blend it with diced tongue and chopped chives using a boiled salad dressing and topping it with slivers of pickled beets.

For hot service there are many variations. Chopped tongue in a creamy white sauce is delicious with baked potatoes, or on hot toast. In a rich drawn butter sauce the tongue is savory with hot noodles. It may well be added to the spaghetti in tomato sauce. With a border of boiled rice it is attractive and satisfying in a hot tomato puree. A snappy mustard sauce with stock and minced pickle is a fine addition to hot lunch tongue, and a brown gravy with horseradish and tarragon vinegar is another good choice.

A scallop of sliced potato and onion becomes a hearty supper dish when combined with plenty of savory tongue either cubed or chopped. Mushrooms improve almost any meat dish and tongue is no exception; indeed no one need hesitate about serving flavorsome hot tongue smothered in a rich mushroom sauce. If made luscious with cooking sherry it is a welcome treat.

Of course, many of these suggestions apply equally well to other meats and especially to cooked ham. If there is a suspicion of this being underdone, saute it lightly in butter before using it. When a little meat loaf seems acceptable and the weather does not encourage oven use, we recommend this steamed mold.

A cup of ham, or tongue, is chopped fine and blended with a cup of soft bread crumbs moistened with about a third of a cup of milk. Season sparingly with salt, and generously with pepper, freshly ground, add two teaspoons of melted butter and two egg whites slightly beaten. Steam in a buttered mold for half an hour, and serve with any preferred sauce. We like to rub the saucepan with garlic, then blend two tablespoons of butter with one and one-half tablespoons of flour, stir in one cup of water or stock and cook until smooth. Season well, add a teaspoon of lemon juice, a dash of cayenne and last of all mix in two beaten egg yolks.

Both green and wax beans are now plentiful and popular. For the German sweet-sour beans that are so excellent, the vegetable is first cooked until barely done, then well drained and packed in a quart jar. While the beans are boiling a syrup is made with a cup of sugar and a cup of white wine vinegar and this is poured over the vegetable while scalding hot. Some like to add a few sticks of cinnamon also. Close the jar tight and put away for several days at least, before serving either hot or cold.

The experienced cook takes keen satisfaction in the use of sour cream—it is no disaster to her when the warm weather turns the cream. Sometimes she purposely leaves it out of the refrigerator to get this thick, rich product. A splendid dressing for cucumbers, tomatoes or cabbage calls for a cup of sour cream, whipped or plain, seasoned with a teaspoon each of tarragon vinegar and lemon juice, with salt and pepper as needed. A tablespoon or two of horseradish is pleasing with tomatoes and some chopped beets make a fine addition to the dressing for cabbage.

Sour cream is the perfect completion of certain delicious meat dishes. Try it as the finishing touch to a beef pot roast, or some veal chops richly browned in meat drippings. These are gently simmered in diluted tomato puree until tender, seasoned with onion juice and lots of paprika, with the cream added last as a crowning touch.

Jellied Salmon.

Two cups salmon, two tablespoonsful granulated gelatin, one-half cup cold water, one-half cup boiling water, one-half teaspoonful salt, two tablespoonsful vinegar or lemon juice, one-fourth teaspoonful pepper, two tablespoonsful tomato catsup, one cup mayonnaise, two hard-boiled eggs, 12 chopped stuffed olives.

Soften the gelatine in the cold water, then dissolve in hot water. Flake the salmon and add the salt, pepper, vinegar and catsup, then the dissolved gelatine and mayonnaise.

Decorate a previously wet mold with a few slices of hard-boiled eggs and part of the stuffed olives. Chop the remainder of the olives and add to the fish mixture. As soon as this mixture begins to set, turn it into the decorated mold. Chill, unmold and serve with mayonnaise. Serves six.

Discarded Mistress Of Carol Leaves Home

VIENNA, July 11.—(AP)—Relatives of Madame Magda Lupescu tonight said she left Switzerland today, probably for France. They did not divulge the destination of the titian-haired woman who shared the exile of Prince Carol of Rumania before his recent return as king.

Madame Dupescu's father, a Jewish pharmacist, it was said, it about to take up residence in Bucharest, where he intends opening a drug store.

Recent reports in Europe and America said Madame Lupescu had returned to Rumania, having dyed her hair black.

Nurse Takes Life As Friend Watches

MOBILE, Ala., July 11.—(AP)—While another nurse looked on, Miss Elizabeth Worthington, 22, a nurse at the Mobile infirmary, shot and killed herself. She formerly lived in Plant City, Fla.

Miss Worthington was said to have quarreled with another employe of the hospital, after which she walked to a room in the nurses' quarters and fired one shot through her heart.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Is Ideal Roughage

If you are following a reducing diet, it is doubly important that you take a regular amount of roughage into the system daily. Most reducing diets do not contain a sufficient amount of roughage. The result is constipation—thief of both health and beauty.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—in either the improved krumbled cereal or the new Biscuit form—is recommended by many doctors and dietitians because it contains the bulk necessary to insure proper elimination.

Also, because it contains the iron needed to help prevent anemia—another danger in reducing diets.

ALL-BRAN is not fattening. Its bulk sweeps the system clean of poisonous wastes—helping to promote glorious health and beauty.

A popular way to eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is soaked in fruit juice. Try it! It is delicious with milk or cream. Also sprinkle the krumbled ALL-BRAN over cereals, salads and soups. It adds flavor to cooked foods and is equally effective. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

2nd Members Plan Reunion Entertainment

Selection of committee heads and formulation of tentative plans for the entertainment of the reunion of the eighty-second division, composed of former service men who trained at Camp Gordon in 1917-18, featured a luncheon meeting of about 50 Atlanta members of the division at the Ansley hotel Friday. Delegations from Griffin and Macon attended.

It was decided that another meeting will be held at the Ansley Friday of next week, when additional plans for the convention will be outlined. Present indications are that about 5,000 members of the division will come to Atlanta for reunion, to be held next September 26.

Miss Nicaragua, Beauty, Is Ready To Return Home

Resigned to her fate—a return to Nicaragua—without seeing her politically exiled father, Adan F. Morales, Senorita Haydee Morales, representative of Nicaragua in the Latin-American beauty contest at Miami last March, was in Atlanta Friday awaiting negotiations of Senor Juan Bautista Sacasa with governmental officials of the South American republic for funds for her passage.

She and her mother expect to leave Atlanta in about five days and in the interim are guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Vallevuona, of 446 Angier avenue.

Senorita Morales, known as Miss Nicaragua, left Atlanta about a week ago for Washington for the purpose of obtaining an extension of her passport and to get funds with which to visit her father at Los Angeles.

Her mission was unsuccessful in that she failed to obtain an extension of the passport which has about three weeks more to run. She did, however, obtain the promise of needed financial aid, and will return to Nicaragua as soon as the funds are forwarded to her.

The Latin beauty was one of nearly a score who embarked from Miami on a "good-will" tour of America following the Miami pageant. She and the others reached Atlanta, and then the tour met with financial difficulties and their dream of seeing America and Miss Nicaragua's dream of seeing her father was rudely dissipated.

On her return to Atlanta Friday, she declared that she will go back to Nicaragua, and probably will be a contestant in the world beauty pageant to be held in September at Rio de Janeiro. She is entitled to represent her country, being the first prize winner in the elimination contest held there prior to the Miami pageant.

M'CLELLAND IS GIVEN HIGH POSITION IN ELKS

Atlantan Gets One of Highest Honors of Many He Has Held in Order.

Installation of John S. McClelland as grand justice of the grand forum, highest judicial division of the grand lodge of Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, during the national convention of the order at Atlantic City this week, bestowed upon the Atlantan one of the highest honors among many he has held in the officialdom of the fraternity during his membership.

Mr. McClelland, who four times has been exalted ruler of Atlanta Lodge, No. 78, twice deputy grand ruler for north Georgia, and president of the Georgia Elks Association, is city solicitor for the criminal court here, and is one of the most active and widely known Elks in this state. His nomination for the post of grand justice of the national organization was made by Walter P. Andrews, of Atlanta, upon the occasion of the latter's retirement from the office of grand exalted ruler. The nomination was immediately confirmed and Mr. McClelland's selection was unanimous.

JOHN S. McCLELLAND.

Installation ceremonies were held in Atlantic City Thursday and Mr. McClelland was installed in office at the concluding session, just before the big parade, along with the new grand exalted ruler, Lawrence H. Rupp, of Allentown, Pa., and other grand lodge officers.

TWO MONTHS ARE CUT FROM DIVORCE TIME

Time required for the granting of divorces in Fulton superior court Friday was cut by two months when the five judges of superior court signed an order abolishing the rule that a full term must elapse between the first and second verdicts.

This action was taken by the judges at the request of more than 250 lawyers, who recently presented a petition to the court. Request of the lawyers that divorces be allowed to go on the calendar at the appearance term, thus striking another two months from the time required, was denied.

Formerly, nine months was required for the granting of a divorce. The time now is only seven months. The rule of the court requiring elapse of an intervening term between first and second verdicts was adopted in order to aid reconciliations between parties involved, but careful study revealed that there is little chance of reconciliation after the first verdict has been granted, it was said.

The order changing the rule was signed following a report by a committee of judges headed by Judge Virlyn B. Moore.

Victim of Burns Dies of Injuries

Burns suffered Tuesday while in preparation for a bath resulted Thursday afternoon in the death of Alex Hogwood, Jr., 16-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hogwood, Sr., 185 Eleventh street, N. E., and funeral services were conducted in Loganville at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

According to members of the family, the mother placed the child in the bath tub and walked to the kitchen on an errand. On her return she found that the child had succeeded in turning on the hot water faucet and scalding water was pouring over him. He was rushed to a private hospital but died of the burns Thursday afternoon.

In addition to its parents the child is survived by its grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Charlton and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hogwood. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Barclay and Brandon.

Last Honors Paid To Bernard Suttler

Funeral services for Bernard Suttler, 79, editor, author, and business man who died suddenly Wednesday at his home, 66 Huntington road, were conducted Friday afternoon from Spring Hill chapel with the Rev. Horace Chase officiating. Interment was in West View cemetery where Georgia Lodge No. 96, F. and A. M., served as pallbearers and had charge of the burial service.

Judge Nol-Prosses Allen Murder Case

An indictment charging J. L. Allen, white rent collector, with the murder of Henry Speer, negro, was nol-prossed Friday by Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy, of Fulton superior court, on a showing that Allen acted in self-defense. On an indictment charging the defendant with carrying a pistol, Judge Pomeroy assessed a $50 fine. Speer was shot on June 8.

Can you make a delicious uncooked icing

THE MIND OF CHRIST—Let this mind in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: Who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: But made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men: and being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross.—Phil. 2:5-8.

PRAYER — "Come, O Creator, Spirit blest, And in our hearts take up Thy rest."

HOOVER IS DEAD RIGHT.

The reply of President Hoover to the senate's resolution asking for the delivery to it of all executive papers relating to the negotiation of the London naval treaty "if not harmful to the public interest" is an eminently dignified and justified refusal.

In his response to the request, the president says:

"This treaty, like all other international negotiations, has involved statements, reports, tentative and informal proposals as to subjects, persons and governments given to me in confidence. The executive, under the duty of guarding the interests of the United States; in the protection of future negotiations, and in maintaining relations of amity with other nations, must not allow himself to become guilty of a breach of trust by betrayal of these confidences."

That is exactly what was due to be said to the senate. It has the temper of George Washington, the courage of Grover Cleveland, and the noblesse oblige of Woodrow Wilson. The people of the country who wish the self-respect of the nation preserved by its president in dealing with the world at large will endorse and applaud this action of their chief executive.

There is no suspicion outside of a jingo cabal that the documents in question contain anything dangerous to the country's honor and safety and that would justify the outright smashing of the treaty. The president has said that it contains on its face all commitments involving the nation. They are all understandable, honorable and desirable, and the senate must now deal with it and assume all responsibility for how it does so.

ALL ABOUT HARD TIMES.

The politics that most interests 30,000,000 American families is that which has to do with their ability to earn, spend and enjoy "the pursuit of happiness," that last being one of the inalienable rights set forth in the American Declaration of Independence.

The possibility of having those emoluments of citizenship lies in the general and continuous prosperity of agriculture, the industries, and trade. It is the supreme business of government "of the people, by the people, and for the people" to safeguard and promote those vital interests of general welfare.

Always there are forces of rivalry and competition, domestic and alien, making against one or other, if not all, of those interests. World economics are constantly changing and affecting the irrepealable laws of supply and demand, and those things inevitably give form and force to the politics of nations. Here in the United States our politics are obliged by many obvious circumstances to deal with both factors of the prosperity equation—the home problems and their foreign relations.

Both factors, however, have a common root in the ability of the people to earn and spend. Politicians, alleged statesmen, and administrators in government jobs, are of delusive value to the people when they are unable to engineer the politics of the nation to secure and maintain those benefits to the masses.

"Hard times" are often sure-fire calamities, but they are temporary and like other epidemics can be controlled and ended. The people of the United States have passed through many panics in their time and have worked out of them to higher levels of achievement and prosperity. The present Hoover "hard times" will be no exception. It is a hair-shirt on the hoi polloi for the time being, but underneath the skin of the body politic still shows a glow of latent health and strength.

We have authority for some facts that discount permanent pessimism. There is only about a 9 per cent sag in business as a whole over the nation. Only some 5 out of a 100 willing workers are temporarily off the pay rolls. Retail sales are but 3 per cent below last year, an abnormally high year, and the groceries report the people are eating as much as last year. And two and a quarter million business concerns are holding their trade upon a normal course. These are all rainbow signs.

What we have for real complaints is the sort of politics that has broken the markets for our basic products and has no wisdom able to stop the losses of the farmers and food processors, upon whose prosperity that of the whole nation largely depends.

Hoover politics on Tuesday had brought declines from the same day last year of 31 cents a bushel for wheat, 20 cents a bushel for corn, 12 cents for oats, and the loss on cotton has brought it below the cost of production. These experiences with "Hoover prosperity" are felt most hardly in the west. Here in the south we have felt the worst of the market slumps. It remains for the November elections to prove how delighted the western people are with their joyfully-elected Hooverism.

THE NEW ICING PLANTS.

Starting of operations in two great fruit freezing plants in Georgia within a week's time, gives promise of wonderful possibilities for the fruit and vegetable growers of this and other states.

The importance, therefore, of the recently perfected methods of preservation by refrigeration and the opening of plants for the handling of our peaches can hardly be overestimated.

Should these plants be successful—and there is little doubt that they will be—it may be expected that they will be rapidly followed by others which will handle not only the state's fruits but vegetables as well.

Improvement in canning methods have made it possible for the public to buy delicious edibles out of season in tin—but much of the freshness is lost. If under the new process this can be obviated, a steadily increasing demand for frozen fruits and vegetables may be expected.

The Industrial Bulletin, of Cambridge, Mass., says that "the use of fresh frozen fruit is now being considered to take the place of canned fruit, thus giving more nearly the fresh fruit flavor."

The practicability of the new process has already been conclusively demonstrated in other sections of the country. Strawberries, for instance, retaining all the freshness and flavor of the day they were picked, can be bought the year around in the large cities of the north, and at an advance of price of less than 100 per cent.

The peach growers, businessmen and financiers who have put several hundred thousand dollars into the erection and equipment of the plants just opened in Georgia have satisfied themselves of the feasibility of the marketing of their product.

If these plants succeed it will mean the end of flooded seasonal markets, with resultant low prices, through the profitable disposal of surplus crops through the off-season months.

The senators from navy-yard states are those most anxious to build "the biggest fleets the world ever saw." That would mean votes for them.

It is the women buyers, and not the politicians, who are keeping the wheels of business from stopping dead still.

Texas democrats will not divide the state. They intend to solidify it again as the jumbo democratic state of the Union.

Some senators will have the dry grins if the president gives them the treaty documents and tells them to "take the consequences."

One strong proof of patriotism is doing one's duty at the ballot-box.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Wine for Americans.

The pity about that host of thirsty American tourists, who annually flock to France just about the time of year when Nature happens to be in the right mood to co-operate most generously in the raising of a healthy thirst, is the fact that they seldom get their money's worth. For what do they drink? Ten to one they guzzle down a lot of doped and poisonous stuff, vile liquids that would indeed burn a hole in the stomach of any man who hadn't acquired a thick coating of armor plate in the process of digesting "white mule" and "moonshine" and other bootleg delicacies. The "champaign" so eagerly sought after by our traveling compatriots, and without which Paris isn't Paris to them, is in most cases just an ordinary, mousseux wine or a light burgundy jazzed up to the bubbling stage by a voluminous dosage of oxygen. In fetching it up from the cave, the smiling sommelier, sprinkles the bottle with a handful of dust and a few cobwebs before placing it reverently on the table. This does the trick as a rule. If in addition the American guest, as often is the case, has been so foolish as to indulge in a few cocktails or standard appetizers before his meal, his palate and tongue have definitely lost all sensitiveness, for there is no stronger anaesthetic in the world than just this kind of muck. After such an appetizer he may as well drink dishwater, and as a matter of fact, the wine he gets is little better. A French hobo from under the Seine bridges would throw the stuff they serve Americans back into the waiter's face. And rightly so. The working classes of France take a liquid breakfast, as is well known. A few glasses of white wine as a rule. The cost is about five cents a bottle. But it's the pure stuff. They can't be fooled. They take it in big gulps and not in sips, which is the right way. The only trouble is that the average American cannot be induced to share the company of costermongers and the like over the little zinc bars in the more populous quarters. He goes to the glittering boulevard cafe. There he pays his share of the show and plush seats. But as to the drinks . . . No wonder the French pass by those gaudy places with a sniff of disdain and a little chuckle of malice.

Huguenots Speak Out.

"If the Christian churches had been able to prevent patriotism from degenerating into nationalism, they would have prevented the war." This was the keynote of an address by Dr. Wilfred Monod, the eminent president of the synod of the Reformed church in France before the general assemble of that body called to discuss the problems of disarmament and militarism. Delegates from 30 sister churches in other lands were present. Several of the speakers said that the churches today feel a deep humiliation at the knowledge that they failed at their task in 1914. Consequently they had decided to work anew and more resolutely than ever to urge humanity into the ways of peace. If the church could institute the peace of God in the middle ages, and keep the semi-barbarian of that epoch from carrying out their wildest schemes of conquest and bloodshed, why could not something similar be attempted in our time. A very interesting debate developed at the congress in which the ideal of pacifism was attacked by some as tending to develop in anti-patriotism, whereby it surpasses its object. On the other hand it was pointed out that real religion does not oppose patriotism to internationalism, but rather seeks to conciliate and harmonize them. The memory of the Catholic bishop Juliet, who died recently, was invoked. On his tombstone are written these words from the Christian creed: "I believe in the communion of saints!" The assembled pastors did not err when they agreed that peace must reign in the hearts of men before it can reign on earth. And as was the case at the congress of religions held in Chicago in 1893 the men from 30 countries pronounced together, each in his own tongue, the Lord's Prayer thereby affirming that great Truth which is slowly making its way throughout the earth, namely this: The reality of an eternal Christ. Who is not the exclusive property of Catholics, nor of Protestants, nor of Jews or Mohammedans or Hindus, but the Word of all believers, the Master of all religions of love, the head of all the churches. If the message of the Prince of Peace is put into practice by the churches, they will no longer follow their governments but precede them and illumine the roads. On the day when that happens our little planet will shine like a spiritual sun in the universe.

THE POWER OF PRAYER.

Text: "The effectual, fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much." James 5:16.

Discussing "Prayer, a Neglected Weapon," Anna Ross brings forward some very impressive thoughts on the power of prayer.

This is a much neglected power and the church will prosper when it is once employed by all the energy of faith.

Anna Ross says: "A new power came into the world during the 19th century—a new power, and yet an old one.

"Electricity was known centuries ago, but it was known rather as a freak than as a power. But, during the 19th century, men began to consider that this 'freak' must after all work according to some definite laws.

"They studied these laws, mastered these laws, so that they could be used with precision and certainty, and the new power came into the world.

"A new power is coming into the world in this 20th century—a new power, yet a very old one.

"The power of prayer is as old as the Bible, as old as Jacob: but I seriously say that to most, during the centuries that are past, it has been known rather as a sort of freak, that sometimes does marvelous things, but sometimes does nothing at all, than as a power to be relied upon.

"This is because the laws according to which prayer works have not been seriously studied and so have not been definitely mastered. Individuals here and there have mastered these laws, little groups of believers here and there have mastered them, and then wonders have been wrought.

"But the church at large pretty much uses prayer at random.

"The enemies and problems of the 20th century are such that, unless the resources of the Trinity are intelligently and adequately drawn upon, there must be irreparable failure.

"During these latter days, the saints of the Most High shall master the laws according to which prayer can be used with precision and certainty.

"They shall be taught to accept the Lord's invitation: 'Ask me of things to come (things that are promised) concerning my sons, and concerning the work of my hands, command ye me.'"

Letters From a Bald-Headed Dad to a Flapper Daughter

BY ROBERT QUILLEN

ROBERT QUILLEN.

My dear Louise:

Saturday morning you informed the household that another young gentleman had called you on the 'phone and asked for a date, and you seemed both puzzled and indignant when I suggested that a 17-year-old girl who has three dates in a week is crowding in two too many.

Don't misunderstand me. I have no objection to dates, nor have I any aversion to boys. You know from past experience that I have no old-fogy notions about shielding my daughter from designing creatures in pants.

When you were a little kid I taught you to believe that boys are just ordinary people, not worth getting excited about and not to be feared, and I encouraged you to be as friendly with them as you were with girls.

As a result you have developed into the kind of girl commonly called a "regular guy," and you mercifully escaped the boy-crazy period through which your sex commonly passes on the way to maturity.

Because you are at ease with boys and don't endow them with a goofy romantic halo, I don't at all object to your being with them.

During vacation here in the village, where everybody seems to belong to one family, you spend some time chattering with boys every time you go down town. You are out riding with one every evening—or maybe every other evening—from dusk to supper time. And there's always one to walk home with you from church.

Under the circumstances you can't get old-maidish for lack of male society, and when in addition to these casual contacts you have one formal date each week and spend an entire evening here at home talking with some youngster, that's getting close to the limit.

I know there isn't much to do these long summer evenings, and the other girls have interests of their own that leave you without playfellows; but you mustn't form the habit of depending on boys for all of your good times.

It gets to be a habit, like going every night to the movies or leaving home every afternoon, and after a time you are miserable if you must depend on your own resources for a day.

It isn't boys I object to, or dates, but the habit of dependence.

You must learn to find contentment in yourself—in music or books or something you can enjoy alone—and use dates only to provide the spice of variety.

The most miserable people I know are those who have learned to depend on others to keep from being bored.

It's a dangerous habit. If you forget how to walk, what are you going to do when the car breaks down?

Love, DAD.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

WHO SHALL PRESCRIBE WHEN PEOPLE DO NOT CARE?

An emergency is a sudden unexpected occurrence and for that reason it is more or less alarming. Be it the collapse of some one in a crowd, from cerebral hemorrhage, diabetic coma or angina pectoris, or the collapse of a building, or a riot, or an outbreak of war, or a terrible earthquake, or flood, or famine, or plague, there is inevitably a cry for the doctor. When you say doctor under such circumstances you mean doctor. There is only one kind of doctor you mean then.

But now look on the comical side of the situation. A sudden commotion. "Is there a doctor present?" Why, of course. There are a dozen or two present, to wit: Three or four chiropractors, a school teacher who has the soundest legal right to his degree of Ph. D., several optometrists, a chiropodist, a few dentists, the local veterinary, and a sharp fellow who has just lately "come by" the degree of LL. D. and now always appends it to his name when writing stuff about food and health. Try to imagine these "doctors" hurrying to the aid of the victim of agina pectoris or diabetic coma. Or better, try to conceive hundreds and thousands of such "doctors" answering the call of the country in time of war.

It is all very well of course to address a Ph. D., a D. D., an LL. D. or any other individual with an academic doctorate degree as "doctor." It is all wrong to let Tom, Dick and Harry pose as "doctor" for business purposes. It leads to much needless confusion and sometimes to disaster. The use of the title as a trade symbol or badge ought to be restricted to honest-to-goodness physicians, for the welfare of the public.

Some time ago I appealed to the dentists—who certainly have every legal right to the title of doctor—to show a good example to all the other near-doctors by voluntarily relinquishing the trade use of the title. I am proud to say that a number of leading men of the dental profession sanctioned the idea and assured me that the title has little or no trade value for a dentist. But the majority of dentists who commented at all about it were indignant. I venture to prophesy that the dentist will become a real doctor before many years, practicing in his special field. He should be trained as a regular doctor right now, for certainly he assumes the responsibilities and enjoys the same rights the physician does.

As an instance of the evil that comes from the careless American custom of granting to anybody and everybody the trademark "doctor," listen to this:

Dear Dr. Brady:

After 12 days of orange juice diet and then a starchless diet I had lost 20 pounds and my health. I went to a man known as Dr. ——. I thought he was an M. D. because he calls himself "doctor." . . . I cannot sleep. . . . I formerly weighed 118 pounds . . . sleeping powders . . . gas . . . pins and needles . . . temperature afternoons . . . sweat at night.

This so-called "doctor"— . . . my nerves all shot to pieces . . . come to my rescue . . . Just one of many victims of a fake "doctor" exploited by certain unprincipled interests.

As things are now, one must be on guard whenever anybody purporting to be a "doctor" appears on the scene.

the senate and long has exercised a weighty voice in the councils of the party, having been permanent chairman of the last republican national convention.

Another Angle Develops.

Meantime the promised fight takes on added color by the latest information which came out today on the national chairmanship situation. After refusing to resign Thursday, it was learned all but officially today that Chairman Huston plans to retire within the next few weeks and that Senator Simeon Fess, of Ohio, is scheduled to succeed him. If the best of semi-official sources can be trusted, the president already has secured the Ohio senator's consent to serve.

Senator Fess is just as much a political ally of Postmaster-General Brown as Senator Moses is of Chairman Huston, who himself is favorable to the Dunning recognition. So that if Fess is made national chairman he can be counted upon to voice Brown's opposition to the confirmation of Dunning.

Chairman Huston had promised the anti-Rose leaders to have Dunning confirmed, and even was prepared to undertake initial recognition himself, subject to final ratification by the committee, until the agitation was revived against his official scalp. There is a well defined suspicion on the part of his supporters in the national organization that the whole agitation, recently revived, was initiated by Brown lieutenants bent on getting him out of the way because of a conflict of policies on handling political situations in Georgia and some of the other southern states.

In the light of this suspicion, which amounts to conviction in some quarters, the attitude of Senator Moses may have the greatest significance. Although an original Hoover man, he has not been overimpressed with the achievements of the administration so far, and there are reasons to believe he may later become openly identified with a movement to land the 1932 presidential nomination for Dwight W. Morrow or some one equally acceptable.

It is not over-indulging in speculation to see, therefore, where the Georgia national committeemanship, which has been vacant since 1928, may offer the basis for a test of strength within the national committee as between Postmaster-General Brown and friends of the administration.

Briefly summarized, the republican national organization finds itself overrun by more cross currents of dissension and administration opposition than has been witnessed in Washington in 10 years. The Georgia development is but one manifestation of what observers at the capital recognize to be going on beneath the surface.

If Chairman Huston finally gets out, as today's developments indicate, he is expected to leave with fresh wounds. It would not be surprising to see him quietly become a part of a well framed program to start immediate organization of the southern states with 1932 in view.

Meanwhile the several Georgia leaders returned to the state tonight after having maintained a close watch on the various activities here during the past few days.

HOOVER DENIES DATA TO SENATE

seas," instead of negotiating restrictions. War would be likely to follow if their counsels prevail and the treaty is rejected, he said.

Unrestrained Attack.

Then, when the president's message finally was read, Hiram Johnson, of California, with skilful oratory attacked the treaty unrestrainedly as heralding the destruction of our navy. The future center of naval operations, he said, is in the Pacific, off his home state of California. Then he took up the president's original treaty message of Monday, dissected it, and challenged practically every statement therein, except that there was a treaty.

The senate adjourned to meet Monday, after Moses, republican, New Hampshire, and other anti-treaty men informed Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee they would not attend a session tomorrow. Their absence would deprive the senate of the quorum necessary to operate, the minimum of 49 having been obtained only with difficulty today.

The soft-spoken Hale demanded of Reed after the latter interpreted his speech as a preachment of "iron fist" mastery of the seas, "where did I say that?" The Pennsylvanian referred him to the first part of his speech, in which Hale said a navy which could do no more than prevent a hostile fleet's landing would be "very" inadequate. "When war is declared," said Hale, "the navy becomes at once not only an instrument of defense against invasion of our shores but an instrument of offense, and its role is to drive the enemy off the seas, destroy the enemy commerce, capture its outlying possessions and force the war to a successful conclusion."

Hale's speech also contained criticism of Secretary Stimson for attacking the navy admirals—an attack the Maine man said was "unwarranted," and he referred to the treaty as far as Japan and the United States were concerned as "this wretched Japanese fiasco." Upon this treaty, Hale said, "we attempt to purchase the good will of the world through the sacrifice of the right to safeguard our interests."

Specifically, he objected to the failure of the treaty to allow this country enough eight-inch gun cruisers, the escalator clause allowing any nation to increase building above the limit to meet competition, and the raising of the Japanese ratio above six-tenths of American naval tonnage.

Palace Struck.

ROME, July 11.—(AP)—Lightning struck the Chigi palace, seat of the ministry of foreign affairs, during a terrific electrical storm today and set fire to elevator motors in the basement. Another bolt chipped the marble columns of Marcus Aurelius in the Piazza Colomba, showering bits of stone all about.

433,872 for Idaho.

BOISE, Idaho, July 11.—(AP)—With only Valley county missing, the population of Idaho stood today at 433,872, or about 2,000 greater than the state's population 10 years ago.

SWELTERING HEAT CONTINUES IN DIXIE

storm ruined crops over an area 15 miles square.

Lightning Kills Two.

Near Duson, La., two children were killed and a girl blinded by lightning, while at Lewisburg, Tenn., two negroes were killed and six others injured when lightning ignited a charge of dynamite. A windstorm swept Nashville, Tenn., felling many trees.

The only death directly attributed to the heat in the south was that of a negro in Arkansas. Stuggart, Ark., reported the highest temperature in the south, 108 1-2 degrees, one-half of a degree higher than Columbus, Miss. Hickman, Kentucky's unofficial reading was 110.

Birmingham had 105 degrees and Augusta, Helena, Ark., and Montgomery, Ala., 104 degrees each.

Reports from Chicago said that the worst heat wave of a decade hung over the central states Friday. Thirty-one were reported to have died as a result of heat, and many others prostrated.

Missouri, with a temperature of 103 in the St. Louis area and six deaths there Thursday, seemed hardest hit. The six deaths brought the Missouri total to 11.

All of Iowa Hot.

Most of Iowa had above 100 degrees, with several temperatures of 104 reported. Four have died to date. Much livestock has died, and farmers are reported working the fields at night.

Four also have died in Nebraska, and five in Illinois. Four have died in Minneapolis and one in St. Paul.

Chicago apparently is the only city faring well in the heat wave. Cooling lake breezes there have kept the temperature around 80 degrees.

The most destructive rains in history are reported in Utah. Rivers of mud, silt and boulders swept from the Wasatch mountain canyons to the streets of the state's principal cities.

The storm area extended from the Idaho-Utah line 150 miles southward. Five cloudbursts washed out railroad tracks, flooded towns and covered highways in some places with 12 feet of mud.

A mound of boulders 35 feet high and 300 feet long is piled on the main line of the Union Pacific at Devil's Gate in Weber canyon. Railroad officials estimate that it will require a week to clear the track.

A torrent sweeping suddenly out of Davis canyon at Farmington caught Ronald Olsen and his wife sitting on the porch of their home. The water swirled about them for a moment, then receded, leaving them shoulder deep in mud.

Unofficial estimates place the damage at $1,000,000.

MERCURY REACHES 100. AT WAYCROSS.

WAYCROSS, Ga., July 11.—The mercury reached the highest point of the summer in Waycross today, climbing a fraction of a point higher than yesterday to bump the 100 mark.

The record is taken from the official airways thermometer. During the heat wave of two weeks ago the thermometer went to 99 and again Thursday it reached a fraction above that point.

The heat onslaught that attacked Waycross Sunday is regarded as one of the most vicious on local weather records, the climax being reached when the temperature reached the even hundred mark today.

FOUR SWIMMERS DROWN IN ALABAMA.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 11.—(AP)—Four deaths from drowning, all occurring while the victims were seeking relief from the heat, were reported in Alabama today, three losing their lives at Trafford, Ala., and the fourth being drowned at Alexander City, Ala.

Two women and a man were drowned at Trafford while in swimming and a high school youth drowned at Alexander City.

The dead are Wallace Dean, 35; Miss Audrey Smith, 23, and Miss Opal Blackburn, 16, of Trafford, and John Plasse, of Alexander City.

Dean, the only one of a swimming party able to swim, attempted to save the lives of Miss Blackburn and Miss Smith, but all were drowned before help could be summoned by a sister of one of the girls who was standing on the bank of a swimming pool in Gurley creek.

Bodies of all three victims were recovered.

Plasse, an honor student last year at Alexander City High school, was drowned when he lost a makeshift swimming aid. Unsuccessful attempts were made to revive him after he had been taken from the water.

FIVE-YEAR RECORD IS MADE AT MACON.

MACON, Ga., July 11.—(AP)—Macon people sweltered today under the heat of another terrific sun—one which sent the mercury galloping to 103 degrees—but their discomfort was minimized greatly, weather officials report, by a pleasant, all-day breeze, and a comparatively low humidity percentage.

The temperature topped the official reading of the preceding day, which already had broken a record here for five years.

One prostration was reported when Miss Alma Hawthorne collapsed at the Bibb county courthouse. She had been summoned to appear as a witness before the grand jury.

The high temperature was reached at 4:15 o'clock in the afternoon.

ST. LOUIS DEATHS MOUNT TO 17.

ST. LOUIS, July 11.—(AP)—A torrid heat wave continued its siege of St. Louis today and the death toll in the metropolitan area for two days reached 17 as the mercury soared toward a new season's record. Twenty-three have died in the last week.

Roscoe Nunn, government weather forecaster, said no relief was in sight for 48 hours.

The temperature reached 104 at 3 p. m. today. The heat wave is the worst on record here for 30 years.

Auto Crash Victim Succumbs at Grady

W. T. Flowers, of 420 Farris street, East Point, who was seriously injured Thursday when the automobile he was driving skidded off the road and overturned against a tree near Adamsville, died Friday afternoon at Grady hospital.

Flowers, who was driving a party of four, including himself, was the only one injured to any extent. His three companions escaped critical injury and were brought to Grady by a passing motorist. A deep gash in his head rendered Flowers unconscious and he remained in a comatose state until his death.

The body was removed to the Barclay & Brandon funeral parlors, where arrangements will be made and announced later.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK

(Special Dispatch to The Atlanta Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 11.—Vivian Duncan and Rex Lease will say it with attorneys somewhere around the end of this month, according to a statement made by Rosetta Duncan this morning.

The pair said it so vigorously with fists a few days ago that Vivian is still in the hospital, one black eye, one useless knee and one set of badly shattered nerves, it seems.

The lads who study pigskin books have advised the blondined sisters to carry their suit through, they say. And they also add that this continuance is really not hokus-pokus of any sort, but a legitimate delay caused by the severity of the pretty Duncan's injuries.

We'll find out all in the fortnight. Meanwhile there's a plenty of time for a few conferences out of court. And what a help those often are at straightening out tangles and tempers!

They used to call her Cuddles. She was so fat and round and dimpled and cute that you couldn't keep your hands off her. She was just out of the nursery, too, and one of Gus Edwards' kiddies in a revue which that famous "discoverer" of talent, was presenting.

Today they call her Lila Lee. She's one of the most sought-after actresses of the talking screen. She has worked incessantly since her "comeback" a year ago.

At the time of the "comeback" Lila Lee, the "Cuddles" of yesterday, appeared willow slim, provocative, with a voice which experts declared the "most sexy" of all talking picture products. She had reduced to meet the demands of the camera. And those are strenuous demands. She had worked with her voice until it was microphone proof. And in the past year she has gone steadily from one role to another without pause, without rest and with dieting.

Today she is taking an enforced rest in a sanitarium near Prescott, Ariz. Her managers and friends deny that Lila Lee has been stricken with the tuberculosis which has followed on several attempts to keep camera weight in this colony. But the Prescott trip comes on the heels of a threatened nervous breakdown which has kept the actress in restful seclusion for several weeks past.

One of the most beautiful of the Latin screen goddesses has been denied insurance by gentlemen who speculate on life and health, because of the tubercular complications induced by studio work and rigid dieting.

So it's not all roses in the movies.

Priscilla Dean has had to call the local police to protect her from a raiding party in the person of Mrs. Arnold, her husband's former wife, who has been prowling about the garage on Priscilla Dean's home, looking for the ex-aviator whose marriage to the actress has been questioned by the former wife.

Priscilla Dean lives with her mother in Beverly Hills. When the argument over the legality of her marriage to Arnold occurred, Miss Dean calmly separated from him until the tangle solved itself one way or another.

And business must be having a slump for Lita Grey Chaplin for the handsome lady announces her intention of returning to the village wed Roy D'Arcy.

Some time ago, when her vaudeville was at its height, Lita Grey Chaplin denied that she would marry D'Arcy. "Why should I, I am making plenty of money," was her explanation; or words to that effect.

Meanwhile Roy D'Arcy has returned to his first wife's home and discovered that when they agreed they disagreed, they were really correct. So they disagreed all over again and straightened that out.

At least it's all straight with them. It's a bit cloudy with me.

MIAMI OFFICIALS DENY CHARGES OF CAPONE

MIAMI, Fla., July 11.—(AP)—State witnesses in the Scarface Al Capone perjury trial today withstood rigid cross-examination and a charge made in open court that the state's testimony, was a "grameup" as they denied the gangster's assertion in another case that he had been denied communication privileges when he was arrested by Miami police May 8.

Capone is charged in three instances with perjury in connection with his testimony in a false arrest case he brought some time ago against S. D. McCreary, Miami public safety director. He is on trial now on one of the counts, which asserted that he testified falsely that he was denied use of the police station telephone to communicate with attorneys or relatives at the time of his arrest, and that McCreary threatened to arrest members of his family on sight.

Seven witnesses were summoned by the state today as County Solicitor George McCaskill and Special Prosecutor Richard Hunt prepared to close their case against the gangster early tomorrow.

Each of them testified in effect that Capone had not asked to use the police station telephone while he was there.

J. F. Gordon, one of the gangster's attorneys, made the charge that the case was a "frame up" during cross-examination of V. H. Hilton, secretary to Chief of Police Guy Reeve. Hilton had testified that he had gone, with other police officers to the office of Prosecutor Hunt several days ago in reference to the case.

"Wasn't that visit to get your instructions as to what to say at the trial," Gordon asked.

Counsel for the state objected before Hilton could answer.

"I was trying to bring out what I firmly believe—that this whole case, and the state's testimony, is a frame-up," Gordon shouted.

The witness was excused without answering the question, although he said he had gone to Hunt's office on order of Chief of Detectives L. O. Scarboro. The incident occurred as court recessed at noon and was not followed in the afternoon session.

Criminal Court Judge E. C. Collins, who is presiding over the case, threatened late today to punish any of the spectators who crowded the courtroom if they made demonstrations during examination of witnesses.

The threat was provoked by laughter in the courtroom when Attorney Gordon accused Police Lieutenant W. J. McCarthy of possession of a "conveniently short memory" during cross-examination.

Testimony that Director McCreary had ordered that Capone be denied the use of the police station telephone, but that he had not sought the accommodation, was offered as court opened today by Chief of Police Guy Reeve.

"Did you hear Capone's request that he be permitted the use of the telephone in the police station denied?" Reeve was askd.

"No. He made no such request in my hearing," the police chief answered and added that he had talked with Capone for some time in McCreary's presence.

"Even if he had asked to use the phone, I would have denied it, because Mr. McCreary had ordered that he shouldn't be allowed to telephone," Reeve continued. "I also was under orders not to let Capone see anyone."

Stowaways Swapped By Liners on Ocean

NEW YORK, July 11.—(AP)—Is one hungry American the equal of five hungry Chinese?

On that depends whether Captain George Fried of the United States liner America or Captain A. B. Randall of the George Washington came out ahead in a little swap they effected in mid-Atlantic.

Shortly after leaving Hamburg for New York, Captain Randall discovered he was harboring five extremely hungry Chinese stowaways, while about the same time Captain Fried learned he had an equally hungry stowaway in the person of Amil G. Olsen, 23, of Dubois, Pa., who had hidden aboard the ship in New York with the hope of getting to Havre.

As the two ships passed in mid-Atlantic, the captains via wireless, got to talking things over as captains do and each learned of the other's unbooked passengers. Captain Randall suggested a swap, and computing the price of rice and beef Captain Fried took him up on it. The transfer was made, but the winner in the deal has not been announced.

POSTAL HEADS TO ASK INCREASE IN RATE

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(AP)—Convinced that an increase in postage rates is the only feasible way of lifting the world's biggest public utility "out of the red," officials are preparing to press their advocacy of a higher charge for carrying first-class mail.

When Postmaster-General Brown submits his annual report to congress in December, the enactment of legislation authorizing the increase is to be his most urgent recommendation. The postmaster believes a rate of 2 1-2 cents an ounce on first-class mail would balance the department budget for the present.

Assistant Postmaster-General Glenn, generally regarded as the financial expert of the department, said today an increase in the rate on letter mail is the only solution of the deficit problem. "We see no other way out," Tilton said. "If the public or congress sees one, we shall be glad to have them point it out."

Last year's postal deficit amounted to $50,000,000. Tilton estimates it will run over $60,000,000 this year. The present loss in handling the mails now a charge against the general funds of the treasury. Brown and Tilton are of the opinion the postoffice department as a public utility should be self-supporting, the cost of operation to be borne by those it serves rather than the tax-paying public.

The present rate on first-class mail has been in effect since 1885, a situation without parallel, Tilson said, in any other line of business. If postage rates had been increased to the average level of commodities, Brown explained, the first-class rate today would be 3 1-2 cents an ounce. If the increase were in the same ratio as wages, the letter rate today would be 7 cents, he said.

Meanwhile, the world's biggest single business is growing at a tremendous rate. Last year it handled more than 27,000,000,000 articles and the increase in the number of articles every year is more than a billion.

France Is Credited With Peaceful Move

PARIS, July 11—(AP)—That France has made another sincere bid for friendly negotiations with Italy today was the opinion oftenest heard expressed in League of Nations circles in Paris.

The optimistic word of Foreign Minister Briand the man who generally is hailed as an apostle of peace has served to lessen the nervousness which has been apparent in international diplomatic centers as a result of expressions stirred in both Italy and France over the disarmament situation.

Paris morning newspapers today gave prominence to one extract of M. Briand's summary of foreign relations, in which he said, "I wish to prove by the attitude of France that the peace atmosphere cannot be troubled. France remains perfectly calm thus indicating her force and her will for peace. The essential thing is to dovetail our foreign policies into our national security.

"We must depend especially upon ourselves for our defense. I have never neglected national defense but have devoted myself to demonstrating to the world France's good-will. I am happy to note today that the world fully recognizes France's desire for peace."

Whatever measures France now may be adopting to increase her frontier security undoubtedly will meet with the approval of the masses of French people, whose leaders are insisting that there will be no letup in necessary armaments.

Lifer, Too Bad to Hang, Is Paroled to Wife

CHICAGO, July 10.—(AP)—Henry Morris, convicted killer who was sentenced to life imprisonment 19 years ago because a jury decided "hanging was too good for him," has been paroled to the wife who originally turned him over to the law.

In convicting Morris for a murder committed in 1910, the jury directed that no parole board ever should give him freedom, and that on every anniversary of the crime he be placed in solitary confinement. The presiding judge at that time, however, advised the jurors that any such instructions would not be binding upon future pardon and parole boards.

Morris was convicted for slaying Mrs. Stella Montgomery, of Aurora, with whom he had fled after deserting his wife.

Augusta Station Seeking License

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(AP)—Application for license to construct a new station for WRDW was filed with the radio commission today by Warren C. Davenport, Augusta, Ga. The station would be on the 1500 kilocycle channel, use 100 watts power and broadcast on unlimited time.

The Montgomery Broadcasting Company, Montgomery, Ala., applied for permission to change Station WSFA from 500 watts to one kilowatt power for day operation and 500 watts at night and to change from time sharing with Station WODX to unlimited time on the 1410 kilocycle channel.

Dodge Will Attend Lions Convention

Combining his annual vacation with the business of attending the annual convention of Lions International, meeting in Denver, Colorado, July 15 to 18, Dr. Witherspoon Dodge, pastor of Central Congregational church, is leaving Atlanta today for the convention city. After attending the sessions in Denver, Dr. Dodge will then go for a trip through Yellowstone Park.

During his absence from the city, which will continue until the first Sunday in August, services at his church will be in charge of the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church.

Drink of Kerosene Sends Girl to Sleep

Doctors at the Martha Eggleston hospital and the family physician, called in earlier, were puzzled Friday night over the long sleep which fell over little Louise Poole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Poole, 1091 Woodland avenue, after she swallowed an unknown quantity of kerosene about noon.

The child was playing in the kitchen where a can of oil rested on the shelf near the drain pipe. She first dozed off and later awoke, crying out that she was in pain and then fell back to sleep.

Bold Facist Boy 'Kidnaps' Prince

LOMBARDORE, Italy, July 11.—(AP)—Young Alessandro Duranti, "Balilla," or member of fascism's boys' organization, has acquired the reputation of being the boldest boy of his age in the countryside.

He had supreme nerve to walk up to Prince Humbert of Piedmont while that handsome young colonel was inspecting a detachment of his regiment here, and drag him off to visit his school.

The heir to the throne accepted the impromptu invitation with good grace. Alessandro ran ahead and got the school janitor to ring the bell. The sacristan of the church across the way got busy in turn, and by the time his royal highness arrived all the local peasantry was gathered to greet him.

The prince visited every classroom, spoke to all the children, and then congratulated the teachers, saying their school was a model for any farming community. Far from being dismissed as was the British schoolboy who asked the Prince of Wales for an autograph, Alessandro is now the hero of his village.

Darkness Fails To Halt Speech Of H. C. Peeples

Henry C. Peeples, veteran Atlanta barrister, Friday night gave the members of the Lawyers Club a real demonstration of poise and quickness of wit, when the lights in the ballroom of the Henry Grady hotel went out during his talk on a tour of the Mediterranean countries.

Mr. Peeples was just remarking that what he would have to say would be of a rambling nature, an "chaotic mass," when the lights flickered and went out. Mr. Peeples' experience in public speaking came to his aid. "And what I have to say will be in the dark and it will not enlighten you much," he declared, and the lawyers joined in a hearty roar of laughter.

The discourse on travel continued, in the dark, with lighted cigars all over the room resembling nothing so much as fireflies as the smokers puffed away, and some five minutes later the lights came on again.

Mr. Peeples described his adventures in Algiers, Monte Carlo, Nice, Naples, Athens, Constantinople, the Holy Land, Italy, France and England. He described Florence as the loveliest city he visited, and spoke of the charm and beauty of the various points of interest along the tour. He declared that there is no romance about Monte Carlo, but that everyone there seems to be trying to get something for nothing.

Congressman Robert C. W. Ramspeck made a short talk, and Solicitor General J. C. Pratt, of the Piedmont circuit, was introduced. A quartet from Fairburn entertained with several selections. John B. McCallum, president, presided.

42 Men Recruited Here for U. S. Navy

With its quota increased to 48 men per month for the Atlanta headquarters district, Lieutenant A. F. Anderson, United States navy, reported Friday that 42 men already have been enrolled for the month of July. Nine Atlanta men were included in a group of eighteen leaving the city Friday for Hampton Roads, where they will undergo four months' training before being assigned to a service school or sea duty.

Florida To Burn $10,000,000 Bonds

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., July 11.—(AP)—The state capital is scheduled to have a $10,000,000 fire tomorrow and it will be of incendiary origin.

Ten million dollars worth of Everglades drainage district bonds, authorized by the legislature of 1927 and recalled by the legislature of 1929, will be burned in the city incinerator. A group of state officials will play the parts of "fire bugs," in the case.

The bonds were printed and validated but were never issued, it was said here today.

Too Ardent Acting Displeases Actress

NEW YORK, July 11.—(AP)—It was Muriel Kirkland's task, as the demure but eager southern girl in "Strictly Dishonorable," to encourage her opera singer acquaintance, who off stage is Tullio Carminati, to make ardent love to her.

He became too ardent, on the stage, Miss Kirkland said today, and she has resigned from the leading role of the comedy, ranking long-run play of Broadway.

ATLANTA NAVAL UNIT REACHES BALTIMORE

BALTIMORE, Md., July 11.—(Special.)—The United States naval reserve unit of Atlanta arrived here this afternoon and week-end liberty was granted the young seamen so that they might visit Baltimore and other nearby cities before weighing anchor Monday and leaving for Hampton Roads, Va., in the event that a calm sea and perfect sailing conditions continue.

Wednesday the Atlanta boys anchored at Annapolis where a complete trip through the United States Naval Academy was made. Thursday morning there were several practice runs for gunnery drill and this morning captain's inspection was held along with a thorough personal and ship inspection.

The Atlanta detachment of the United States naval reserve is now on its second week of its annual two-week cruise. They embarked from Charleston, S. C., last Friday and after touching at Hampton Roads will again head southward.

'Attic Lover' Freed Of Slaying Guilt

LOS ANGELES, July 11.—(AP)—Otto Sanhuber, who as the "attic lover" of Mrs. Walburga Oesterrich, was convicted of the manslaughter eight years ago of her husband, Fred, wealthy manufacturer, was freed today when the state concurred in a defense motion that the statute of limitations had nullified the jury's verdict, returned a week ago.

The motion was presented as Sanhuber appeared in superior court for sentence.

Defense counsel said the statute of limitations outlawed manslaughter if no prosecution is made within three years. The state admitted this, and Judge Hardy freed Sanhuber.

Sanhuber was tried for murder but the jury's verdict was "manslaughter." Mrs. Oesterreich is awaiting trial for murder. The slaying occurred in August, 1922, during a quarrel between the Oesterreiches. Sanhuber intervened and shot the husband during a struggle.

At the trial he testified he lived for many years in secret garret nooks of Oesterreich homes here and in Milwaukee as the widow's clandestine lover.

Carolina Links Woman With Felon's Escape

RALEIGH, N. C., July 11.—(AP)—The possibility that a woman aided Otto Wood, "Slippery Eel" of state prison, in his fourth escape was suggested today as police of six states continued search for North Carolina's most notorious jail breaker.

Wood, who in spite of three previous escapes had been singled out by Governor O. Max Gardner for an "experiment in humanities" and made an honor prisoner, took leave of state prison some time yesterday afternoon. He was serving a 22-to-30-year term for the second-degree murder of A. W. Kaplan, Greensboro pawn broker, in 1923.

If Otto had "vanished in thin air," he could not have made a more perfect escape, prison officials said. They had no information as to how he left the prison.

The theory that a woman might have aided Otto in his get-away was advanced when other prisoners recalled he had received letters daily from a woman living in High Point. The same woman had visited Wood in prison several times recently.

Prison officials let it be known they were investigating this angle carefully. They declined to disclose the woman's name.

As G. O. P. Leaders Met in Huston Matter

The accompanying picture shows the republican national committee at Washington just before they went into a closed session on the case of Claudius Huston, national chairman, who has been the subject of many attacks since his testimony before the senate lobby probing committee. At the close of the meeting Huston declined to comment on the matter other than to say that he would have something to say after the special senate session adjourns. This has been generally taken to mean that he will then resign. It was agreed at the meeting that all republican leaders should religiously refrain from any public discussion of the rift within the party. Left to right, Representative Wood, of Indiana, chairman of the republican congressional committee; J. R. Nutt, of Ohio, national committee treasurer; J. Matt Chilton, of Kentucky, proxy for Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, vice chairman; Claudius H. Huston, of Tennessee, national chairman; Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, chairman of the senatorial campaign committee; Daniel E. Pomeroy, of New Jersey, national vice chairman; James Francis Burke, of Pennsylvania, committee counsel, and Earl S. Kinsley, committeeman for Vermont.

BY MARK SULLIVAN.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 11.—The question that has consumed four days of the senate session, the demand to see the correspondence between Secretary of State Stimson and Ambassador Dawes, has no direct bearing on the question of ratifying the treaty. This is wholly a collateral controversy over a point of power, pride and prerogative between the senate and the executive branch of the government. The line-up on this question has no relation to the line-up on ratifying the treaty. Senator after senator has said, in effect, that he would vote to ratify the treaty but that it would fight all summer to maintain the senate's demand to see this correspondence. They have said that, as Senator Black, of Alabama, put it, this question of prerogative "fundamentally transcends in importance the question of the treaty itself."

This question of prerogative as between senate and president is to the front as respects all relations between the two. When a large part of the senate opposed Charles E. Hughes as Chief Justice, much of their action was in the nature of serving notice on the president that he must give the senate a larger share in the selection of justices. More lately, the senate has been outraged because through the flexible provision of the tariff, a large part of the historically most important function of congress has been transferred to the president. The senate feels the president over rode them about the pension bill. Senator Black stated the broad position of the senate when he said that the position of the president in the present matter "is an attempt on the part of the executive to whittle off one more legislative function. We have yielded the power to tax, we have yielded the power to apportion representatives."

Proviso.

The dispute about the treaty correspondence is not a question of the senate seeing the correspondence. It is a question of the senate seeing it unconditionally. Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, has the correspondence in his possession. He offers to turn it over to the whole senate with a proviso, in executive session as distinguished The proviso is that the senate read it from open session. Executive session would prevent publication. At this proposal, Senator Johnson, of California, is indignant. What he is indignant at is the proviso, the placing of any condition whatever upon the senate's seeing the correspondence. It is a matter of principle with him. His position is that the senate has a right to see the correspondence. Since the senate has a right, therefore it is insulting to the senate that there should be any proviso or condition whatever attached to the seeing of the correspondence.

Public curiosity as to just what is in the correspondence, and as to reasons for not publishing it broadcast, is answered by Democratic Leader Robinson, of Arkansas, who has seen the correspondence. He says the "messages according to the processes of diplomacy from time immemorial, were confidential. There were some sent by our representatives abroad describing situations in foreign governments which if published might cause very unfavorable reaction. Publication might create such resentment in other countries that the treaty might not be ratified by them. There is to me an element of comedy in the matter and that would be apparent if senators could read some of these 'secret messages.'"

Might Offend.

Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, who has a sense of humor, went farther in hinting what is in the so-called secret correspondence and in suggesting why it should not be published "in the newspapers of the whole round globe," though he implied there would be no harm in publication in American newspapers. Senator Reed described the correspondence by analogy to the correspondence of the other nations, together with an allusion to the arts of poker. He said: "When the delegates of the five nations were named, I do not know what information the ambassadors of Great Britain, of Japan, of France and of Italy here in Washington sent to their governments. But they would be sadly remiss in their duty if they had not promptly communicated back to their governments their estimate of the individuals who were named. It is open to any of us to assume that ordinary communication of that character would have been made by Ambassador Dawes to our own government. Ambassador Dawes might have said: 'Sir What's-his-name Snooks is a very shrewd man. He deals very closely and has to be watched.' Suppose that were published? That is the kind of stuff that comprises these so-called deadly secret documents, the ordinary full, frank comment of an intelligent ambassador like Mr. Dawes, speaking as he would speak if he were closeted in an office with his president."

Washington gossip hints a further humorous reason for hesitancy about publishing the correspondence. It is rather well known that Ambassador Dawes occasionally uses language more appropriate to intimate conversations than to diplomacy or Sunday schools. Undersecretary of State Joseph P. Cotton has the same trait of forceful expression. It is possible the correspondence may contain some inelegant words that would shock the very polite world of diplomacy. According to a story current in Washington, some time ago an American ambassador abroad sent home an extremely long dispatch full of woe and trouble. Undersecretary of State Cotton dictated an answer in four words, "Oh, laugh it off." Some hours later a subordinate official of the department approached Mr. Cotton timorously and said: "I am sorry, sir, but the state department code has no word for laugh."

Small Dealers Face Ruin in Coast Oil War

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—(AP)—The specter of bankruptcy loomed for many small dealers today as the gasoline price war brought quotations ranging from 6 1-2 cents to 16 1-2 cents a gallon on the Pacific coast.

Charles Jacobs, secretary of the Independent Association of Service Stations Operators here, said 25 per cent of the local dealers would close their stations if the war continued another week.

Governor C. C. Young declined to intervene in the price war, saying he believed any restraining action by the state would conflict with state supreme court decisions.

H. E. Warner, Seattle, vice president of the Sunset Pacific Oil Company, announced at Portland last night the merger of his and the Seaboard Oil and Refining Company, Ltd. Warner expressed the belief the merger would be followed within a few days by a return to former gasoline prices.

Bath tubs, Captain Theodore Trivett, local fire prevention chief, has pointed out, are to sing in, and not for gasoline storage.

Motorists have been reported to the fire prevention bureau as purchasing gasoline during the price war and storing it away in bath tubs against the day when prices will again become normal.

Jersey Ghost Draws Large Audiences

LONG BRANCH, N. J., July 11.—(AP)—Any number of people who visited Greenlawn cemetery last night will vouch for the tale that a white, dangling, shapeless object moves around trees and tombstones.

They turned out in numbers at the mystic hour of midnight to see the apparition, and an hour later women stood glued to the ground and men ran in fright when shrieks rent the air.

The shrieks seemed to come from the crowd itself—but it was all very ghastly.

The spook saga had its inception Sunday night, when a group of youths raced into town with the story of a long-legged object clothed in white which chased them when they threatened to shoot.

Police have taken cognizance of the ghost hunt only by way of keeping the curious from trampling on graves.

TWO SLAIN, THREE HURT IN DRY RAID BATTLE

GRUNDY, Va., July 11.—(AP)—Two men were killed and three others were injured, one seriously, in a gun battle in the Paw Paw section of Knox creek after what officers said was an attempt to interfere with arrests of persons charged with violation of the prohibition laws.

Hyson Baker, Buchanan county constable, and Thomps Dotson, one of the men sought by the officers, were killed. Howard Justus and David J. Smith, deputy sheriffs, are in the Hurley hospital, the former in a critical condition, and Hillman Tester, another of those the officers sought to arrest, is under arrest in a Highlands hospital.

Early Wednesday, according to the officers' report, Hyson Baker and Howard Justus raided a still in the Paw Paw section, arresting Ballard Tester, Earl Dotson, Clark Dotson, Tom May and Harmon Dotson. The officers reported that a group of men rode past them as they started for Grundy with the prisoners, firing on them and warning them not to come back into the neighborhood.

Deputizing Smith at Grundy, the officers returned. When they reached the home of Thomps Dotson, they said, Dotson and Hillman Tester were in the yard. When told that they were under arrest, officers said, the two men opened fire. Dotson and Baker fell in the exchange of shots from high-powered rifles, and Smith was shot in the legs. The other officers were unhurt.

Tester, wounded in the hand, was at first placed in the jail and then transferred to the Highlands hospital.

Two Miners Killed In Homestake Blaze

LEAD, S. D., July 11.—(AP)—Two miners were killed in a fire that destroyed three buildings at the Homestake Gold Mine last night.

Scotty Eastman and Sidney Wellman were the miners killed. They were trapped in the elevator cage when the engineer at the top of the shaft had to run from the flames.

The damage to the Homestake mines was upwards of $1,000,000. The mine, in the northern Black Hills, is the largest producer of gold in the United States.

The buildings destroyed were the Ellison hoist, at the top of the largest shaft; the pressure room and the dry room where the miners change their clothes.

INDIAN VOLUNTEERS CHARGED BY POLICE

Attempts To Form in Forbidden Processions Bring Clashes.

BOMBAY, India, July 11.—(AP)—Four attempts by civil disobedience volunteers to form a procession forbidden by the police resulted in clashes today between the authorities and the volunteers, in the coures of which nearly 100 nationalists were injured.

While most were only slightly hurt, the free hospital, operated by the congress party, reported a number seriously wounded.

The procession was designed to be a sympathetic demonstration for the Gharwali soldiers who were court-martialed at Peshawar when they disobeyed orders in the recent troubles. Each attempt to form in line was broken up by the police, who charged the volunteers with staves.

The troubles began when some 50 volunteers attempted to form a procession on the edge of the Maidan esplanade in a 12-acre irregular square in front of the municipal building. Police sergeants ordered their leader to disperse the crowd but when he refused the sergants charged, using canes and rubber whips resembling black snakes.

A few minutes later, 70 or 80 Sikhs marched into the center of the square. They, too, were charged by the sergeants and followed up by native police.

Some 36 Sikhs were injured. The rest sat on the pavements and had to be carried bodily to the sidewalk, where they continued to squat for more than three hours.

At intervals of about an hour further attempts were made to form a line, but all were broken up by the police. Though the military force was held in reserve, it was not called into service.

Few women appeared, for Mr. Modi, president of the Bombay congress committee, had requested women not to participate. He had also requested the volunteer marchers not to carry umbrellas so that they might be absolutely unarmed when attacked by the police. Modi himself was arrested early in the afternoon.

The congress party had an ample number of stretcher bearers and ambulances to convey the injured to the hospital. The stretcher bearers, who wore Red Cross bands, followed directly behind the police as they charged with their staves and picked up the injured as rapidly as they fell.

Jardine To Receive Diplomatic Position

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(AP)—William L. Jardine, former secretary of agriculture, has been selected by President Hoover for a diplomatic post, and probably will be sent to Egypt.

Jardine has been declared acceptable by the Cairo government, but Mr. Hoover is considering a shift which may send another diplomat to Egypt and Jardine to another post.

Jardine is a native of Idaho and was secretary of agriculture from 1925 until March, 1929. Shortly afterwards he became head of the Federated Fruit and Vegetable Growers' Association.

DISCOURTEOUS WORKER COSTS CHARITY $50,000

SYDNEY, Australia, July 11.—(AP)—Because a secretary was discourteous a charitable institution here is reported to have lost $50,000.

Charles McNess, western Australian millionaire and philanthropist, walked into the institution and asked to see the governor "on private business."

"If you can't state your business, you can't go in," replied a secretary tartly.

"Well," said McNess, "if that's the way you treat poor people, I might as well tear this up."

He tore up a check for $50,000, and gave the secretary the fragments.

Farm Board Would Shift Price Cuts to Retail Field

HUGE SAVINGS FOR HOUSEWIVES SEEN

BY FRANK I. WELLER.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(AP)—Figuring it has saved consumers $33,000,000 a month in the retail price of meat and increased producers' profits, the farm board has decided to inform the public whenever it believes conditions warrant a cut in the retail price of agricultural products.

C. C. Teague, board member representing fruits and vegetables, said today that while no definite policy had been established he had no doubt the board would issue statements in regard to retail prices whenever the opportunity arose to benefit the general public.

Teague's statement followed reports of a drastic cut in the retail price of beef since June 26, when C. B. Denman, representing live stock on the board, announced that as a result of the decline in wholesale and live weight prices the consumer should find current prices of beef considerably lower.

Within 10 days the Retail Meat Dealers' Association had reported a cut of 10 per cent in the price of good beef and 20 per cent on common grades.

At Kansas City, Mo., a general 10-cent-a-pound reduction was reported and in Washington, D. C., for the first time in years, club steaks were advertised on 50-cent dinners.

Prior to Denman's statement the retail price of beef had maintained a constant level despite the succession of dips taken by wholesale and live weight prices. The chain store group, Denman said, had made some reduction, but it was not until housewives made a concerted demand for lower prices that the general price line took its precipitate dive.

Estimating total beef consumption at 8,000,000 pounds a year, Denman said a 5-cent-a-pound reduction in retail price would save consumers $400,000,000 a year or $33,000,000 a month.

In the first week following his announcement, Denman said, the country beheld—for the first time in history—the spectacle of retail prices going down while live weight prices ascended.

Declaring that administration of the agricultural marketing act contemplated the welfare of the consumer as well as that of the producer, Denman said the possibilities of what the producer and consumer could do collectively in adjusting retail prices were unlimited. He pointed specifically to the retail price of dairy and poultry products.

Teague said one of the chief problems of agriculture was the spread between the producers price and the consumers price.

"The producer," he declared, "is not getting his proper share of the consumer's dollar. Part of that is due to expensive systems of distribution that the public had demanded—delivery, credit and fancy stores that necessitate high rent.

"There is coming, I believe, somewhat of a readjustment of those things through cash and carry stores and lower margins.

"The only way we see that we can definitely and permanently effect it is in the development of co-operative marketing organizations whereby the growers can act collectively and cut down the cost of distribution of his product through handling large volumes and efficient merchandising.

Bibb Manufacturing Co. Vacationists Return Home

One hundred and forty-two girls, ranging in ages from 12 to 18, most of them children of employes of the Bibb Manufacturing Company, Macon textile organization, passed through Atlanta late Friday on their way back home from a happy ten-day vacation at a camp on the top of the Cumberland mountains.

They had earned the trip on a system of point scoring for church and Sunday school attendance, scholarship—including the reading of and written comment about two books designated by the Girls Reserve, an affiliated group of the Y. W. C. A., and proficiency in nature studies.

Of 142, with a chaperon for every five or six girls, about 40 were employes of the mills who had, for the past year, made the required number of points in addition to working the regular shift at one of the four mills operated by the Bibb Manufacturing Company.

As a composite picture of the feminine side of young America, this group is hard to beat. Many of them, out in the hills hiking, swimming, playing basketball and following a carefully mapped out program, brought back a sun tan that would be envied at Palm Beach or Deauville.

Officials of the mill, including Vice President J. H. Porter and Treasurer A. A. Drake, accompanied by members of their families, spent several days at camp with the young women. Mrs. Pearl Taylor, in charge of the Girl Reserve work at Macon, was in charge of the party and C. Fort Andrews, editor of the Bibb Recorder, was along.

Friday, after more than a week of vacationing in new surroundings (last year they went to St. Augustine) the party closed camp and went down to Chattanooga where officials of the street car company provided them with facilities for a sightseeing tour.

Mills of the company at Macon, Columbus and Porterdale were represented in the group of approximately 180 people, including mill attaches, who passed through Atlanta Friday.

Negro Captured Believed Leader Of Robber Gang

With the arrest late Friday afternoon of Milton Holt, negro, of an Arwood street address, detectives believed that they had bagged the ring leader of a gang of semi-professional thieves who have robbed various Atlanta firms of property worth several thousand dollars during the last three months.

After waiting more than 24 hours, Patrolman J. H. Smith, Jr., serving his second night on special duty, frustrated an attempt by two negroes to enter a rear door of the L. and L. company, 263 Garnett street. Patrolman Smith caught Lewis Crowder and fired a shot at Artie Lewis, his companion, who was taken at Grady afterwards when he went there to have the pistol wound treated.

From Crowder and Lewis Detectives Paul Higgins and G. B. Scoggins obtained enough information to locate Holt, identified as the ring leader of a gang that has operated widely over the city. Holt was arrested and after grilling is said to have confessed to taking part and directing a number of burglaries, including the Dunlop Tire company, on Stewart avenue, the Austin Western company, a transfer company at 203 Forsyth street, and the Atlanta Godman company. The latter establishment, a shoe store, was burglarized a half dozen times, Holt admitted. Tires, however, were the gang's specialty.

Two boys, J. T. Maner, 18, of 45 Luckie street and J. D. Buckner, 19, of 510 Jones street, were being held after police had exposed what they believe is an entirely new racket in Atlanta. Lieutenant T. O. Sturdivant and two special officers were waiting for the boys at the rear of 22 Simpson street, to which six pairs of fine shoes had been ordered. The shoes arrived, C. O. D. The lads took them in the house after telling the delivery boy to wait a minute and ran into the open arms of the officers. The "racket" has been giving merchants considerable trouble.

Three negroes, one of whom posed as a prospective customer, Thursday night held up B. Hurwitz, 170 Edgewood avenue, and then poked a gun at a saleswoman who was forced to hand over 13 dozen pairs of ladies' stockings.

W.F. Shorty Anderson Shows Improvement

W. F. (Shorty) Anderson, special officer at the First National bank, is still under treatment at Grady hospital for a severe heart attack suffered late Wednesday night. He is reported to be improving. Anderson, retired policeman, was the recipient several years ago of a medal from the police department for disarming a negro armed with a rifle after he had been shot several times.

Ragsdale Reviewing City Council Papers

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale Friday began consideration of the measures passed to him from the council session Monday and the aldermanic board session Thursday afternoon. He is expected to complete the papers this morning.

Gazaway Will Ask For Bond on July 19

Application of bond filed on behalf of B. M. Gazaway, who is under indictment for the murder of W. A. Stewart, Friday was set by Judge John D. Humphries, of Fulton superior court, for a hearing on July 19. Gazaway is represented by Attorneys Sydney H. Baynes and George G. Finch. Stewart was found dead in an automobile in Grant Park following an altercation in a roadside stand near Lakewood park.

VOTE OF INDICTMENTS IS POSTPONED BY JURY

Action on Two Projected Bills Not To Take Place Until Tuesday.

Failing to obtain the testimony of several witnesses considered important the graft investigating grand jury Friday was forced to postpone until Tuesday vote of two projected indictments.

More than a score of witnesses who were summoned to appear against an employe of the city health department were heard during the afternoon session Friday, when the grand jury took up the graft situation after disposing of its routine business, but Thomas J. Lyon, foreman of the inquisitorial body, said after the session that the grand jurors desired to hear the testimony of the absent witnesses before taking a vote on the prepared true bill.

Included in the number of witnesses heard were several police matrons and nurses from Grady hospital as well as fellow employes of the man against whom the indictment is projected. A number of young women, said to have police records, also were heard during the afternoon.

Though a number of routine bills were voted they were not returned Friday, as no superior court judge was in the courthouse when the grand jury terminated its session. These bills are to be returned to Judge John D. Humphries this morning.

DECISION ON PENSIONS MAY BE MADE TODAY

Definite announcement on the payment of pensions to Confederate veterans and their widows will be made today, it was indicated Friday following a conference with the state tax commissioner, the comptroller general and the state auditor.

Governor Hardman said following the meeting that the pension question had been discussed and that he hoped to be in a position today to make a definite statement.

The state officials, it is understood, gave the chief executive information as to the revenues which had come into the state treasury so far and which might come into it during the remainder of the year.

Although the last legislature made arrangement to pay the veterans $30 a month instead of $50 a quarter, as the scale had been in the past, the old arrangement was continued, both because of straitened state finances and a defect in the appropriation bill accompanying the law providing for the increase.

Governor Hardman announced recently that every effort would be made to pay the veterans on the increased basis after the first of July. The matter was put to him for an immediate decision early this week when a requisiition was submitted to him by Colonel R. deT. Lawrence, state pension commissioner, for the $170,000 necessary to pay the veterans $30 each month.

Municipal Ice Plant Urged by Civic Group

Erection of a municipally owned and operated ice plant through which consumers might obtain the commodity "at a reasonable rate" was urged in resolutions of the Milton Avenue Community Club, which were forwarded Friday to Mayor I. N. Ragsdale.

The resolutions urge council to set up a fund to erect the plant and ask the mayor to back the move. Mr. Ragsdale stated he does not see how the city could undertake such a project at this time.

Schroeder Refused View of Burned Car

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 11.—(AP)—Judge James A. Collins, of criminal court, today denied a petition by Marion county authorities for permission to take Harold H. Schroeder, of Mobile, from jail so that he might view his burned automobile in which the body of an unidentified man was found several weeks ago.

Schroeder was arrested in Mobile some time ago after his burned car was found along a lonely road near here. He has been questioned intensively, but has denied the state's contention that he killed a hitch hiker who was riding with him. He said the man was killed when the car overturned and that he set fire to the automobile because he feared he would be charged with the man's murder.

Schroeder's attorney recently obtained a court order forbidding the authorities to subject the prisoner to hardships.

Judge Collins had Schroeder brought into court today. He asked the prisoner if he had anything to say. Schroeder said no and his attorney then announced Schroeder did not care to see the car. The petition was then denied.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN,
Associated Press Market Editor.

CHICAGO, July 11.—(AP)—Suddenly reversing an upward flight, wheat values late today plunged to below the bottom level reached heretofore this season or for 17 years back.

Reports of rains affording some relief from drought both in Canada and in domestic spring wheat territory were to a great degree responsible for a quick switch that many traders made to the selling side as the day drew to an end. Earlier, extremely adverse crop advices from the Dakotas and Montana tended to make the wheat market soar. Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled,, 1 7-8 to 2 3-8c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish and in some cases at exactly the lowest point yet reached. Corn closed at 1-4 to 1c net advance, oats a shade off to 1-4c up, and provisions varying from 5c setback to a rise of 20c.

Only transient early downturns in wheat prices resulted from the government crop report forecasting an increase of wheat production. Most traders devoted themselves instead to reports of persistent hot dry weather northwest and to advices telling of severe damage in the Dakotas and Montana.

Buying demand lagged, however, after the wheat market had bounded upward about 2c. Then came reports that drought northwest had been at least partly broken. A flood of selling followed, some of it of a stop-loss character, and prices of wheat quickly faded away. Contributing to the late weakness of wheat was word that the movement of the newly harvested crop in the southwest continued of large proportions, with Kansas City today alone receiving 1,177 cars. There were also indications of a large movement in Nebraska and in central states next week.

Corn prices went up even faster than wheat but later eased down owing to forecasts of cooler weather. Oats followed the trend of corn.

Provisions averaged higher, influenced largely by the course of hog values.

Wall Street Briefs.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Commercial failures for this week totaled 428, compared with 435 for the five days last week and 490 insolvencies for the six days two weeks ago. Defaults with liabilities of more than 5,000 declined in each instance, totaling 253 this week, 266 last week and 287 two weeks ago.

Standard Statistics Company, in a survey of the paper industry, says: "Leading manufacturers have succeeded in effecting some operating economies to offset the poor prospects for an upward price revision on news grade paper and further savings in production costs are expected in the coming months. The current outlook, therefore, is that, while newsprint sales this year will fall somewhat below 1929 takings, producers' earnings, nevertheless, will probably exceed the disappointing showings recorded last year."

The floating supply of United States Steel common stock on June 30, as indicated by stock in brokers' names, was 1,589,834 shares, or 18.57 per cent of the total issue of 8,560,876 shares outstanding. The figures show a decrease of 293,827 shares since March 31 last, when 1,883,661 shares were held. The floating supply July 31 last year was 2,029,540 shares, or 25.27 per cent of the total issue of 8,030,307 shares then outstanding. Floating supply figures were not published June 30 last year because of an offering of additional common.

Sugar.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Raw sugar was a little easier today under increased offerings and a less active demand. Spots declined about 1-32c to 3.28 delivered, although Cubans for shipment were unchanged at 3.33. The only sales reported were 8,050 bags of Cuban from store at 3.28 and 7,800 bags of Porto Rican for prompt shipment at 3.30 to local refiners, while outport refiners bought 20,000 bags of Cuban for middle July shipment at 3.33.

Although quiet raw futures were easier under tired long liquidation and some selling by houses with European connections, influenced by the more liberal offerings in the spot market and the failure of London to follow our advance of yesterday, the market opened unchanged to 1 point lower but soon weakened and was easy throughout the balance of the session, closing at the lowest and from 3 to 4 points below the previous day.

All told only 17,900 tons changed hands, with about one-third in the way of September liquidation and exchanging from that month to later positions. Nothing further was announced in regard to the rumored sales to Russia, but it is believed that negotiations will be completed and that a large block of Cuban sugar will eventually find its way to Russia.

No sales were reported in the No. 2 contract with closing prices 3 to 5 points lower at 3.14 for July, 3.19 for September and 3.29 for December. Closing prices for No. 1: July 1.16; September 1.28; December 1.37; January 1.38; March 1.46; May 1.53; July 1.60.

A continued good withdrawal demand was reported for refined sugar, and while refiners' prices were unchanged at 4.70, second-hand offerings are increasing at from 4.52½ to 4.55, with little demand.

xNew 1930 high.

BY DONALD C. BOLLES,
Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, July 11—(AP)—Prices of investment issues continued their upward climb in the listed bond market today, although some issues which have profited greatly from the demand this week failed to hold their gains. On the whole the advances and the activity were less than yesterday, the banner day since last march. Trading started at a brisk pace but slowed down during the afternoon.

The investment demand, however, continued for high-grade railroad, utility and foreign bonds, and the average for utility issues reached the highest point in three years. Stock privilege issues were hesitant after early strength and some recessions occurred as equity issues weakened. At the close convertible bonds were irregularly higher. Trading in United States government bonds was dull and lower prices were the rule.

Bank and institutional buying held prime corporation issues on their upward course, although some declines followed early gains. Atchison general 4s touched a new high and then sold off 1-4 in thin trading. Union Pacific refunding 4s, popular with banks and institutions, were strong rising to a new 1930 high on a 1 3-8 point gain. St. Louis-San Francisco, Pennsylvania and new central issues were steady. A large inquiry developed for Big Four 4 1-2s, Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis 4s and Southern Railway 4s.

A dozen or more rail issues established new high marks for the year. Among them were Chesapeake & Ohio 4 1-2s, several Burlington issues, Elgin, Joliet & Eastern 5s, the new Great Northern 4 1-2s, Illinois Central 5s, Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis 4s, New York Connecting Railway 5s and St. Louis Southwestern 5s.

The utilities as a group made the best showing of the day. American Telephone 5s, Brooklyn Union Gas 's, Laclede Gas Light 5 1-2s, and Public Service Electric and Gas 4 1-2s, were taken off the market at the highest prices of the year.

Foreign government issues were well bought, and British 5 1-2s, Canadian 5s, French 7s, Japan 5 1-2s, Norway 6s, sold at close to the highest levels of the year. Lautaro Nitrate warrant 6s soared 3 1-2 points on reports that the Chilean senate had app ved the nitrate combine.

Liberty 4th 4 1-4s were the most active United States government issue and was steady. Liberty 3 1-2s gained 1-8 of a point, while other issues eased in dull trading.

DEPOSITIONS BULGE STEEL FIGHT RECORD

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, July 11.—(AP)—Trial of the injunction suit to halt merger of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company with Bethlehem Steel Corporation settled to the dullness of deposition today before adjourning over the week-end.

Most of the depositions, read into the record by anti-merger attorneys representing the Cyrus S. Eaton interests, concerned the stock transactions which took place during the spring proxy battle over the merger and were presented in an effort to show that much of the stock was illegally voted at the stockholders' meeting April 8, this year.

It was at the April 8 meeting that sale of the Youngstown company to Bethlehem was approved by more than a two-thirds' majority. In addition to the ground that some of the stock was voted illegally, dissenting stockholders claim the officers of the Youngstown company concealed information that would have shown the merger to be unfair to Sheet & Tube on the basis of one and one-third Bethlehem stock to one Youngstown stock.

Plaintiffs in the suit are Myron C. Wick, Jr., Cleveland, and the International Share Corporation, as stockholders. The latter concern is controlled by Eaton. When court opens Monday the trial will be in its seventh day. Two witnesses have been on the stand. Chairman James A. Campbell, of the Youngstown company, and H. G. Dalton, Cleveland, who is a director in both Youngstown and Bethlehem and a partner of Pickands, Mather & Company, ore firm, which he testified holds valuable ore contracts with both steel companies.

The depositions are presented in support of the anti-merger group charge that stock was voted by persons not entitled to vote it. In the testimony preceding the depositions the plaintiffs sought to show that Dalton, in negotiating for the merger, was actuated by his interest in Pickands, Mather & Company, and that Campbell worked for the deal because he had been promised a "position of dignity" with Bethlehem. Both charges were denied by the witnesses.

Another point being scrutinized in the trial is the interest of the Bethlehem corporation, if any, in the purchase of Youngstown company stock. Dalton has testified Bethlehem loaned Pickands, Mather & Company $800,000 to replace money spent for the stock.

Those whose depositions were read are: Grayson M. P. Murphy, New York stockbroker; John Pennypacker, a junior partner in the Murphy firm; Samuel E. Boole, Cleveland, partner in Pickands, Mather & Company, and John Tod, vice president of the Youngstown company. The testimony contained in their affidavits was made public several months ago.

Movement Barely Keeps Ticker Tape in Action

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER,
Associated Press Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, July 11.—(AP)—Curb stocks worked irregularly lower today in another dull session of narrow and indecisive price movements.

Trading was again barely adequate to keep the ticker tape moving. Total sales aggregated 402,100 shares, or 73,400 less than yesterday's. The market opened firm, but began to ease later, in sympathy with the big board.

The only issues to show any great activity were Electric Bond and Share and Trans-America. Electric Bond sagged a point. Trans-America attracted a little better support than yesterday, but closed off a fraction.

In the utilities some of the natural gas stocks were well supported. The United Light A, American Light and Traction, Lone Star group worked a little higher. The last two closed about a point up. Electric Power Associates lost about 3 points, and Duke Power, a strong spot yesterday, lost its rise with an 8-point drop.

Holding company and investment trust shares were generally irregular. United Founders sold up a fraction in response to its semi-annual report, but failed to show any notable buoyancy, for the report showed an asset value only little more than a point above recent levels. The stock later eased, and closed off 1-8. Goldman-Sachs lost a point. Prince and Whitely and Taggart Corporation were firm.

Among the few copper shares on this market, Mayflower Associates, an investment trust with substantial South African mine holdings, lost about 4 points, perhaps in response to further weakness of copper metal. Oils were dull. Gulf lost a couple of points on announcement of another cut of 15 cents in Pennsylvania crude, then rallied to close off only a fraction. In the industrials and specialties, Deere and Anglo-Chilean lost 2 points, and Driver Harris jumped 8 in a small turnover.

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON.
Atlanta spot cotton closed steady, [30] points down, to 12.70. Receipts, 1; shipments, 229; stocks, [..]717.

NEW YORK, July 11.—(AP)—Aft[er] holding steady during the early [tra]ding on reports of continued dry weather in the south, cotton weak[en]ed under increased offerings which [ap]peared to be inspired by the weak[nes]s of wheat and reports of showers [at] a few points in Alabama.

After selling off to 12.95 early, new [Oc]tober contracts rallied to 13.00, but [bro]ke to 12.65 in the late trading [and] closed at 12.66. The general mar[ket] closed steady at net declines of [23] to 36 points.

The opening was steady at an ad[van]ce of 4 points to a decline of 2 [poi]nts. There was some selling on rela[tiv]ely easy Liverpool cables and unfa[vor]able statistical features, but it was [qu]ite steady later in the morning. The [fai]lure of the detailed weather reports [sh]owing maximum temperatures of 100 [de]grees or over at 129 stations scat[ter]ed over the belt, materially to stim[ula]te demand, was evidently a disap[poi]ntment to recent buyers.

This probably accounted for some [of] the afternoon selling, which was [ev]idently promoted by the declines in [wh]eat and the private reports of show[ers] at one or two places in Alabama. [Ju]ly sold off to 12.90 or 29 points [net] lower, while the old October con[tra]ct declined to 12.96 and the new [De]cember to 12.83. Closing prices [we]re within a point or two of the [lo]west.

The issuance of notices estimated about 3,000 bales, probably account[ed] for some of the early selling of [Ju]ly, while weakness in New Orleans [an]d New Orleans selling locally was [re]ported a factor on the later de[cli]ne in new crop months.

The standard cloth statistics for [Ju]ne which were published after the [clo]se of the market yesterday showed [an] increase of 3.5 per cent in stock on [ha]nd and a decrease of 19.4 per cent [in] unfilled orders for the month. These [fig]ures came in for some bearish com[me]nt early, while the report of the [Ne]w York Cotton Exchange service [pla]cing domestic consumption at 410,[00]0 bales for June against 570,000 last [yea]r may also have had some influ[en]ce.

Liverpool cables said that conti[ne]ntial buying and covering on the [ba]d weather reports had been supplied [by] realizing in that market. Exports [fo]r the day were 15,745 bales, making [1,]733,938 so far this season. Port [re]ceipts 1,404. United States port [sto]cks, 1,609,953.

[S]POTS DECLINE [A]T NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, July 11.—(AP)—[Th]e cotton market was quiet and fair[ly] steady considering the bearish sen[tim]ent prevailing among traders. Aft[er] opening 1 point up despite poor [Li]verpool cables and very unfavor[ab]le June textile statistics, the steadi[nes]s being due to high temperatures [an]d drouth in the belt, prices grad[ua]lly eased off owing to absence of [su]stained buying support. By mid[se]ssion active new crop months showed [lo]sses from the opening figures of 13 [to] 14 points.

The market became more active and [ea]sed off in the late trading on re[po]rts of good rains in Alabama and [ea]sier stocks. Prices dropped off to [ne]w lows, 37 to 38 points under the [op]ening and closed at or near bottom. [Th]e general market closed steady at [de]clines with net losses of 30 to 36 [po]ints.

Liverpool came in 3 points lower [th]an due, but the market here opened [ste]ady and 1 point higher, the steady [to]ne being due to drouth and heat. [Pr]ices soon eased off, however, and [at] the end of the first hour October [tra]ded down to 12.98 and December [to] 13.14, or 8 points under the open[ing] prices.

Despite a steady stock market and [co]ntinued very high temperatures, [pr]ices gradually eased off on poor [su]pport until after midsession, Oc[to]ber traded down to 12.93 and De[ce]mber to 13.08, or 13 to 14 points be[lo]w the opening figures. The Alabama [ra]ins caused a sharp drop in the late [tra]ding to 12.68 for October and 12.85 [for] December, down 37 to 38 points, [an]d the close was at or near the lows [at] net declines of 36 points on these [act]ive months.

Port receipts 1,395; for week 11,[..]7; for season 8,626,158; last sea[so]n 9,469,882. Exports 13,146; for [we]ek 32,987; for season 6,553,732; [las]t season 7,788,193. Port stocks [6]17,517; last year 674,468. Com[bi]ned shipboard stock at New Orleans, [Ga]lveston and Houston 38,538; last [yea]r 49,173. Spot sales at southern [ma]rkets 1,925; last year 4,152.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY,
Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, July 11.—(AP)—Minus signs were again in vogue on the stock market today.

Leading shares lost 1 to 4 points net as traders took profits on the three-day advance. The decline was accelerated by the weakness of wheat, for the July quotation dropped to a new low for the year at 85 3-8 cents. Cotton was heavy and closed $1.15 to $1.80 a bale lower.

The bond market was strong. Utilities joined the rails in the advance, although trading was slightly less active than yesterday.

Efforts to mark stocks up at the opening drew a limited following from commission house customers. A score or more of 1,000 to 3,000 share blocks changed hands in the first half hour at rising prices, but the list soon began to wobble and before noon was fluctuating uncertainly in dull trading.

During the early afternoon quotations shaded off and the market gradually turned heavy, closing at the lowest of the day. Nevertheless, the selling was listless and the total transactions amounted to just over 1,500,000 shares, one of the smallest turnovers of the year.

Wheat Is Influence.

The market was partially influenced by the movement of wheat, which was higher in the forenoon, only to break sharply later. July closed 2 cents lower, up a cent from the bottom, and the other months showed roughly the same net loss.

Reports of rains in parts of Canada and large receipts from the southwestern harvest fields figured in the bearishness. Corn, on the other hand, was steady, closing fractionally higher.

Call money eased, dropping to 2 per cent from the renewal rate of 2 1-2. Time funds were firm in a dull market and the current quotations are regarded as largely nominal. There was no change in the other forms of credit.

The week-end business reviews found that the first ten days of July had fulfilled earlier forecasts of the seasonal recession. Dun's commented on the results of the midyear inventories which reveal relatively moderate stocks of goods, "foreshadowing an ultimate resumption of buying on a large scale."

Bradstreet's said that except for the post-holiday rebound in steel operations and increased activity in the production of radio products by the leading interests, "industry has perceptibly slowed down for a longer than normal vacation period."

Export Copper Cut.

Copper for export was reduced, as expected, to 11.80 cents, bringing it in line with the domestic price of 11 1-2. What little bullish sentiment there was received some encouragement from the decrease in the rates of collateral borrowings to listed value of stock, but the effect of this improvement soon wore off as traders saw opportunities to take fairly fat profits on stocks bught at the bottom of the recent decline.

United States Steel crossed 160 before the reaction set in, but closed 2 points net lower at 157 3-4. A dozen important trading stocks, including General Motors, Standard Oil of New Jersey, General Electric, Du Pont, Woolworth, Auburn Auto, American Tobacco "B" and Houston Oil lost about a point. Norfolk & Western lost 4, Chesapeake & Ohio, Atchison and Brooklyn Union Gas 3 each and American Telephone, Public Service of New Jersey, Consolidated Gas, Westinghouse Electric, Sears-Roebuck and Air Reduction 2. American Gas sagged more than a point.

Foreign exchanges were irregular, featured by the firmness of the French franc and the weakness of the Spanish peseta. The latter broke about 20 points.

Indiana Firm's Employes Take Control of Stock

INDIANAPOLIS, July 11.—(AP)—In celebration of the 13th anniversary of a social industrial experiment in business management, employes of the Columbia Conserve Company today took over 51 per cent of the stock of this company which last year did $1,600,000 worth of business.

The 150 employes through their stock ownership were placed in position whereby they might discharge the company president, William P. Hapgood. The president said he would remain at the head of the company only so long as his workers desired.

The employes of the company, which manufactures soup, acquired the stock without paying for it. Accumulated profits were used to purchase the stock which was given outright to the employes.

Hapgood and his two brothers, Norman and Hutchins, inherited the plant in 1917. They made a contract with their employes as a group for purchase of the business by a retirement of the common stock from profits.

Under the contract a married man receives 50 per cent higher wages than a single man and he gets $2 a week more for each child up to the limit of three children.

A weekly council is held by the employes at which plant policies are discussed. A janitor may criticize a program proposed by the president and upon a vote of the workers the program may be rejected. An employe may only be discharged by a council of his co-workers.

The president is the father of Powers Hapgood, whose militant methods while a member of the United Mine Workers brought him into conflict with authorities in Pennsylvania. Norman Hapgood, brother of the president, is prominent in magazine editorial work.

EXPORT COPPER PRICE CUT TO 11.80 CENTS

NEW YORK, July 11.—(AP)—Copper Exporters, Inc., today reduced the export price of copper 1-2 cent to 11.80 cents a pound, c. i. f. European base ports.

The reduction was expected in the trade after producers yesterday cut the domestic price of the metal 1-2 cent to 11 1-2 cents delivered.

Cottonseed Oil.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The cotton seed oil market was quiet today and after a fair degree of steadiness early in the session developed an easier tone toward the close, reflecting the easiness in cotton and the abrupt reversal from strength to weakness in the grain markets.

A reported sale of 600,000 pounds of tallow at 5½c or ⅛c higher, had little influence. Old contracts closed at 25 points higher to 4 lower and new contracts 1 to 15 points lower. Sales were 2,500 barrels in the old contract and 150 barrels in the new. FENNER & BEANE.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Possibility of relief from heat and drouth in the near future, and poor trade reports encouraged selling of cotton Friday and values dropped $1.50 a bale.

Market held comparatively steady during early session owing to extreme heat in central and eastern states, coming on top of a long drouth, and any apprehension of serious damage before it is relieved.

Private reports received of hot winds in Mississippi, southern Alabama and east Georgia and of much shedding throughout that section.

The official record of the weather bureau showed highest temperatures with 27 stations central and eastern states showing temperatures of 100 to 110 and 54 stations showing from 104 to 110.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The cotton market after holding very steady during the morning with little price change sold off sharply in the late trading on private reports of rains in Alabama. Locals were heavy sellers. The selling was absorbed by outside and trade buying on a decline of 35 points. The market closed weak at the low for the day. The market remains narrow as the trade is reluctant to take a position with daily weather such a market factor. Map readers predict little relief in the hot and dry weather now prevalent over a large portion of the belt.

Liverpool futures are due tomorrow: July 7.16; October 6.86.

ORVIS BROS. & CO.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The action of the cotton market Friday was a distinct disappointment. After showing some improvement for the last few days, prices during the day declined materially and closed on the bottom.

Rains were reported in some sections where needed and these undoubtedly brought in some liquidation. However, reports from the belt generally are not optimistic, although at this time many report that the plant looks fine and will make excellent progress provided it receives necessary moisture within the next ten days.

Textile merchants' figures for June were a distinct disappointment, showing:

Sales to production 65.5 per cent; shipments to production 92 per cent; increase in stocks 3.5 per cent; decrease in unfilled orders 19.4 per cent.

October Liverpool due 6.86.

Stock Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

NEW YORK, July 11.—A noticeable reduction in trading volume in Friday's session again reflected reluctance to climb after stocks during a period when tangible constructive news developments are lacking. However, a most significant change within the market has occurred during the past few days. Ever since last fall, even during periods when the general market was advancing, special individual action has been almost uniformly in the nature of the singling out of weak situations and the concentration of selling pressure on these issues. During the past few days, there has been a reversal of this procedure, and special action has been of a constructive nature as evidenced by the persistent, if not too aggressive, accumulation in considerable volume of certain issues among which the more notable have been General Motors, National Power & Light, Radio-Keith, and Vanadium. In all of these a renewal of influential sponsorship has been rumored.

BEER & CO.

NEW YORK, July 11.—After three days of steady advance the market hesitated Friday and the averages showed a moderate decline. Further acute weakness in the commodity markets was no doubt partly responsible for the late selling but a mild reaction at this point is a natural development and does not seem to us anything to be disturbed about.

If stocks act as well tomorrow as they did today we would be inclined to think favorable of the prospects for next week. It is not to be expected that all issues will share in the improved price levels which we anticipate but we think the leaders and the well situated stocks will do so.

Among companies which are making a good record of earnings this year as compared with last year we can include United Fruit. Not only did the first half earnings run higher than for the same period of 1929 but the prospects for the second half appear to be even more favorable.

JACKSON BROS., BOESEL & CO.

NEW YORK, July 11.—We view the immediate future of the stock market as subject to continued irregularities, but do not believe that recent low levels will be rached during periods when reactionary tendencies prevail. From now on we will hear much less talk of the possibility that the industrial averages will break through the lows of last November, and we look for important buying on moderate setbacks.

A disconcerting influence which came unexpectedly Friday was the selling wave in wheat which carried prices down to new low levels since before the war. This development was naturally reflected in the stock market, and coming at a time when important interests had felt that commodity prices had become stabilized, it is likely to influence further selling. So long as the commodity situation remains unsettled, we see no reason to expect any important upturn in the stock market, particularly as the course of business depends so largely on whether commodities have reached a stabilization point.

COURTS & CO.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The market encountered resistance levels Friday and promptly subsided. The majority of the list of leaders which we gave in Thursday's letter found it impossible to break through the prices indicated. The reaction in itself was not important, the industrial averages losing only 2½ points of the 9 points gained since Monday. The temporarily discouraging aspect of Friday's setback was that it came just as the market appeared on the verge of breaking through previously established resistance levels, something it has not been able to do at critical points for three months.

The more encouraging features of Friday's hesitation included the immediate decline in volume of trading and the fact that the recession was moderate in the face of discouraging news. Wheat prices dipped under 86 cents for the July delivery, closing at 86½ cents, the lowest closing price in 16 years. The publication of six months' building figures for the borough of Manhattan, showing that total construction work was 80 per cent less than for the first six months in 1929, unpleasantly emphasized the difference between 1930 and a year ago.

Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Cotton goods were firmer today, with sales moderate. Burlaps were unchanged on a low basis and spot sales were light. Further openings of lines of tropical suitings are not expected until later in the month. Silk continued low, and sellers are beginning to show more anxiety. Fall silk trade is developing slowly.

35,127,398 Autos Now Operate in World

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(AP)—A world census of automobiles announced today by the commerce department fixed total passenger cars, trucks and busses in operation on January 1 last at 35,127,398, or about one for every 55 human beings.

The total was 9 per cent greater than the number in operation one year previous, while the United States, in which 26,653,450 of the machines were registered, had three times as many as all the rest of the world put together.

For this country, the proportion of cars was one to every 4.5 persons. Canada and New Zealand furnished the cloest approach to this standard, having a car for every eight persons, while Austria was in fourth place with a car for every ten, and the tiny principality of Monaco, where the roulette wheel is the base of the most noted industry, had one for every 16.

Profit-Taking To Realize on Stock Market's Gains in Its Three-Days-in-Row Upturn Appeared Friday and Prices Turned Lower—Consumers Buying Pig Iron From Hand to Mouth.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The week-end profit-taking developed in the stock market during the early trading following three days of advancing prices, the longest recovery since violent liquidation was resumed several weeks ago. On the decline the volume dropped off until the market came to a dead halt, after which prices held firm and then recovered.

Early news encouraged professional traders still bearish on the stock market to sell short.

Another cut of 15 cents a barrel was announced in the selling price of Pennsylvania crude oil. San Francisco cut gasoline retail prices to 8 cents a gallon, including 3 cents state tax. Owens Illinois Glass Company reduced its annual dividend on its common stock from $4 to $3 to conserve cash. White Sewing Machine Company, of Cleveland, passed its quarterly dividend of $1 on the preference stock to conserve cash.

Officials of White Sewing Machine explained that business was off and that in recent month there had been large repossessions with collections poor. Other companies selling their products on the instalment plan have passed or reduced dividends recently for the same reasons given by the management of White Sewing Machine.

Export copper prices were reduced to conform to the further drop in domestic copper prices to 11 1-2 cents. Predictions were made here today that within the next 10 days domestic copper would go to 11 cents or lower.

The monthly copper statistics are expected by Wall Street tomorrow or Monday. In view of the further decline in copper selling prices Wall Street is not as confident as it was a few days ago that the June figures will show a decline in the inventories of producers. There has been a steady upward trend in these inventories for the past year. The first drop in a year was expected for June.

Pig Iron Output Sags.

Pig iron production, for generations considered one of the best barometers of general trade, amounted to 97,000 tons a day for June. This compares with a daily average of 104,000 for May and 123,000 for June of last year. For the first half of 1930 production amounted to 18,261,000 tons against 21,640,000 for the first six months of 1929, a decrease of 15 per cent.

Manufacturers of pig iron report consumers continuing to buy from hand to mouth. It is added that supplies in the hands of consumers are the smallest in years with the price the lowest in years.

Wall Street people who expect the price recovery in the stock market starting last Tuesday to go further are not discouraged over today's setback. In such quarters it was pointed out that with sentiment as pessimistic as it has been a sustained recovery in the stock market could not be expected.

Those who expect the recovery starting in the stock market last Tuesday to be resumed point to the liquidated position of the stock market as reflected in the monthly figures of the stock exchange giving the ratio of brokers' loans to the market value of all listed shares on July 1 at 5.83 per cent. This is the lowest figure reported since the monthly statements first began to be published early in 1926. The high for all time was 10.23 on March 1, 1926, just before there was a nose dive of 30 points in the average price of 50 representative stocks caused by uneasiness over mounting brokers' loans. The 5.83 per cent just reported as of July 1, 1930, compares with 6.33 on June 1 of this year, with 9.15 on July 1, 1929, and with the 1929 high of 9.82 made on October 1. The low for 1926 was 8.14 following the March break in prices. The low for 1927 was 8.10. For 1928, 8.86. For 1929, 6.32, at the close of December.

Small Average Gain.

A decline of $11,126,528,000 or 14.8 per cent occurred in the open market value of all stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange from the opening to the closing day of June, according to the figures just made public. This enormous shrinkage occurred despite the fact that there was a recovery from the low for the month touched on June 25. On the opening day of June all listed shares had a market value of $75,018,000,000, using only round figures against the value of $63,892,000,000 on the closing day of the month, although 10,000,000 new shares were listed.

Even before stock market sentiment began to improve around the middle of this week some people were found in Wall Street who believed that pessimism had gone far ahead of actual business conditions and that by Thanksgiving the average price of 50 representative stocks would be back to the June 1 level. If such expectations are realized considerable ground will have to be covered as indicated in the foregoing paragraph. Expressed in another way the average price of 50 representative stocks, half rails and half industrials, on the opening day of June was 229.18 made up of 123.50 for rails and 334.86 for industrials. On June 25 the average for 50 stocks was 179.12 made up of 105.21 for rails and 253.04 for industrials. That was a drop of 50.06 points in the average for 50 stocks made up of a decline of 18.29 points for rails and 81.82 for industrials. Outside of the panic months of October and November of last year the decline that occurred last month is outstanding in the monthly records of the stock exchange.

From the low of June 25 up to the opening today there was a recovery of 15.76 points in the average for 50 stocks made up of an advance of 8.75 points for rails and 22.77 for industrials. That is a substantial recovery; but if the prices at the opening of June are to be recovered by Thanksgiving there must be a further advance of 25.30 points in the average price with rails up 9.54 points and industrials up 59.05. The June 1 level was far below the 1930 high of 245.60 on April 10, made up of 36 for rails and 358.16 for industrials.

General Business Retaining Apathy

NEW YORK, July 11.—(AP)—Dun's tomorrow will say: With demands continuing mainly restricted and price declines still predominating, the essential characteristics of the general business situation are unaltered. No significant change at the turn of the half year had seemed likely, however, and the chief interest at present centers in the prospects for the period beyond the summer. The movements of recent months have not conformed with the optimistic views held in some quarters, the scope of the readjustment being wider than had been commonly anticipated, and there is more of a disposition now to appraise conditions with clearer recognition of the actual facts. Confidence in the longer outlook is supported by the operation of forces which are strengthening the basic structure, and prominent among these is the persistent trend toward a closer alignment between production and consumption. As results of semi-annual inventories are more fully disclosed, an encouraging point is found in the relatively moderate stocks of goods in different instances, and the more favorable position of supplies is regarded as foreshadowing an ultimate resumption of buying on a large scale. Weekly bank clearings $8,201,854,000, a decline of 38.4 per cent from a year ago.

Midland Natural Gas Leases 23,000 Acres

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 11.—(AP)—Purchase of oil and gas leases to more than 23,000 acres of land in southwestern Pennsylvania, West Virginia and eastern Kentucky by the Midland Natural Gas Company for in excess of $2,000,000 was announced today by John Eoghan Kelly, vice president of the company.

The same company, which is controlled by interests affiliated with E. R. Diggs & Co., New York investment bankers, last May purchased 16,000 acres of oil and gas property in northern West Virginia and southwestern Pennsylvania. The consideration in that deal was $2,000,000.

Wilson Family Holds Reunion Here Tuesday

Religious services, speeches and an old-fashioned Georgia picnic, will feature the annual reunion of the Wilson family of north Georgia to be held in Grant park Tuesday with B. T. BRIDE OF TWO WEEKS KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Husband Critically Injured as Auto Plunges Off Bremen Highway.

CARROLLTON, Ga., July 11.—(AP) The body of Mrs. J. B. Keating, bride of less than two weeks, and victim of an automobile accident, was sent to Atlanta Friday while doctors worked to save the life of her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Keating had been visiting in Atlanta. They left early Thursday night for Talladega, Ala., and got on the wrong road. Their automobile left the highway on a curve, crashed through the railing of a Central of Georgia railway bridge and plunged 30 feet to the tracks.

Mrs. Keating was killed instantly. Her husband was brought to a hospital here and doctors said today his condition was critical.

Mr. and Mrs. Keating formerly lived in Atlanta and each still has relatives there. They left Georgia several years ago and Mrs. Keating lived in Philadelphia 10 years before she married Keating there July 3. They came south on their honeymoon.

They stayed three days in Atlanta and left for Talladega. Some of Mrs. Keating's relatives in Atlanta were away on a vacation, and others had not been reached when the body was sent there.

U. S. AGENT INSPECTS SOUTH GEORGIA SOIL

VALDOSTA, Ga., July 11.—South Georgia forces have been for some time negotiating with federal agencies for some co-operation with south Georgia producers in vegetable growing, marketing and canning.

The negotiations have resulted in an agent being sent into this section to make a personal inspection of soil, crops and general conditions, with a view of considering the matter in a more definite manner.

Facts which are undisputable show that the majority of vegetable crops grown in this section are far superior to those of a quicker growth, and when marketed will take precedence over others. In this respect the growers need assistance in setting up a marketing system that will stand alone. It is pointed out that by further strengthening the business with canning and preserving facilities, the whole crop can be conserved and disposed of at a profit to the growers.

The agent now operating through this section is working very quietly and is assembling a considerable amount of very valuable data which may be the means of bringing about a wonderful change in the condition of production of this section.

SCHOLARSHIP GIVEN INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

MACON, Ga., July 11.—(AP)—Announcement of a $2,000 perpetual scholarship for Tallulah Falls Industrial School for Mountain Children, the gift of three Georgia women in memory of their parents and grandparents, was made here Friday by Mrs. Walter D. Lamar, vice president of the board of trustees.

The scholarship, which will be known as the Mary and Columbus Downing memorial, will provide annually for the tuition and maintenance of a boy student at the school in the mountains. It is given by Mrs. Ethel Downing Nightingale, of Brunswick; Miss Marjorie Nightingale, of Brunswick, and Mrs. Madeline Downing Knight, now of Jacksonville, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Downing, in whose memory the scholarship is given, lived in Brunswick. Mrs. Nightingale and Mrs. Knight are their daughters, while Miss Nightingale is a granddaughter. In providing the scholarship they are following the lead of the Macon club and others which have made similar gifts to the benefit of Georgia's mountain population.

The board of trustees, a self-perpetuating body, invests the money in such a way that it will provide a scholarship as long as the school is maintained, it is stated.

RECORD MARKETING SEEN FOR TOBACCO

WAYCROSS, Ga., July 11.—Preparations are being made in Waycross for the opening of the tobacco marketing season on Tuesday, July 29, and owners of two large warehouses in this city, after careful surveys of the producing territory, predict a record-breaking season.

The tobacco stand in Ware and surrounding counties has been particularly good, the quality of the leaf is pronounced as good, and farmers are using their increased knowledge of curing methods to a fine advantage in preparing the leaf for market.

The Waycross Tobacco Warehouse, owned by the firm of Crabtree and Barron, Owensboro, Ky., will be operated and managed by the owners, W. G. Crabtree, president, and William Barron, vice president, while the Farmers' Warehouse, owned by a stock company of south Georgia businessmen and farmers, will be operated by R. M. Callis and L. C. Pruitt, lessees.

Two of the best auctioneers on the south Georgia market will conduct sales at the two Waycross houses. Ben Saunders gets the assignment at the Farmers' Warehouse, and Dick Thompson will be the sing-song man at the Waycross warehouse.

The owners of the Waycross Warehouse announced today their entire staff of workers for the selling season. While Auctioneer Thompson is "knocking off" the piles on the floor, R. E. Lyddane and Eldred Crabtree will issue checks to growers and superintend the office operations. Mose Woodson and Frank Lowe will be calculators, Albert Kamuff and Gene Atherton will be floor managers and Henry Simmons will be ticket marker.

Supporting Auctioneer Ben Saunders at the Farmers' Warehouse will be an office force composed of V. W. Gates, W. J. Dugger, J. A. Maitland and Dick Hamlet.

The management of the two houses is the same as last season and a majority of the employes of both houses have served on the Waycros market in past years.

Conditions are favorable for the best selling season since a market was created in Waycross, one of the principal attractions of the market being the unexcelled system of paved highways leading into this city from every section of the producing area.

Both warehouses have been placed in prime condition, and every convenience will be offered the growers.

Owners of the plant did not estimate the damage.

MACHINERY PREDICTED FOR GEORGIA CROPS

J. P. Campbell Says Farmers Will Be Forced To Abandon Work by Hand.

ALBANY, Ga., July 11.—(AP)—Georgia commercial secretaries Friday heard the forecast that cultivated crops in north Georgia must certainly give way before the advance of farm machinery, which was described as unsuited to the small farms of the northern portions of the state.

Abandonment of cultivated crops in north Georgia as a result of increasing use of farm machinery was forecast by J. Phil Campbell, of the state college of agriculture. South Georgia farmers will eventually be forced to almost complete machine cultivation of their crops, in order to compete with the west, Mr. Campbell said, but these methods are not suited to small farms in northern portions of the state, and farmers there must sooner or later turn to truck farming, dairying and livestock raising. Much land that is now in cultivation must be given up and allowed to grow up in pine forests, he said.

In the course of his response to the address of welcome, J. Ralston Cargill, secretary of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, presented the subject of planning for observance of Georgia's bicentenary in 1933. His suggestion contemplates later consideration by various Chambers of Commerce and if approved it would be handled by a commission or other organization. Mr. Cargill's suggestion looks toward promotion of best interests of Georgia which may be aided by advertising on a national scale and by representation in New York and Chicago of the onward Georgia movement.

W. H. Foster, of Rome, suggested Chamber of Commerce programs that allow all members participation in civic movements, as a method to hold Chamber of Commerce membership. This would depart from the present method of delegating activities to groups.

Peter V. Rice, of Elberton, explained methods successful in building membership in Chambers of Commerce in small cities.

RAIN, WINDSTORM SWEEPS BAINBRIDGE

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., July 11.—The terrific wave of heat here was climaxed this afternoon by a heavy rain and windstorm. The city is without lights and the telephone service off due to lines down throughout the town. Century-old oaks are broken and topped, causing live wires in many sections of the city.

While there was considerable lightning and rain crop damage is thought probable, definite reports from sections are not available. Western Union and other business places are candle-lighted.

MERCURY FALLS AT SAVANNAH.

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 11.—(AP)—The rain, slight though it was, that fell here this afternoon at 3:20 o'clock dropped the thermometer from 98.5 degrees to 82 degrees in half an hour.

The weather bureau, after checking up its figures today, found that last night's temperature gave the hottest night in 33 years. It was 91 at 8 p. m., yesterday and 85 at midnight, and today's minimum was 80.3 at 8 a. m. It is seldom that such a high condition exists during the night here. However, today was the hottest day of the summer. No prostrations were reported at any hospitals, white or negro.

MACON, Ga., July 11.—(AP)—The Bibb county grand jury Friday indicted Jesse Harris, attorney, who was chairman of the citizens' committee during the campaign for Macon's $1,000,000 bond issue last March, on nine charges of illegal voting in the election.

The indictment alleged Harris "encouraged, advised, counseled and commanded" six Macon persons to cast illegal votes and that he entered into a general scheme and conspiracy with persons whose names are unknown to the grand jury to have illegal ballots deposited in the official ballot boxes."

Harris "counseled and commanded" J. M. Mitchall, David Macon, E. L. Vann, "Big Boy" Grace, Mrs. Paul Stallworth and Roy Graham to vote illegally, the indictment charged.

The six were indicted Wednesday and are held under bonds.

WITNESS COLLAPSES FROM HEAT.

MACON, Ga., July 11.—(AP)—A few minutes before she was to have been called into the grand jury room as a witness in the bond election probe, Miss Alma Hawthorne collapsed from heat and was taken home.

Miss Hawthorne is the first to be prostrated by the present heat wave here, although several persons were overcome during the high temperatures 10 days ago.

COMMUNIST VENTURE APPROACHING CRISIS

ATHENS, Ga., July 11.—(AP)—The great venture of communism in Russia is approaching a crisis and its success depends on the small communist party's ability to control the peasants, Dr. Paul Monroe, director of the school of education at Columbia University, told the Institute of Public Affairs here Friday.

The 180,000,000 inhabitants of Russia are distributed over an area almost twice as big as the United States and are controlled by about 1,600,000 members of the communist party, he said. And the party, he explained, is controlled by Stalin.

"There has been two splits in the communist ranks," he said. "The left wing, led by Trotsky, favored an attempt to communize the world and was opposed by Stalin, secretary of the party and its absolute dictator.

"The 25,000,000 peasants agreed with Trotsky, but Stalin won and Trotsky and his followers were driven from the party.

"Then Stalin reversed his stand and ordered efforts to enlist the peasants into the party. The right wing, the conservatives, disagreed with him.

"The success or failure of the regime now depends on whether Stalin will be able to handle the peasants and farmers."

WATERMELON GROWERS AGAIN STOP SHIPPING

ADEL, Ga., July 11.—For the second time this season the watermelon market has become so demoralized as to cause Sowega Melon Growers' Association here to discontinue shipping.

Heavy shipments have been moving from Georgia, Florida, South Carolina and five other states, but the quality of shipments caused by excessive heat and sunburn has probably had more to do with the lack of demand than anything else. It has caused the cash track buyers to virtually quit buying and independent growers have been forced to consign their shipments.

The association management believes the suspension of shipments for a few days will enable the markets to clean up and when shipments are resumed a more satisfactory price will be obtained.

LOADINGS NEAR STANDSTILL AT VALDOSTA.

VALDOSTA, Ga., July 11.—Watermelon loadings were almost at a standstill Friday, practically all melons of a saleable class having been moved from the Valdosta territory. In some directions loadings were quite lively yesterday, with prices ranging from $30 to $75 the car.

Railroads Friday had very few orders to place cars for loading, and expect even less for Saturday. Sales Friday were at about the prices which prevailed during Thursday. The majority of the buyers making their headquarters in Valdosta have closed their offices and moved higher up the state.

The Sowega Association officers report it will take about three weeks to clear up all its territory. The association states that its prices for the whole season have shown an excess over those paid to growers by independent buyers.

No Mourning Apparent At Doyle's Funeral

WINDLESHAM, England, July 11.—(AP)—A wife's tribute to her dead husband and an explanation of her family's attitude toward death constituted the funeral oration read today over the body of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle in the garden of his Sussex home where many of his Sherlock Holmes tales were penned.

A blazing sun beat down upon the garden and on the deep red roses strewn over the coffin and pelted the little group of mourners who in accordance with their spiritualistic belief displayed no outward trappings of woe while the Rev. Dr. C. Drayton Thomas stood by the grave and read Lady Doyle's testimony of affection and faith.

"Sir Arthur will continue his work for the spreading of the great cause which soothes the anguished heart and which is destined to change the whole outlook of human affairs," so read the commitment.

"God bless him for his beautiful and unselfish life, for his courage and fearlessness, for his never failing championship of those suffering under injustice and for the help he gave to those who were in sorrow.

Dennis Conan Doyle, eldest son, was kept from the funeral by illness, but Lady Doyle, her two daughters and son, Adrian, were present. The Rev. Dr. C. C. Angell, the novelist's brother-in-law, assisted Dr. Thomas. Sir Gilbert Parker, Authors' Club chairman, and several others motored from London to honor their departed friend.

Love Shooting Victim Succumbs to Wound

PATERSON, N. J., July 11.—(AP) Roderick Meakle, 28-year-old violinist, whom detectives charged with the murder of Jennie Brauer, 22, in a death pact, died this afternoon.

Meakle had been in a hospital, a bullet hole in his head, since early last Sunday, when he was found staggering through the underbrush near Echo lake close by the car where the girl's body was found.

Police alleged Meakle killed the girl and then shot himself.

An investigation revealed Meakle was married and that his wife had refused to give him up for Miss Brauer. Miss Brauer won honors in Germany, her native country, as a swimmer.

Meakle had spoken only twice at the hospital since he was brought there. He became conscious for a moment yesterday, opened his eyes and said, "Tomorrow, I am going to see my father and mother." A few days ago, while semi-conscious, he was overheard to mutter, "She made me do it."

EGRET'S SAD STORY.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

The way to make a sorrow last
—Mother West Wind.

Egret the White Heron was making his first visit to the Smiling Pool. He had told Peter Rabbit and Jerry Muskrat that this was his first visit to the north, but that once upon a time, so he had heard, his family used to come north regularly. That sounded to Peter Rabbit like a story, and you know Peter Rabbit dearly loves stories.

"If you please," said Peter, "why did your family give up coming north?"

"If you please," said Peter, "why did your family give up coming north?"

Egret looked very serious. His eyes became rather sad looking. "Do you ever see any of those two-legged creatures called Men?" he asked.

"Of course," said Peter.

"Of course," said Jerry Muskrat.

"Then you have seen the reason that my family gave up coming north," explained Egret.

"You mean that those two-legged creatures hunted the members of your family with terrible guns, don't you?" said Peter.

Egret nodded. "That's it," said he.

This time Egret shook his head. "No," said he, "not that I know of. They hunt us for something else. Do you see these fine feathers on my back?"

Both Peter and Jerry nodded. "We were talking about them," said Jerry. "Never have we seen any feathers like them."

"They are beautiful," said Egret, "but they very nearly put an end to my family. Yes, sir, they very nearly put an end to my family. When I think of it, it is a wonder to me that a single Egret is alive now. It was for their beautiful feathers that the Egrets were hunted by those two-legged creatures with terrible guns. They wanted our beautiful feathers. Those were terrible times, terrible times! They were before my day, but I've been told about them and I can't bear to think of them. When I think of the thousands and thousands of young Egrets that starved to death in their nests, it is a wonder to me that a single Egret is alive today."

Peter Rabbit looked to Jerry Muskrat, and Jerry looked at Peter, and in the eyes of both was a puzzled expression. "What made them starve to death?" said Peter after a while.

"The two-legged creatures with terrible guns that wanted the feathers of the fathers and mothers," explained Egret. "You see, it is only in the nesting season that we have these beautiful feathers, which are called plumes. So the hunters would wait until the nesting season. Then they would seek out the nests and shoot the old birds as they brought food to their young. Then, of course, the young would starve to death. Oh, it was terrible, terrible! So the Egrets stopped coming north because there were only a few of them left. They sought out the most difficult places in the far south wherein to build their homes; but even there the feather hunters followed them. Finally, when there were only a few left, the hunters stopped coming."

Of course, Egret didn't know it, but the reason the hunting stopped was because those who loved the birds secured the passage of a law protecting the herons and forbidding the wearing of their wonderful plumes. It was true, as Egret had said, that only a few of his family were left; so few, indeed, that for a time it was feared that there would soon be no more Egrets left.

PITTSBURGH IS FLOODED BY BROKEN WATER PIPE

PITTSBURGH, July 11—(AP)—The bursting of a 36-inch water main sent torrents of water, at times more than three feet deep, roaring through streets of the northside district early today. The basements of more than 400 homes were flooded, and in some instances the water reached the first floors of the buildings.

The waters tore a hole two feet square in the pavement at Voskamp and Basin streets as the pipe burst, and then spread over an area of 10 blocks.

Veazy Rainwater and Dave Black Meet for State Title; Andy Messenger Hurls Great Game as Crackers Win, 10-1; Bobby Jones Hits Trouble as Smith Strokes Way to Lead

INTERLACHEN COUNTRY CLUB, July 11.—Not only is the old guard making a most determined effort to head Bobby Jones but no end of confidence pervades their ranks.

Bob Harlow, who manages Walter Hagen, Horton Smith and several other pros, posted $2,000 even money that either Hagen or Smith beats Bobby. The amount has been covered.

Harlow walked 36 holes in the sun both days. Owing to difference in starting times he could follow Smith then pick up Hagen. In trailing his boys to see how his $2,000 was going, Harlow already has played 72 holes.

LIGHT-FINGERED GENTRY BUSY.

Pickpockets relieved 25 or 30 people of their folding money here during the excitement of the early rounds. While great golfers vainly tried to sink putts for buzzard fives, the long-fingered boys made holdups in one without great effort.

It was worked this way. One large red-faced man was divorced from his new bills early in the day. He complained promptly. The announcer addressed the crowd surrounding the 18th green and warned them to be careful with their money. At once every man felt for his wallet and kept reaching for it every so often for the rest of the day. That gave the dips the exact location of every bit of spending money on the course. Business from then on was simple—people came here from great distances all over the northwest to see the big men of golf at work.

"I rode all night to get here and am going right back home tonight," he said. "I could get but one day off from work, so I picked out Friday as the best day. Say, I wouldn't take a lot of money for the experience.

"I saw Bobby Jones nearly all the way around and then watched Hagen, Diegel, Horton Smith, Tommy Armour, Gene Sarazen, and I don't know how many more play several holes."

In a few minutes we passed another neighboring golf course where a foursome was toiling along.

"Just look at them fellows," he declared contemptuously, "playing golf themselves when they could be watching the greatest men in the game for a few dollars. How do they get that way?"

JOCK LIKES GREENS.

Someone asked Jock Hutchinson what he thought of the greens. "I never found a finer lot of three-putt greens anywhere," he replied.

PROS TEAR UP COURSE.

Professionals as a rule take up great chunks of turf with their approach shots. The destructive effect of one open championship on a golf course greatly exceeds that of a month's play by club members. Interlachen fairways already are pock-marked and by Saturday night will be wrecked. It will take much time and money to restore them to their original state of excellence.

GALLERIES, LARGE AND SMALL.

Thousands follow Bobby Jones as he plays. Hundreds form behind Hagen, Horton Smith, MacDonald Smith, Sarazen, Cooper, Farrell or anyone else who happens to be going strong.

Still others in the field play quietly along with a gallery composed of two caddies, one official scorer and two wives. And if only one of the pros in a given pair is married, the little figure in a sport dress gamely plugging along is at once inspiring and pitiful.

It has been no weather for a frail girl to trudge 18 holes.

WALKING TOMBSTONES.

Smart gallerites have discovered that the hilltop on which the 12th green is located affords a grand view of the course, with shade and no walking involved.

From it one may see with aid of field glasses all the play from tee to green on twelve, thirteen, fourteen, sixteen and seventeen. Play on the eleventh green and from the fifteenth tee also is visible. The hill was populated Thursday and absolutely packed Friday.

And in moments of relaxation a fine view of the first nine holes located across the road is afforded. Groups of white-shirted people move about far away under the trees. It looks like—well, imagine a distant view of a well groomed cemetery in which all the white tombstones were walking about.

TWO ATLANTANS ENTER FINALS AT EAST LAKE

By Roy White.

An Atlanta golfer will wear the 1930 Georgia state amateur crown for Veazy Rainwter, Sr., member of the Druid Hills Golf Club, and Dave Black, well-known Capital City golfer, will fight it out over 36 holes today on the East Lake course in the finals of the thirteenth annual tournament.

Rainwater defeated Julius Hughes, a fellow club member, 1 up on the 20th green by sinking a 30-foot putt in the semi-final match of the upper bracket. Black eliminated Dean Smith, popular young Savannah golfer, 3-2, in a match chuck full of consistent, steady golf.

In the quarter-final matches Friday morning, Rainwater defeated Berrien Moore, Jr., East Lake golfer, 1 up, in a steady, close match. Moore was two down at the 13th hole but rallied to square the match on the 17th green. He lost on the 18th. Dean Smith defeated L. R. Hunter, 3-1, in the quarter-finals.

Lee Fowler and Gene Cook, two East Lake favorites, were eliminated Friday morning. Fowler, after being two up on Hughes at the turn, fell before some brilliant golf on the back nine. Gene Cook was two up on Dave Black in the morning round but the Capital City golfer kept up his steady plugging that has characterized his play throughout and won out, 2 up, on the back nine.

CONSISTENT GOLF.

For steady, consistent golf this tournament has produced more than any other state tourney. There were three players who tied for medal honors and those were in the semi-finals Friday afternoon. Dean Smith, Dave Black and Julius Hughes were tied with 75 each. Seldom ever has a medalist in the state tournament won his way to the final round. Rainwater won his way to the finals in 1920 and 1922.

This is the first time in nine years that Druid Hills has been represented in the finals of the state tournament and the fourth time in 13 years that Capital City has been represented. It is the fourth time that the name of Black has been recorded in the finals. Charlie, Dave's brother, lost in 1922 and 1923 and won the title in 1928.

In the semi-final round Black had a medal score of 67 for 16 holes. On the first nine he had a 36, which equalled par and had four three-putt greens and an eagle three on number five. Dean Smith had a birdie four. Smith had a medal round of 39 for the first nine and equalled Black's 31 for the seven holes on the back side.

BOTH UNSTEADY.

In the Hughes-Rainwater match both players were unsteady. Rainwater had a 40 and Hughes a 39 on the first nine, where Hughes was one up. The match was squared on the 11th green and remained even until the 14th when Rainwater went into the lead. Hughes came back to win the 15th and square the match. Hughes won 16th and Rainwater squared the match on the 18th green. The 19th hole was halved as Rainwater made a fine recovery from the rough on his second shot. On the 20th both players were in the trap. Both overran the cup and Rainwater sank the 30-foot putt to win.

All other final matches in the various flights will be only 18 holes and will be played in the morning.

Scott Puts Open On Air Today

Broadcast of the national open golf tournament direct from the playing field, will be given golf fans of the city today through WGST through the courtesy of Trammell Scott Company. The broadcast will come from an announcer on the field, the first time this has ever been done. CAGLE ACCEPTS POST AS COACH

JACKSON, Miss., July 11.—(AP)—Christian Keener Cagle, former West Point football captain, has accepted the position as assistant football coach at Mississippi A. & M. College.

Cagle wired as follows:

"I accept the position and thank the board of trustees, you, Dr. Alker (retiring president), alumni and clubs for hearty support and the student body for enthusiastic approval to which you refer. Will report as per agreement about September 1."

Maureen Orcutt, Miss Hicks Meet

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 11.—(AP) Either Miss Helen Hicks, of Inwood Country Club, or Miss Maureen Orcutt, of Lido Country Club, tomorrow night will wear the championship toga of the New York state women golfers.

TILDEN NEARING ANOTHER TITLE

NOORDWIJK-AAN-ZEE, Holland, July 11.—(AP)—Bill Tilden entered the semi-finals of the Dutch tennis championship today to the tune of his third love set victory in as many days. This time his luckless victim was Van Der Feen, of Holland, who, like two of his countrymen before him, was unable to take a game from the American champion in three sets.

The other semi-finalists in singles are Daniel Prenn, Germany; Hans Tomer, Holland, and Roderich Menzel, Czecho-Slovakia.

In the semi-finals Tilden and Prenn defeated Menzel and Koopman, 6-2, 6-0, 6-0. Their opponents for the title will be Timmer and Didmer Kool, of Holland.

No Tournaments Are Slated Today

With local golfing interests centered in Minneapolis where Bobby Jones is playing in the national open championship and others keenly interested in the 13th annual Georgia state tournament being played on the East Lake course, no local tournaments are on slate for this afternoon.

Bunny Hearn Joins Cracker Box Staff

Bunny Hearn, the Cracker left hander purchased from Baltimore, arrived late Friday afternoon and reported at the Cracker park. He will be in uniform today. Johnny Dobbs must release a man to make room for Hearn. It is possible that the release will not be made until Tuesday as the Crackers have an off-day Monday but Dobbs said that he might make a decision today. Hearn won four out of five games with New Haven and three games with Baltimore. He is little but very loud in his box work.

By Ralph McGill.

This Amos and Andy business reached a crisis at Spiller field Friday afternoon when Andy Messenger took the Crackers on a 10-to-1 taxi ride over Jack (Amos) Knight, of the Lookouts, which brought the club right into the first division again.

Sho! Sho! He did now. He taxied to an easy victory, allowing but four hits and that one run. His mates, led by Roy Carlyle and several others, rendered yeoman aid, slamming out 21 base hits, of which one was a home run and four were doubles.

It was just a few weeks ago that Andy Messenger and Jack (Amos) Knight were as inseparable friends on the Cracker squad as the Amos and Andy of the air. Then came a trade which sent Amos to the Lookouts.

He had done more than passing well as a Lookout, causing the fans of that city to chortle, yes, chortle, at what was an apparent lapse in John Dobbs' shrewd use of his wits. The Crackers went out and smote him hip and thigh, giving him a most magnificent drubbing.

SHAGGY SUPPORT.

This Amos and Andy blackface business no doubt seemed very real to Amos Knight. Things looked black for him all afternoon. His support was very, very dark. Four errors were made behind him during the afternoon and each one left him bleeding.

Still he would not have won had his support been sterling. Because Andy Messenger, who started pitching baseball as was his wont in 1920, when he beat the Lookouts last Saturday, was right again.

Last Saturday saw him give up but three hits and no runs against the Lookouts. In two games he has given them but seven hits and one run. Which would indicate that he is a shooting pain in the neck to the Lookouts, and he is.

ONE MAN ON.

And from that time until two were gone in the ninth not a Lookout set foot on first base. Red Russell singled in the ninth, but Gooch left him stranded.

The game saw Cotton Knaupp reverse himself twice in the second inning on one play, which reverses had Raw Meat Bill Podgers very, very wild. The Lookout manager appeared to be on the verge of a heat stroke when Cotton Knaupp pulled Jimmy Horn back from first base after having changed his mind and decided that the ball did not hit him after all. Before that he had decided that it did not, and again that it did.

A VERY HOT PERSON.

A thermometer held close to Bill Rodgers would have boiled and bubbled around the top. His face shone like a plowhand's who is busting middles in July with the corn head high and no wind blowing.

UPSETS MARK CUP NET PLAY

Japan, Italy Split First Day's Play on Courts.

GENOA, Italy, July 11.—(AP)—Italy's ambidextrous tennis star, Georgio Destefani, came through with an unexpected victory against Japan today, but his countryman, Baron Humbert Demorpurgo, ill and suffering, met defeat.

As a result, the home forces broke even with the Japanese in the opening matches of the European zone Davis cup tennis final, the winner of which will play the United States for the right to challenge the French.

Voshiro Ohta managed to snatch one set from Destefani, the latter winning, 6-4, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, but De Morpurgo lost in straight sets to Takeicha Harada, 6-4, 6-3, 7-5. Fans and experts alike had regarded Ohta and De Morpurgo as almost certain winners.

Harada took the breath away from 4,000 rabid Italian fans by carrying the baron along at such a terrific pace that before the crowd realized what was happening the Japanese had the first two sets safely stowed away.

Demorpurgo played as if in pain and it was announced after the match that he must soon undergo an operation for appendicitis. This the baron himself confirmed reluctantly as he said he was "not looking for an alibi."

The doubles match tomorrow will go far toward deciding the winner in the series, as Harada will be favored to beat Destefani, and Demorpurgo, unless greatly handicapped physically, figures to beat Ohta in the remaining singles matches which are scheduled for Sunday.

Epworth Net Meet Opens Here Today

With some 20 entries already on the books and as many more expected to be on hand when play starts, the eighth annual Epworth Athletic Association tennis tournament will get under way at 2 o'clock this afternoon on the Piedmont park courts.

W. T. Ziegler, present champion, is favored to retain his title in the men's singles.

Play will continue until late next week. Men's singles and doubles and women's singles and doubles titles will be contested.

PLAYING THE GAME.

To serve legally keep one foot on the ground and both feet behind the line until the ball is hit. The surest way is to take your position at least six inches behind the base line.

BOBBY'S CADDY SAYS HE'LL WIN

Dale Confident Jones Will Retain Title—Sees Great Round.

By Donoval Dale,
Caddy for Bobby Jones.
(As Told to the Associated Press.)

INTERLACHEN, MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 11.—(AP)—Bobby Jones ran into some tough breaks today and got a 73. Imagine calling a 73 a bad round. Most people would never stop talking if they made it—they make enough noise when they break a hundred.

Still, today's 18 holes were the worst Jones has had since he came to Interlachen, including the practice rounds when I carried his clubs, too. But Bobby—even if it is a 73—is entitled to a bad round. He'll make up for it Saturday. In fact, he will win—I feel as sure of that now as I did at the start.

While it was not as hot today as Thursday when Bobby got a 71, it was still uncomfortably warm and the galleries were bigger—and it seemed to me—more unmanageable.

Bobby shot the first nine in 34, two under par, but despite this good showing, better luck with his putter would have brought him even a lower score—probably a new first nine record which I believe he will shoot before the tournament is over. His play up to the greens on the first half was about perfect—on the greens Old Lady Luck made faces. But 34 is nothing to kick about. Boy!

BOB'S WATER SHOT.

On the ninth Bobby came through with a shot that reminded me of skipping a rock down on the creek. Just when he was going to shoot his second over the lake, somebody stepped up. Bobby turned back, then went up to shoot and he topped the ball somewhat and it hit the water with tremendous speed and skidded through the lily-pads like nobody's business, landing up on the grass not far from the green. He used his spoon on this shot and he made the hole in four, one under par.

Again Bobby used 15 of his 17 clubs today, and the same two got a rest, his No. 1 iron and the big niblick. Bobby had very little to say as he marched along. I don't understand how anybody can think easily with that gang watching. But he apparently isn't bothered and appeared ready to play more when he finished the 18th.

Bobby has been behind before—half of the tournament is yet to be played. I pity Old Man Par for the rest of the way.

GREATEST TEST AWAITS CHAMP TODAY---RICE

By Grantland Rice.

INTERLACHEN COUNTRY CLUB, MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 11.—As the boys come romping down the stretch at Interlachen late Saturday afternoon there ought to be at least four or five pounding hearts that are pretty well bunched.

And in addition to Bobby Jones, who is always around in these home-stretch gatherings, one of them will be a tall, lanky, blue-eyed son of Missouri by the name of Horton Smith, who was 22 years old back in May.

In the midst of the milling on Friday, young Smith handed them a second round that made Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen, Tommy Armour, Mac Smith, Johnny Farrell and a number of others sit up and take notice that a serious challenger had arrived on the scene who meant business.

I saw every shot that Horton Smith played and I saw him grind out a 70 that might just as well have been a 66 as a 70, for he seemed to be using a rifle most of the time in place of a golf club. It was as fine a round of golf as any one has ever seen in an open championship when you consider the way he went about it.

UNIQUE IDEA.

Horton adopted a unique idea and put it into general effect. This idea consisted in hitting his drive smack down the middle and then rapping an iron shot six or eight feet from the pin. It is a system that seldom fails, even if you are putting with a broom.

It is a system that landed young Smith out in front of the pack and enabled him to pick up three strokes on Bobby Jones before facing the final day.

You will hear more about this round later, where he was out in 33 and might just as well have been out in 30.

CLASS IN THE STRETCH.

The finish on Friday was a certain tip that there will be class in the stretch, as they suffer and struggle through the last 36 holes that will proclaim either a winner or a tie before sunset on Saturday.

Here not more than five strokes apart you have Horton Smith, Bobby Jones, Harry Cooper, MacDonald Smith, Tommy Armour, Johnny Farrell, Walter Hagen, Whiffy Cox and John Golden, with Leo Deigel and others only a step away.

These are all seasoned campaigners. They can play golf and they have known the flame and fire of competition and they are all capable of tearing into par with a pickaxe.

MANY THRILLS.

Facing the final day there has been no championship that carried so many thrills and that left more high-class talent all set to battle for the big prize.

Armour and Mac Smith, the leaders on Thursday, slipped a trifle, but in these hectic Opens the leaders of one day usually slip the next. You can only be at the peak so long, and not for very long. A razor edge doesn't last as many days as a battle ax.

Hagen went out in 35 but faltered coming home, although there were all the old indications of much better golf ahead. Harry Cooper, who tied with Armour at Oakmont three years ago, came through with another 72 to tie Bobby Jones and prove again that he will bear more watching.

FARRELL REMAINS.

Johnny Farrell, another ex-Open champion, turned on a brand of golf that will keep him in the middle of the big pursuit race. After starting with an 8 on Thursday, Farrell has played the other 35 holes in two under par, which is marvelous work when you have a poisoned poignard sticking in your heart. And that is precisely what an 8 is on the first hole of an Open championship.

In many respects the duel between Bobby Jones and Horton Smith on Friday afternoon must be classed as one of the epics of golf. Mac Smith, Armour, Hagen and others had slipped just a trifle through the cross winds of the morning round.

GALLERY SPLITS.

As Horton Smith and Bobby Jones squared away later on a big gallery of 10,000 or more split apart—about half to follow the lanky entry from Missouri and the other half to watch Bobby Jones.

Smith was playing just ahead of Jones. Smith could hear every cheer that roared across the valleys and bounded back from the hills. Jones could hear the roaring applause that greeted every fine shot that Horton Smith played, and he played his full share of them.

Mac Smith tees off at 9:45, Walter Hagen at 9:50 and Tommy Armour at 9:30.

EVEN MATCHES LOOM AS CLUBS DON UNIFORMS

Atlanta Loop Opens Second Half; Fulton, Whittier Set for Clash.

A crop of good games loom up in the Granite league for Saturday. All four of them will be played between teams of nearly equal standing, and some close contests are to be expected.

Stone Mountain will have a chance to move off the bottom this time by beating Clarkston. The two are about the same caliber and the fans should see some hard going.

Woodhaven and Tucker will have a close contest and neither one of them seems to be a favorite.

A new deal has been declared in the Atlanta league. All teams are now back on an equal footing, and the first set of games in the second half will be played on Saturday afternoon.

Company B gave Spring Bed a hard row to hoe in the first half and the soldiers are determined to take every game this time. Southern Bell and Fisher Body should play the closest game at Clay field.

Exposition Mills takes a bye this time in the City league. The feature game in this loop seems to be between Fulton Bag and Cotton Mills and Whittier Mills at Chattahoochee. A great crowd of rivermen is expected to be present and donate nickels everytime a home run is knocked. Tub Dowda collected 25 pounds of fish the last time he hit a homer. Southern Railway plays Hapeville at Piedmont park, and if form doesn't reverse itself, they will win.

Georgia Duck vs. Norcross, at Scottdale.
Woodhaven vs. Tucker, at Chamblee.
Chamblee vs. Lithonia, at Lithonia.
Stone Mountain vs. Clarkston, at Clarkston.

CITY LEAGUE.

ATLANTA LEAGUE.

Feature Clash Set For Waterworks.

Of the many good games that should be played by the teams playing under the auspices of the Y-Church A. A. in Saturday's series, the one bringing North Atlanta Baptist and Peachtree Christian together on the waterworks diamond promises to be the best as these clubs are making a spirited race for second-half honors in the Dixie league.

Fans living in the southern section of the county can witness a good game by journeying to College Park, as Al Appling's Orchard Knob Baptist boys meet the Baptist team of College Park and as much rivalry exists between these clubs a large crowd is certain to see this game.

J. O. Y. Class and the Friendship Class play at Oakland City diamond in what should be the best of the Sewanee league games while the feature tilt of the Georgia loop brings Haygood Memorial and Mountain View Baptist together at southwest Piedmont. Teams of the Fulton league that won secon-half opening games meet the losers with wins by the latter coming as upsets.

The schedules follow:

Northwest Atlanta vs. Floding Class at Oglesby Park.
Pep Class vs. 20th Century Bible Class at Northwest Piedmont.

Lipton Catches Cold, But Nothing Serious

LONDON, July 11.—(AP)—Sir Thomas Lipton, noted British trader and sportsman, has developed a slight cold and is staying indoors. There is "nothing serious," it was stated to inquirers this morning, but in view of his forthcoming visit to the United States for the America races he is not taking any risks.

Because of his indisposition a dinner by the British Sportsmen's Club Monday next has been postponed. Ambassador Dawes was to have been present and the Earl of Birkenhead was to propose Sir Thomas' health.

Fitzgerald Wins From Helena, 8-7

FITZGERALD, Ga., July 11.—Fitzgerald amply rectified the 3-to-2 loss to Helena Wednesday by staging a last-inning rally in yesterday's game and upsetting the strong visiting club by an 8-to-7 score.

Helena took a lead in the opening inning and held it until McFadden was forced out of the game on account of illness after pitching four innings of good ball. Baker, who relieved him, was unable to hold the first-half champions.

Fitzgerald	.100 120 202—8	16	2

'Steg' Optimistic About Grid Squad

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 11.—(AP) Herman J. Stegeman, director of athletics, University of Georgia, who with Mrs. Stegeman and their three children, is spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kent at Savannah Beach, is very optimistic over the prospects of the Red and Black team for the coming football season.

He was pleased to learn that Jim Patterson, Savannah's promising threat on the Bulldogs, is keeping in good condition through his surf guard work at Savannah Beach. Coach Stegeman was entertained this afternoon at the home of General W. L. Grayson at Isle of Hope.

RINKY DINKS GO TO SEMI-FINALS

Aces Downed at 5 to 1 in Legion Elimination Series.

Playing another of their air-tight games, the Grant Park Aces sent the Rinky-Dinks down to their second straight defeat to force them from further play in the American Legion's elimination series, this time by a 5-to-1 score.

T. Atkinson, Towery and Finch furnished the batting punch that brought victory.

Whitington pitched a steady game for the losers but five errors at critical times kept him from a possible victory. This win sends the Grant Park Aces to the semi-finals.

CASEY COMES THROUGH.

Casey, mound ace of the North Side Terrors, celebrated his return to the lineup by holding the Kirkwood Vols to one run and four hits while his mates were hammering the offerings of Hutchinson for an even dozen bingles to win the first of the series games, 7 to 1.

Casey fanned 12 while Hutchinson was able to fool but two.

CARROLLTON, Ga., July 11.—In a great pitchers' battle between Cain and Sidwell, Talladega won from Carrollton, 5 to 4. Sidwell walked 10 and hit two, but didn't let the champs hit in the pinch, giving up but five safe blows. One of these was a home run by Ezzell with one on. Cain gave up eight hits and fanned eight. Watson led the hitting with three for four.

GREATEST TEST AWAITS CHAMP TODAY---RICE

By Grantland Rice.

hole Smith had a 4 and Bobby a 5, so they were all square on the total count. And then young Smith began to play about all the golf there was. He got a birdie 3 at the second by sinking a 10-foot putt. He had an 8-foot putt for a birdie 2 at the third had a 5-foot putt for a birdie 4 at the long fourth and the ball scraped the tin.

PUTTS FOR BIRDIES.

He got his 4 at the fifth. He might just as well have started 4-3-2-4-3 with any luck. He had putts for birdies at the 6th, 7th and 8th holes but could not locate the bottom of the cup, although each attempt was closer than a banker's judgment on collateral.

And then he came to the 9th hole, 485 yards in length, with one of the 10,000 lakes waiting for a poor second. Smith's tee shot dropped six feet from the water. He picked out an iron and hit the ball dead on the pin, 12 feet from the cup. And then he tapped his putt in for an eagle 3, to get out in 33.

I mention these few details to show just the brand of golf that Horton Smith played. It was close to uncanny, for he had a 33 that might just as well have been a 30.

RESPONDS.

Bobby Jones and Horton Smith were all even as they stood on the 9th. Just after Bobby hit his drive at this hole he must have heard the wild roar from the Horton Smith gallery. At any rate, he failed to catch his second correctly and the ball, hitting the water 40 yards from shore, skipped by the water lilies and finally run on to dry ground.

As Walter Hagen explained it: "He never topped the shot, or it would never have crossed the water. He caught it with an over spin, half smothered, and when you do that water is the same as concrete or rubber. It wasn't as bad a shot as the gallery thought it was. But it wasn't the type of shot that Bobby usually plays."

BETTER GOLF.

But when it came to the last nine Horton Smith played the better golf. He made just two mistakes on this last nine, which is long and narrow and which happened to be swept by a cross counering wind. Horton cracked his pitch too boldly at the 10th and he faded his tee shot at the 14th but the rest of it was just as good golf as anyone could play.

There was just one hole that pushed Jones back. This was the 15th, a fairly simple 4. He hooked his tee shot to the edge of heavy rough, missed the green on his second, barely got to the edge on his third from more rough and then needed 3 more to get down for a 6.

"This is the only hole that had me steaming," Bobby said later. "It is a simple enough 4, but that one mistake cost me 2 strokes. I wasn't keen to lead the field—not this field. I'd have liked another 71 and if I hadn't blown that tee shot it would have been easy enough. But maybe I was lucky at other spots, so I have no kick coming. I wasn't hitting my shots on the second nine as well as I hoped to hit them, but for some reason that I can't figure out I haven't played that last nine any too well. It cost me a 37 the first day and a 39 the second day. And yet it is the type of nine I usually like to play. But that again is part of the mystery of golf. You can never tell."

ANOTHER DARK HORSE.

One of the big surprises of the second day was the brilliant 70 of Charley Lacey, of Pine Valley, leaving him tied with Bobby Jones and Harry Cooper at second place. Lacey is only 23 years old. He is a young Englishman whom George Duncan recommended strongly three years ago. He came over at the age of 20 to try his luck. This is his first open championship and after his 74 on Thursday he had a putt for 69 on Friday that almost dropped.

Young Lacey has been playing fine golf all the way and he may be one of the big surprises of this championship. He has a fine, free swing and a cool head.

If he doesn't get overcome by the last day's strain he will do extremely well despite his lack of experience, always a big factor in these open championships.

THE BEST SHOT.

There is always a certain amount of interest in the best shot of the day. The palm goes to young Jimmy Thompson. Jimmy was playing with Walter Hagen. Coming to the long 510-yard fourth hole he hit a terrific belt but sliced his tee shot to the rough back of a tall tree.

There was no chance to shoot for the green. But he took his chance on a wide hook to the right of the tree dead in his line. Playing from heavy rough with a No. 4 iron he planted the ball on the green just 12 feet from the cup, and this on a hole that found most of the leading golfers using a brassie from the fairway to get home.

There is a strong belief here that a tie will follow, in which Bobby Jones and Horton Smith may figure. Mac Smith, Armour and Hagen, who slipped just a trifle through the second round, are due to play better golf through the closing marches and one of them should be hooked in with the leaders.

Harry Cooper, who has turned in two 72's, is a seasoned campaigner with plenty of nerve. He is hitting the ball as well as he did at Oakmont when he tied for first place. He has won the $10,000 Los Angeles open and he has beaten both Hagen and George Duncan in match play tests. Light Horse Harry isn't likely to buckle up. He has the swing and the nerve that may carry him through.

The galleries at Interlachen have been the largest in golf history, in spite of an unusual heat wave that has plastered extreme punishment on the two big crowds. Every record will be broken on Saturday with so many stars bunched—especially with Horton Smith and Bobby Jones among the leaders—for the crowd has sensed impending drama and this is the factor that lures out the multitudes.

Bobby Jones still has eight or ten of the greatest professionals in golf surrounding his stocky frame and this means the hardest battle of his career.

Bob Jones Is Tied For Second Place

By Ed Danforth.

Scotia that yesterday chimed so sweetly when MacDonald Smith and Tommie Armour rushed out in front with 70s clanged a bit discordantly as they dropped back with a 75 and a 76 respectively. Walter Hagen, who was supposed to be fighting with his back to the wall finished with his back on the carpet, you might say. He required a 75 which left him five strokes behind Horton Smith and three behind Bobby.

But while the old guard fell back repulsed at least for the moment, Horton Smith, the tall pine of Joplin, stepped up to do the fighting for the paid players. He shot a 70 for a total of 142 and led Bob by two strokes. Young Harry Cooper, Light Horse Harry from the Golden West, pushed up to even terms with Bobby.

And after all calculations had been made in the long twilight of this northern latitude, here came a bird named Charles Lacey, who registers from Pine Valley, N. J., and tacked a 70 to his 74 of the day before to push rudely into the 144 circle with Bobby and Harry Cooper. Lacey is a non-union golfer you might say and made himself very unpopular by his belated appearance at the dinner table. Any guy who would do a trick like that will not last long. He will be cut down by noon tomorrow.

A stroke back with 145 is old Mac Smith, who had led in the opening round. A stroke farther back with 146 are Tommy Armour, Wiffy Cox and Johnny Farrell. All these are dangerous, of course. Nor are Walter Hagen and Johnny Golden with 147 exactly defeated yet.

But tonight no one is looking down in the 148 class, where are Bob Shave, Billy Burke, Jack Forester and Craig Wood, for the winner. Nor yet in the 149 circle, where Charles Guest, Ed Dudley and Ed Williams finished. They persist in looking in that first group—Horton Smith, Bobby Jones and Harry Cooper, for the next champion. Old Mac Smith is given the best chance of any of the old guard to crash through.

Many indeed envision a repetition of the winter feud between Bobby and Horton, that began at Savannah, continued at Augusta and had its third inning in the British open. Bob trailed Horton one stroke at Savannah, he beat him 13 strokes among the pines at Augusta, he out-finished him five strokes in the British open.

At any rate the curtain will rise tomorrow on the final two rounds with Bob and Horton, the barrister and the young professional, squared off on the first tee at Interlachen to fight it out for the championship. Another—Harry Cooper, or one of the old guard who went doddering about the course today—may step in to dispute the issue. But the public foresees nothing but two young men on a dueling ground shooting it out for honor.

FREAK SHOT.

Bobby contributed a freak shot in the ninth hole today that goes into the sideshow of golf. His second shot over the lake was badly topped, but it struck the surface of the water, skipped twice and hopped up safely on the far bank. Bobby's drive was shorter than usual here, due to the head wind, and he was forced to take a light spoon for the second shot instead of a No. 4 iron, as he did the day before.

Fully 8,000 spectators banked the course all the way to the green. They had crowded down to the edge of the lake, leaving a lane just the width of the body of water. As Bobby addressed his ball, a dizzy spectator popped out right in front of him and started across the fairway. Bobby relaxed and gallery marshals raised a noisy warning. The man was bewildered as a rabbit. He stepped back into the crowd, then broke out again as Bobby addressed his ball. Again the snarling outburst from the frantic marshals and the crowd—and the man, later identified as a cousin of Wayward Boye's, from Fargo, N. D., was dragged back out of the way. Bobby took no chance, he hit the ball hurriedly right on its scalp.

Not once in a thousand times would a topped ball skip along the water as a pebble thrown by a small boy, but this one did. It was that strange justice that fate sometimes administers.

Bobby unshaken by the event, made his way over and chipped the ball dead for a birdie 4. No doubt Bobby will keep that ball and preserve it under a glass ball. It sure was a good ball to go aquaplaning that way for the boss.

As Bobby finished the ninth, a pressman hurrying toward the telegraph room remarked "famous crossings—Washington crossing the Delaware, Jones crossing the lake at 9."

Bobby motored out to Interlachen shortly before 11 o'clock today. He was not due to start until 12:50, his father and mother came with him, so did Chick M. Ridley and Major Charles Cox. The latter now is head water bottle carrier while Chick devotes his time to shouldering a way through the crowds. Bob dressed in his new fishnet shirt with the tail outside and seemed pleased with his new garment. He slipped out of the clubhouse by the back way to avoid the crowds and get in some practice. Only a few people were sitting in the shade back of the practice grounds when Bobby appeared. But even then he had to pause once to autograph a scorecard for a woman and again to pose for a bespectacled gentleman who carried a folding camera. The man simply cannot escape, his every step is beset with interruptions of that nature. Yet one has never seen him evince the slightest indication either of posing or irritation. His temperament is ideally balanced.

JOINS FRENCH.

Bobby joined Emmet French, the veteran pro, on the tee and went through a drill with the driver, the spoon, the No. 4 iron and the No. 1 iron. Before he had finished the crowd back of the tee numbered several hundred. While he was driving Big Bob came up and watched a few moments. "I wish to goodness he would quit," Big Bob muttered. "No sense to tire himself out like that."

Finally Bobby folded up and departed for the putting ground in front of the clubhouse. On the way he stopped to speak to his mother, who was sitting under the trees with friends. Once out in the glare in front of the clubhouse the appeals of photographers and autograph hunters began in earnest. The business of being a champion was on.

Eight thousand people at least were perched on the terrace and drawn up in ranks all the way down the 478-yard fairway to the first green waiting for him to drive off. They had followed Sarazen, Armour and Hagen briefly around the first nine and had dropped off to wait for Bobby.

Again Horton Smith immediately preceded him in the parade. Horton played smartly through the human-walled avenue and was roundly cheered for a neat par 4. Bobby did not start until Smith was completely off the green. Jock Hutchison, clowning as usual, was with Bobby again. It may be said here that the amiable but nervous Scot was no help to Bobby and climaxed two days of miserable play by getting into three traps in succession on No. 17 and withdrawing from competition.

Bobby drove beautifully and as he walked away, the tremendous throng fell in behind while those down the fairway rushed across and lined up behind the spot where his drive came to rest. Bob's second shot was short of the green. He chipped on and took two putts for five, losing a stroke to par.

Part of the gallery hearing a wild burst of cheering from the Horton Smith match ahead split off to follow the Joplin boy. He had just made a birdie 3 on No. 2 and at the moment was a stroke better than Bobby.

SETTLES DOWN.

Bobby settled into his stride and played the second and third in easy par figures. The gallery was running wild and he was delayed on every tee while fairways were cleared, but he took it calmly, sitting down.

Bob's second shot on the long No. 4 left him 30 feet short of the green. He walked up the steep incline, studied the lay of the green and walked back to his ball. The short pitch stopped within a foot of the pin, and the crowd roared as he got his birdie 4. That stroke put him even with Horton, by the way.

When Bobby dropped his curling 25-foot putt for a birdie 2 on the short fifth, another wild yell arose. He was one better than Horton now and the gallery feeling that a miracle round was coming off, redoubled in size. But through the sixth, seventh and eighth Bobby went swinging along 4-4-4, playing his standard game with no more long putts dropping to make a miracle come true. As he stood on the ninth tee waiting for the Smith match ahead to proceed, there arose a thunder of applause as Smith dropped a long putt for an eagle there. That stroke followed a fine long second shot to the carpet was to put him on even terms with Bobby as they started for home.

FAMOUS SKIP.

For Bobby then came on, made his now famous skip-shot over the water and scored a birdie 4 for 34, two under par.

Bobby played the tenth as if bent on exemplifying par at a golf clinic. Horton Smith, just ahead, had taken a 5 there and Bobby was a stroke better again. Here the course leaps over a road. Contestants must cross it to reach the eleventh tee.

Several thousands rushed over and fell in behind Horton Smith, which relieved the congestion in Jones' immediate vicinity but did not appreciably improve matters. They were following the two matches practically simultaneously and made an eye-filling sight if one could watch them from a discreet distant hilltop.

BACK EVEN.

Bobby fll back to level terms with Smith through number 11. As he addressed his second shot for the green, another member of the Boye family started walking along calmly between Bobby and the pin. Marshals yelled but the man was oblivious. He was alone on the course. At last after much delay Bobby shot and the ball bounced off the edge of the green and over into the deep rough. Bobby chipped back and took 2 puts for a par 5, where Horton a moment before had had a birdie 4.

A big effort was required to give Bob a par 5 at the 530-yard twelfth. His second shot kicked into a trap, his magnificent recovery hit the green but rolled far over to the edge of the green and his chip back left him a ten-footer. He dropped it gamely and was a stroke behind Horton, who again scored a birdie and passed along amid tumultous applause.

Bob's iron shot to the 190-yard third hit on the green, but the surface was hard and it rolled over the far edge. Bobby went down a 20-foot bank, dug his cleats into the grass and barely got the pitch shot up to the top. Two putts gave him a 4, one over par, two less than the flying Smith.

WELL-OILED PAR.

Bobby played the 14th in well-oiled par and gained a stroke on his rival, who has messed it up a bit.

It was at the 15th that the damage was done. Bobby had a sinking spell. His tee shot, as yesterday, found the rough. His second was short, his third over the green into short grass, and his fourth was three feet short of the cup. The putt did not drop and there was his first six right on the card, forever. Smith now was three strokes better.

Bobby shot his chin into the air and banged a fine drive, cutting the dog leg on No. 16, pitched on 18 feet beyond the pin and dropped a fine putt for a birdie 2. Horton's margin then was two strokes—and still is.

Bobby was short of the 17th green, that 262-yard thing where a full belt with a driver or spoon is necessary. He chipped on but the ball hit a hump in the green and fell away eight feet from the cup.

JOCK GOES OUT.

Meanwhile Jock Hutchison had driven into the rough at the edge of a trap, pitched out over the green into another trap and had come sailing back across again into a third trap. "Pick it up," Jock called to his caddy. H. H. Ramsey, of the U. S. G. A., who was accompanying the match, looked amazed; so did Bobby; but Jock persisted he was through for this tournament.

Bobby putted and missed, taking a 4, just as Horton, ahead of him, had done.

Bobby came home down a 400-yard avenue of people with a drive, approach and two putts for his par 4 and 73 and 144. His approach shot directed at the lofty green banked with ranks and ranks of spectators all framed in green trees will remain in the memory forever as one of the big ensemble numbers of golf.

The 73 left Bobby even 4s for the 36 holes.

The field, cut to the low 60 scores and ties, play 36 holes tomorrow. Bobby has not had a struggle yet; it has seemed easy save for a couple of sinking spells on the last nine these two days.

He is ft to come to grips with Horton Smith, his old rival of the winter tournaments—forget those other scorers of 144 and 145.

TILDEN TELLS OF 3 MATCHES AT WIMBLEDON

Describes Allison-Cochet, Borotra-Tilden, Ryan-Aussem Battles.

By William T. Tilden, 2d.

LONDON, England, July 10.—(NANA)—As I review the recent Wimbledon tournament the outstanding matches appear to me to be the Allison-Cochet, Borotra-Tilden and Miss Ryan-Miss Aussem battles.

Allison's victory over Cochet was due to the tremendous consistent attack the American waged against a player who was listless and sluggish at the start and who was never allowed a chance to get the advantage from the attacker. I feel Allison deserves great credit for his magnificent tennis and above all for his strategy in pressing home his advantage at critical moments in the second and third sets, never allowing Cochet to stage his famous recoveries under difficulties.

Never has Borotra approached the form he showed against me in the semi-final match. Spurred on by Cochet's defeat and determined to save France from complete oblivion in the tournament, Borotra rose to heights of brilliance never shown before. Only the fact that I was at the top of my game, plus luck and superior stamina, saved me, and even then it seemed that until it was four-all in the fifth after Borotra had a 3-1 and 4-2 advantage on his service that he'd win. It was one of the hardest matches of my life and was won by the effectiveness of backhand passing shots in the closing critical stages of the fifth set.

PITIFUL ENDING.

Up to four-all in the final set in the Miss Ryan-Miss Aussem match it had been one of the greatest battles ever staged at Wimbledon. Miss Aussem had pulled even at four-all after Miss Ryan had the games 4-2. Then the German girl seemed the fresher of the two and a logical winner when in running for a deep shot she fell and badly tore a ligament in her ankle, hitting her head so hard on the ground that she fainted and was carried unconscious from the court—a pitiful ending to a glorious effort.

All-American finals in the four major events and the representation in the fifth made a particularly impressive victory for the United States.

Helen Wills Moody easily defended successfully her singles title, outclassing the field at all times and winning the final from Elizabeth Ryan by a wide margin despite Miss Ryan's magnificent play. These two paired to win the women's doubles title, beating Sarah Palfrey and Edith Cross, America's "kid" team, who had scored sensational upsets to meet them in the final round.

BEATS ALLISON.

I won the men's singles title, which was a real surprise to all, including myself. In this event Wilmer Allison was the real hero by virtue of his sensational defeat of Henri Cochet and his attaining the final round through the hardest section of the draw.

Allison and John Van Ryn, the defending champions, and George Lott and John Doeg, American champions, outclassed the field to come through their respective halves to the final, which Allison and Van Ryn won in a brilliant, bitterly fought match.

Miss Ryan and Jack Crawford, of Australia, won the mixed doubles from a field that was injured by defaults and a regrettable accident to Miss Aussem which forced her withdrawal.

SARAH PALFREY LIKED.

Little Sarah Palfrey played magnificent tennis all through the tournament and was the popular idol of the public. Helen Jacobs wasn't her best against Miss Aussem, who played magnificently to beat her.

All young Americans in the men's events scored personal victories. They have shown great improvement. Mangin was splendid in all departments in beating Austin. Doeg's terrific service and magnetic personality made him one of the popular figures at Wimbledon and he did well to reach the semi-final, where he was a little unlucky not to nose out Allison in a terrific five-set match.

It was certainly America's Wimbledon and our tennis public can be proud of both the men and girls who represented them.

Henderson, Raleigh May Leave League

GREENSBORO, N. C., July 11.—(AP)—The Greensboro Record says this afternoon that Henderson and Raleigh may be dropped from the Piedmont league because of their stand on night baseball.

The Record quotes W. G. Bramham, president of the circuit, as saying these two clubs have refused to play night baseball away from home unless guaranteed $150 per game, and that, in his opinion, the other teams will not agree to these terms. The Piedmont has an agreement whereby the home club receives all gate receipts.

High Point, Durham and Greensboro have installed lighting equipment and several night games already have been played.

CHICAGO, July 11.—(AP)—The "Big Four" of Manager Joe McCarthy's Chicago Cub pitching staff have been the sufferers on the current road trip.

Malone, Bush, Blake and Root have failed to win a game, the two victories having been turned in by Teachout and Osborn. Charlie Root was charged with three defeats and Malone and Blake with one each.

Arlington Heads Bar Ogle Entries

CHICAGO, July 11.—(AP)—The stewards at Arlington Park have ordered the racing secretary to accept no more entries from G. W. Ogle, until an investigation of the last race yesterday is made.

Ogle's five-year-old, Morocco, won the race, paying $9.04 for $2. No explanation for the investigation was made. The suspension also affects Jockey D. Smith, who rode Morocco.

TENNIS AT 56.

M. Page Andrews, tennis star of the Baltimore Country Club, is still active in tournaments at the age of 56. He didn't start until he was 30. He was barely nosed out in the city meet.

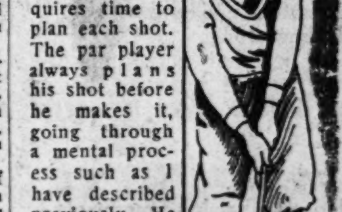
xAmateur.



Good golfers almost always appear to be leisurely golfers. This appearance can be deceptive. What appears to be slowness and leisureliness often indicate only that the player requires time to plan each shot. The par player always plans his shot before he makes it, going through a mental process such as I have described previously. He has a mashie pitch shot, for instance, and before he makes it, and as he plans it, he sees the ball, not where it is, but on the exact spot on the green where he wants it to be after he strokes it. Next he sees clearly just how he is going to get it there. After this is clearly in his mind, he approaches the simple part of the shot—stroking the ball. Now contrast this with the opposite way of playing. The high score player takes a casual, hasty look ahead and then quickly gives the ball a bat. This practice, and not real lack of golfing ability, runs his scores up. I urge all golfers who have that habit to begin at once to improve their play through the mental route, because you can experiment for years with your clubs and not get far otherwise.

T. K. LEE WINS DOUBLES TITLE AT TRAP SHOOT

T. K. "Tack-Hole" Lee, of Birmingham, was crowned doubles champion of the south in clay pigeon shooting Friday at the Atlanta Gun Club on the third day of the southern handicap shoot, which ends today.

Lee shattered 95 birds out of his 100 shots at the sailing targets for an unusually fine score. The new champion is noted also as a rifle shot, having excelled at this before taking up clay target shooting. He has been Alabama trapshoot champion several times.

Harry Johnson came second in the doubles championship won by Lee. Johnson broke 93 out of his hundred sh s. Ed Flynn, Mobile, busted 91 for third place; Ike Andrews and Dr. Henry N. Alford were next with 90. Arthur Cuscaden, Tampa, Fla., won the professional doubles title with his 89.

Mrs. Ad Topperwein, the famous San Antonio lady professional, had the best total score in the 500 singles targets for three days of busting 'em. The "wolf and lamb" singles Friday completed the singles competition.

TEN MISSES.

She had a score of 490 x 500, only dropping 10 birds, which is wonderful shooting on anybody's traps, any time. Harry Johnson, Haines City marksman who won the amateur singles championship Thursday, was just a step behind the great lady shooter with 489 x 500.

Paul Earle, from South Carolina, won the "wolf" division of the "wolf and lamb" Friday with nothing at all but 100 targets out of 100 shots in a round of 16-yard singles. Sam DuBose, Atlanta, and J. O. Rogers tied in the "lamb" section with 96 apiece. Mrs. Topperwein led the professionals with 98.

Wolves were amateurs with better than 90 per cent averages, and lambs were those with less than 90 per cent in previous performances.

OTHERS HIGH.

Other high scores in this event were Paul Williams, 98 (wolf); Ed Flynn, 97 (wolf); H. D. Freeman, 97 (wolf); Harry Johnson, 97 (wolf); Arthur Cuscaden, 96 (professional); John Kreis, 95 (wolf); H. N. Alford, 95 (wolf); T. K. Lee, 94 (wolf); L. E. Grant, 94 (lamb); C. A. Brannon, 94 (lamb).

The international 100, one of the most difficult events in trapshooting, resulted in a three-way tie between Paul Earle, Starr, S. C.; Paul Williams, Huntsville, Ala., and John Kreis, Knoxville, Tenn. All three had 95.

This event included 20 targets at 16 yards, 20 at 18 yards, 20 at 20 yards, 20 at 22 yards, and 10 pairs of doubles. Mrs. Topperwein and Arthur Cuscaden, professionals, came next in the international with 93 and 92, respectively. It was not a strictly amateur event.

BEAUTIFUL STRING.

Paul Earle ran a beautiful string of singles, unfinished from Thursday, to 171, and it is still unfinished, though there will not be any more 16-yard singles in this shoot. Right in the midding of the string, he popped off 50x50 in a practice round of doubles to make his perfect combined run 221.

High scores for the 500 singles targets shot during the three days are as follows: Mrs. Topperwein, 490; Johnson, 489; Williams, 486; Freeman, 481; Flynn, 480; Lee, 478; Cuscaden, 473; Alford, 471; Kreis, 470; Andrews, 462.

Today the shoot will be ended with the handicap events. Hostilities are scheduled to begin at 9 a. m.

Field Best Scorer At Night Shoot.

H. J. Field, of Atlanta, had the best score in the exhibition night shoot Friday evening. He scored a 47x50 and was closely followed by Mrs. Ad Topperwein and D. Douthit, who had 45x50 each.

In the doubles Dr. H. N. Alford, Atlanta, scored a perfect 25x25. Arthur Cuscaden was second with 21x25.

The night shoot was purely an exhibition and the scores do not count on those of the regular meet which concludes today.

The night targets were a new experience for some of the entries but they managed to establish good scores despite their inexperience with night shooting.

Gallant Fox Should Boost Earnings in Arlington Classic

CHICAGO, July 11.—(AP)—The Arlington classic, worth $70,000 to the winner and Gallant Fox the odds-on favorite to win, tops a racing card at Arlington park tomorrow that sets an American record for one day's prize money.

The Lassie stakes, an event two-year-old fillies, is for $5,000, while a handicap event is worth $2,000. The rest of the $83,000 prize money is distributed among four allowance and claiming races.

Eleven 3-year-old thoroughbreds are listed as certain to start in the second running of the classic but there is little conversation about anything except how much—or little—Gallant Fox will pay.

2-5 FAVORITE.

Up at Minneapolis, where the national open golf championship is being played, the cry is "beat Bobby Jones." Among Chicago racing enthusiasts, however, the cheering is all for the king of the season's 3-year-old, and it is expected he will go to the post under Earl Sande's magic hand a 2-to-5 favorite to take down the season's richest purse.

Ned O., was today's dark horse threat. The horse that was believed capable of winning the Kentucky Derby, the Fairmount Derby and the American Derby, only to fail in each race, yesterday showed a flash of form in winning a seven-furlong test from High Foot and Swinfield, another pair of likely classic starters. Ned O's time of 1:26 3-5 on a slow track was considered excellent and gained the horse many friends.

Sande and Gallant Fox's trainers insisted they didn't care anything about the condition of the track—that fast, heavy or slow and rain or shine—the Fox will win. Kentuckians, however, were conjuring for rain, with the belief that Alcibiades, the fleet Kentucky filly, will be a great shot to upset Gallant Fox's string of impressive victories.

SECOND CHOICE.

Gallant Knight, second to the other Gallant horse in the Kentucky Derby and victor in the Fairmount and Latonia derbies, will carry 123 pounds, three pounds less than the top burden ordered for Gallant Fox. H. Schutte will have the mount on Gallant Knight, who today was quoted at 6 to 1. Dustemall, another of the three fillies, will carry 116 pounds, with R. Workman in the saddle and was listed at 15 to 1.

J. Smith will ride Alcibiades and C. Quattelbaum, who yesterday rode Ned O to victory, will have the same mount tomorrow. Alcibiades will carry 118 pounds, while Ned D will tote 121, along with High Foot, Caruso, Black Majesty, Swinfield and Breezing Thru. Snowflake, Walter J. Salmon's fine filly, will pack 118 pounds if she is sent to the post. High Foot, Caruso and Breezing Thru today were the long shots, at 30 to 1, Black Majesty was quoted at 20 to 1 and Alcibiades, Swinfield and Snowflake as low as 8 to 1.

Every reserved space in the huge plant has been sold and Arlington Jockey Club officials confidently anticipate a crowd of 50,000 or more.

BARONS BLANK VOLS.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 11.—Clay Touchstone allowed only two hits as the Barons defeated Nashville, 5-0. A base on balls and an epidemic of hits, including two doubles, enabled Birmingham to score four times in the fourth.

It was Touchstone's second consecutive shutout, only Dumas and Standaert being able to hit safely today.

CHICKS TAKE FOURTH.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 11.—Memphis made it four straight today over New Orleans, winning 7 to 5, in the fourth game of a "crucial" series.

Today's game increased the lead of the Chicks to 10 games.

The game, itself torrid enough, was further enlivened by a fistic clash between Gill Campbell, Memphis catcher, and First-baseman Ward, of New Orleans, in the third inning. Words were exchanged between Campbell, catching, and Ward, who was sitting on the bench, as a prelude to the scuffle. They were quickly separated and both put out of the game.

Giants Sign Pitcher From Richmond U.

RICHMOND, Va., July 11.—(AP)—Johnny Adams, 20, whose pitching at the University of Richmond aroused interest of big league scouts this spring, has signed a contract with the New York Giants and will leave at midnight to join the team. Under the contract he will not be farmed out this year, but will take his chances in training camp next season.

Sam Perry Enters Alabama Finals

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 11.—(UN)—W. L. Cope, Mobile, and Sam Perry, defending titlist, will meet on the Montgomery Country Club course tomorrow in final play for the state championship. Cope defeated Jenks Gillem, Tuscaloosa, 4 and 3 while Perry eliminated Johnny Thames, Birmingham, 3 and 2, in semi-final play today.

Perry was an easy favorite because of his competitive experience, this being Cope's first tournament in this country. He learned to play golf in the West Indies where he formerly sold lumber.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 11.—(AP)—Fair-haired Bryan Grant, of Atlanta, king of Dixie court aces for three years, and Cliff Sutter, of New Orleans, recently crowned national intercollegiate ruler, will meet here tomorrow afternoon for the southern men's single tennis championship.

It will mark the fourth consecutive year that Grant has been a finalist since he first won the crown back in 1927. In a semi-finals match today Grant overwhelmed Wilmer Hines, of Columbia, S. C., in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2, 6-0, while Sutter scored a decisive triumph over Jack Mooney, of Atlanta, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2.

Titular contests in all other stages of the forty-fifth annual southern tourney except men's doubles are also scheduled for tomorrow. Men's doubles finals will be played Sunday.

Covering court with panther-like swiftness and driving well-aimed shots far out of Hines' reach, Grant raced to victory over the Carolinian with apparent ease. The champion allowed Hines two of the first four games in the opening set, then tightened to capture 16 games in a row.

BACK COURT GAME.

Sutter, playing as if inspired, was master of the situation throughout his duel with Mooney. The Georgia chop-stroke artist was impotent before the college star's sizzling services, cool returns and dizzling change of pace.

Sutter displayed a varied assortment of strokes in sweeping to a decision over Mooney, who was one of the best players in Dixie before Sutter was out of knee pants. Mooney won but eight games in three sets.

Dan Murray and Clifford Sutter, New Orleans, will meet Wilmer Hines and Judge Beaver in the finals of the men's doubles.

EASY AND HARD.

Murray and Sutter won their semi-finals match today over Jimmy and Al Halverstadt, Atlanta, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4, and Hines and Beaver went into the finals at the expense of Bryan Grant and Harry Gault, Atlanta, after a five-set match, 3-6, 1-6, 8-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Eliza Coxe, defending titleholder, tries conclusions with the western women's champion, Catherine Wolf, Indianapolis, in the women's singles finals. Miss Coxe downed Anna Koll, of New Orleans, in semi-finals, 7-5, 4-6, 6-4. Miss Wolf won from Beatrice Bryan, Enterprise, Miss., 3-6, 6-0, 6-1.

An all-western championship battle was assured in women's doubles when Theodosia Smith and Jeanie Sampson, of Chicago, downed Mrs. Frank Lee and Nellie King, of Memphis, 6-1, 6-3, in the semi-finals. This combination will meet Miss Wolf and Ruth Oxeman, of Cincinnati, but playing under colors of the Allerton Club, of Chicago, in the deciding battle, Wolf and Oxeman defeated Bryan and Elizabeth Garth, of Columbus, Miss., yesterday, 6-4, 6-8, 6-3.

BUCS HIT, WIN.

PITTSBURGH, July 11.—The effective combination of hard hitting and effective pitching by Ervin Brame enabled the Pirates to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals, 6 to 2, today and end the six-game series on even terms.

The Corsairs pounded three St. Louis pitchers, Hallahan, Haid and Lindsey for 16 hits while Brame held the Cards to half that number. St. Louis made four errors.

Paul Waner led the hitting. He made four straight hits and walked the fifth time. Orsatti drove out two triples and a single for St. Louis in four times up.

REDS BEAT PHILLIES.

PHILADELPHIA, July 11.—Red Lucas pitched superbly in the tight places today and aided his own cause with a home run in the ninth inning to give the Cincinnati Reds a 5-to-3 victory over the Phillies in the opening game of their eastern tour.

The Phillies had plenty of scoring chances but Lucas bore down each time he was in danger. Philadelphia scored twice in the first inning on three solid hits, a walk and a sacrifice, but they could not count again until the seventh when Davis put a home run into the left field bleachers.

The Reds cashed in on every opportunity. They counted three times in the fourth on doubles by Walker and Heilmann and singles by Stripp and Ford, then broke the 3-3 deadlock in the eighth on singles by Swanson and Cuccinello.

WHITE SOX COP.

ST. LOUIS, July 11.—The Chicago White Sox set into a tie for sixth place with St. Louis today by defeating the Browns 5 to 3 behind steady pitching of Pat Caraway, who held the Browns to seven scattered blows.

Caraway was in danger only in the second inning, when the Browns bunched their blows to score three runs. Their efforts were powerless after that.

TIGERS SWAMP CLEVELAND.

DETROIT, July 11.—The Tigers went on a hitting spree today and whaled out 18 safeties to win the series closer from Cleveland, 11 to 1. Brown and Miller were the victims of the assault, while Waite Hoyt was holding the Tribesmen to seven safe bingles. The rampant Bengals hit Brown safely eight times in the first two innings, scoring three runs in each. Stone tripled in the first, scoring two men. Averill made a three-bagger for the Indians in the seventh but it didn't figure in the scoring.

FRANK O'DOUL LIFTS AVERAGE IN BIG SIX RACE

Star Now Battling .408 To Lead Field—Klein Slips.

With the major league schedule yesterday abbreviated considerably by the east-west movement of the clubs, the two Philadelphia sluggers, Frank O'Doul and Chuck Klein, were the only Big Six members to play in a regular game. And the results were strongly in favor of O'Doul. The leader drove out a single and a double in four times at bat against Cincinnati and brought his average up one more point to .408. Klein was allowed only two official times at bat and failed to hit at all, dropping three points to .399 and remaining only two ahead of Babe Herman.

LITTLE STORIES OF FAST SUCCESSES

EARL SANDE

The first race horse he ever saw was hitched to the tailboard of a prairie schooner. Two years later, every track in America resounded to that famous cry, "C'm on Sande!"

He always gave the public the best run for its money.

That's the reason, too, for OLD GOLD rooters. That's why, in four short years, OLD GOLD has scrambled past the pack . . . caught the leaders . . . and is thundering down the stretch. OLD GOLD, too, always gives the public a run for its money.

Made of nature-blessed tobaccos, it offers you the taste-thrill you've always longed for . . . it eliminates the throat-hack you've always hated.

Explain Sande or OLD GOLD? Sandes and OLD GOLDS are born, not made.

IT WAS JUST TWO YEARS AFTER HE SAW HIS FIRST RACE HORSE THAT SANDE WAS CROWNED "EARL" OF AMERICAN JOCKEYS.

Officers Elected For Golf Association.

Officers for the past year, with one exception, were re-elected to their posts in the Georgia State Golf Association at a meeting of the executive board held at East Lake Friday afternoon. The exception was Veazy Rainwater, finalist in the present tournament, who was named secretary and treasurer in place of Loyd Parks.

Officers who were re-elected include Lowery Arnold, president, and Fielding Wallace and R. H. Martin, vice presidents.

Wymberly Peters was named to take Parks' place on the board of directors. He was joined in his seat-taking by Bobby Jones, who is now privileged to add the State association to the list of bodies of which he is an honorary director.

Discussion of the site for the holding of the 1931 state amateur tourney was placed in the hands of a committee headed by R. H. Martin, who will act with Veazy Rainwater and Keith Conway.

Bids were received from the Augusta Country Club, the Sea Island Beach Country Club, and the Athens Country Club. The committee will investigate the merits of each of the courses and make its decision, which will be subject to the approval of the board of directors at some future date.

Sande's First Try Nets Second Place

CHICAGO, July 11.—(AP)—Earl Sande's initial appearance in competition at Arlington Park was not as successful as he expects his ride on Gallant Fox to be tomorrow in the rich classic.

Mounted on Victorian, winner of the $100,000 Agua Caliente handicap, the Earl managed to get by everyone but My Dandy in a six-furlong test.

Strictly on the Level.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., July 11.—Gentlemen of the fancy in this vicinity are saddened by the suspicion that the fight racket up north is not exactly on the level. The suspicion has grown so close to a conviction that during the last big one on the other side of the synthetic gin line some of the most noted of south Georgia's sportsmen did not even turn on their radios, but let the children listen to the bedtime stories.

"There was one fight down here a short time ago," remarked Judge Eustace Butts, as he sat on the porch of the plantation house at Champney Island shadow boxing with two active mosquitoes and staring at the Altamaha river, which flowed by sluggishly. "It was strictly on the level."

"Were there no fouls?" demanded your correspondent.

"Well, yes and no," said the judge.

"The backers of both fighters claimed a foul. I had to decide. If I had decided that there was a double foul it would make complications for some of those northern referees."

"Who won the fight?" asked your puzzled correspondent.

"Neither," said the judge, still reflectively watching the ripples on the Altamaha. "My decision was that both of the combatants lost. But let me tell you, sir, that it was the toughest fight held in the south since the war."

Naturally the curiosity of your correspondent was piqued and he besought the judge for the harrowing details. The judge, with the courtesy of a Georgia gentleman, lit another cigar and obliged in the accents which the Oglethorpe University is seeking to improve, as though the jazz accent of the north could be an improvement.

It seems that between court sessions Judge Butts goes fishing, and on these excursions usually is accompanied by Billy Woods and Brewser Brown, two of Brunswick's foremost gentlemen of the fancy. Brewser Brown is the city's fight expert, because while he was up north he saw the Jeffries-Sharkey fight.

Fishing in the Altamaha is much more restful than trout fishing or salmon fishing in the chilly northern waters. The boat is maneuvered into a favorable spot by the negro boatman and anchored.

The servitor then baits the hooks, adjusts the cork bobs and the fisherman sits and thinks until the cork becomes agitated gently, for even the fish in this vicinity is well mannered.

The three fishermen fished until nearly sunset without a single reverie being disturbed. Judge Butts was at the time meditating over an important decision he was to render concerning the ownership of a bird dog and was grateful that his reflections were not being disturbed by any fish.

There was a disturbance in the water 50 yards down stream and a dark shaggy form was seen swimming the Altamaha.

"There goes a bear," said Billy Woods, "and there isn't a gun in the boat."

"Guess he's crossing over Darien way to get himself a shoat," said Brewser Brown. "Surely it's a pity that nobody has a gun. Bears been getting too many shoats around here lately."

Suddenly there was a huge splashing and a growl. The bear disappeared beneath the surface of the Altamaha, and that was the opening of the one fight pronounced by that distinguished local jurist, Judge Butts, to be strictly on the level.

The Battle Is On.

"'Gators got him," he shouted excitedly, "and now what a fight there is going to be. Five to one on the 'gator."

"I'll take you," said the other gentleman of the fancy, Mr. Woods. "Come on, bear."

The bear came to the surface sluppering and choking and striking at something beneath the muddy water. The alligator's tail lashed at the stream and churned it. They went under again and came up a little nearer the shore, then came up again, but a little nearer the Darien shore.

"The bear's gaining on the 'gator," said the triumphant Mr. Woods. "The rounds are even so far and if the bear ever gets him to the shore he'll claw hell out of him."

The bear and 'gator disappeared again.

"How do we know who's on top?" demanded Brewser Brown. "We can't see what's going on under water. I'll bet that the 'gator is on top?"

There was not a retort to this.

"Let's call all rounds even while they are under water," suggested the judicial-minded Judge Butts. "Wait till they get to shore and then we can keep score. Of course, if they don't get to shore the 'gator gets the decision."

Eventually they reached the bank and the bear splashed out with the alligator holding on. On land the 'gator released his hold and snapped at the bear. The bear snapped back. Then suddenly the bear took to the woods, while the alligator splashed back into the Altamaha.

A Fair Decision.

When both of the combatants simultaneously went to their natural elements, both of the gentlemen of the fancy of Brunswick claimed the stakes. Their words became almost acrimonious.

"The bear won," insisted Billy Woods.

"The 'gator outgamed him," insisted Brewser Brown.

They turned to Judge Butts for a decision. That jurist does nothing in unjudicial haste. He bit himself a chew of tobacco and reflected. Finally he spoke: "The decision of this court is that both of the combatants lost according to the civil code of the sovereign state of Georgia. Their actions at the untimely finish of this contest is tantamount to throwing up the sponge by both parties.

"The fact that both combatants lost makes the decision a negative draw and the verdict is that the gentlemen wagering must pay the costs, which will consist of mint juleps for three."

"The fight," said the judge, "was strictly on the level chiefly because the combatants had no managers and there was no promoter, and the combat was not under the jurisdiction of any boxing commission."

CRACKERS WIN THIRD IN ROW

on to first. He did, rubbing his elbow. Then came Squire Dobbs from his dugout. The umpires consulted again and Cotton Knaupp called Jimmy Horn back from the bag.

A couple of very, very angry men were Jimmy Horn and Bill Rodgers. And when Jimmy Horn popped to Andy Messenger on the next effort he was madder than ever. Maybe madder than a wet hen.

START EARLY.

The Crackers started scoring in the first when they got over one tally. They faltered in the second but the third saw them drive in three runs. There was some consistent knocking in that inning. The fourth saw Roy Carlyle hammer one to the far reaches of the right field terrace. The lombardi poplars did a dance of joy, showing their white arms in a gay dance as Roy Carlyle completed his home run. He hit one there in the game last week but failed to touch second.

Friday saw him plug a hole in the bag. He looked like a bus climbing a hill in high but he made it with Sheehan scoring ahead of him.

There were no more Cracker scores until the fourth when consistent hitting drove in four runs.

The two clubs meet this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Six-County Loop Shows Good Ball

THOMASVILLE, Ga., July 11.—The Six-County Baseball league, made up of teams from Thomasville, Valdosta and Bainbridge, in Georgia, and Tallahassee, Monticello and Perry, in Florida, has demonstrated the fact that the day of good amateur baseball has not yet departed.

All players on these teams are amateurs, and must have been residents of the county on whose team they are playing for not less than 30 days prior to the opening of the 1930 schedule.

The games in this league have been consistently drawing big crowds, and the season, up to this time, has been successful in a financial way and has developed more baseball enthusiasm than has been in evidence in this region in a decade. The season has a 16-week schedule, which will come to an end the latter part of August.

TARDIEU CABINET FOES AGAIN ROUTED

PARIS, July 11.—(AP)—Premier Tardieu's foes resumed their attack on the government tonight and once more the spirited prime minister triumphed, routing the opposition for the fourth time in three days on a vote of confidence that stood at 316 to 268. Having won the day M. Tardieu adjourned parliament.

The session ended in a turmoil such as had marked it virtually since January. The prime minister, weary of facing repeated assaults, forestalled new ones by mounting the speaker's rostrum and exercising his irrevocable power of closing the session, soon after 8 o'clock tonight.

The opposition, led by the communists, with the socialists and radicals following, protested vehemently at what they declared to be premature closing of the regular term.

There was no going behind the decree, however, and so the opposition contented itself with prolonging the scene an hour and a half in a boisterous show of its displeasure.

M. Tardieu showed good-humored astonishment that the deputies were so anxious to remain in the heated atmosphere of the legislative palace to continue their idle efforts to unseat the government. He urged them to return to their constituencies, explain matters and enjoy the open air.

Veering from the subject of the penalties imposed upon striking postoffice workers which precipitated yesterday's crisis, the radicals today challenged the department of finance and other subordinate administrative divisions of the government.

The issue came after a long discussion of a radical interpellation on the manner in which the government proposed to lighten what the opposition alleged to be an excessive financial burden upon the departments, cities and communes, a part of which, it was held by the opposition, the state ought to shoulder.

M. Tardieu accepted the battle as offered by his political antagonists, posing a question of confidence on their resolution.

The resolution tersely invited the government to bring about the necessary reforms. The prime minister rejected it because it did not express confidence in the government.

The subject was cleverly chosen because it placed a large number of government supporters in an embarrassing situation with reference to their rural constituencies which might expect to benefit from a reform such as demanded by the radicals.

The attacks, however, lacked the vital element of confidence to carry them through, while the premier replied with his usual assurance which carried the day.

The premier repulsed one attack yesterday by 66 votes. He had as comfortable a margin in the others. Three different questions have been used for the purpose of unseating his cabinet since Tuesday.

The parliamentary session normally would have ended Saturday before the national holiday occurring July 14, Bastille Day. Immediately after the vote was polled today the premier formally closed the regular session of parliament.

After the reading of the decree of cloture, the senate quietly ended its session and the senators dispersed for the summer vacation. The senate halls in the Luxembourg palace were locked up.

Not so in the chamber of deputies. The final minutes there were boisterous and filled with complaints.

Former Premier Herriot, on behalf of the radical socialists, protested against Premier Tardieu's action in closing the session. The socialist deputy, Baron, striding ostentatiously up to the government benches, defiantly sat in Premier Tardieu's customary seat.

As President Bouisson vainly tried to stem the flood of eloquence and protest, Leon Blum, the socialist leader, rose in his turn to protest, asserting that the program traced by M. Tardieu himself had not been acted upon.

During all this time M. Bouisson was trying to get the minutes adopted. The members of the government had long since left. Finally after an hour and a half of argument the minutes were adopted by 310 votes to 273.

STATE POSTMASTERS OPEN CONVENTION

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 11.—(AP)—Addresses by John T. Clapp, Beech Grove, Ind., past president of the National Association of Postmasters; W. H. Riddell, Atlanta, superintendent of railroad mail service, and Joseph Menth, Washington, D. C., assistant superintendent of air mail service, featured the first day's session of the Georgia branch of the National League of District Postmasters held here today.

All of the talks were confined to improvement in the respective branches of the service with which the speakers are connected. In the afternoon the convention adjourned to Savannah Beach for a frolic at the ocean side.

Tomorrow the election of officers takes place, selection of next meeting place and election of delegates to the national convention. Because of a call received by the coast guard cutter Yamacraw to service at sea today, the contemplated sea trip aboard the cutter could not be held. H. C. Hays, Mansfield, Ga., is president of the association.

Principal addresses tomorrow will be made by E. A. Meeks, national president; H. C. Hays, the state president and Lafayette G. Buehler, Washington, D. C.

EVERGLADES WATERS SLOWLY RECEDING

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., July 11.—(AP)—The flood menace was reported today to be gradually fading from the upper Everglades, where the high level of Lake Okeechobee, recent incessant rains, and failure of some main drainage canals to function properly had recently kept residents in a state of uneasiness.

Following an inspection made by engineers, State Senator A. W. Young, secretary of the Okeechobee flood control board, reported that the lake level is now stationary at 18.5 feet with a hot sun causing heavy evaporation. Canals, some of which had been discharging into the lake, have ceased abnormal flow and are carrying the water off, while the dredge, Caloosahatchee, is making steady progress in repair of faulty dikes. The situation was termed "generally better," although future conditions depend largely on the state of the weather.

Senator Young was informed by Governor Carlton today that the joint meeting of the Everglades drainage and flood control boards, which had been scheduled for July 18 at Tallahassee, has been postponed to July 21 owing to inability of Attorney-General Fred H. Davis to be present on the 18th. He said there was a possibility that the boards would pass a resolution looking to validation of bonds of the flood control district so as to raise the district's $2,000,000 share expense of the federal flood control project.

Two of the colorful derbies which will precede the national air races, to be held in Chicago August 23-September 1, will pass through Atlanta, it was announced definitely Friday by Major R. W. Schroeder, contest director, and Major Luke Christopher, secretary of the contest committee of the National Aeronautic Association. The racing planes Atlanta will have an opportunity of seeing are those composing the eastern women's air derby, which will start at Washington, D. C., wing southward to Atlanta and thence westward, skirting the Gulf of Mexico and head northward up the Mississippi valley, and the eastern derby, for men, which will start at Miami, Fla., and stop at principal cities, including Atlanta, on the trp to Chicago.

Seattle, Wash., was named the starting point for the men's western derby. El Paso, Texas, will be the take-off point from the southwest for men flying planes equipped with engines of 500 cubic inch displacement, while easterners flying planes in that class will leave either from Hartford, Conn., or Boston, Mass. Los Angeles will witness the start of the non-stop derby, which will offer prizes totaling $12,000. The women's eastern derby will take off from Long Beach, Cal., control points having been designated at San Diego, Phoenix, Tucson, Douglas, El Paso, Roswell, Lubbock, Amarillo, Wichita, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Des Moines, Madison and Elgin.

With the coming of the all-America flying derby, sponsored by American Cirrus Engines, Inc., of Marysville, Mich., in the immediate offing, the Aero Club of Atlanta, local chapter of the National Aeronautic Association, is bestirring itself. The visiting fliers are scheduled to reach Atlanta on the afternoon of July 22 and to spend the night here. Directors of the Aero Club have been called together for a special meeting Monday morning to discuss the possibility of raising lap prize money for the Cirrus racers as well as to make arrangements for caring for the visitors during their stay here. William A. Dunlap, secretary of the club, announced that the meeting would be held in the directors' room of the Chamber of Commerce at 10 o'clock Monday morning and urged that all directors be on hand, in view of the short time remaining before the arrival of the derby.

F. R. Maxwell, Jr., president of the American Cirrus, has announced that 24 entries for the event have been received and that probably half a dozen more are on the way to him. A total of $40,000 in prizes has been offered for the 7,500-mile race, which will carry the competing fliers from Detroit to either Buffalo or Rochester, N. Y.; New York city, Atlanta, Little Rock, Houston, San Angelo, Douglas, Los Angeles, Oakland, Ogden, Omaha, Chicago and back to Detroit. It was originally intended to carry the flight into Mexico City, but this was abandoned because of poor flying conditions during the tropical rainy season. Captain Frank Hawks, noted flier, and Major Luke Christopher, of the N. A. A., will act as referees. Other members of the race committee are William B. Mayo, chief engineer for Ford and director of the Stout Airlines, and Phelps Newberry, well-known Detroiter and director of the Buhl Aircraft Corporation.

Frank Estill, for several months reserve mail pilot here for Gulf Coast Airways, Inc., and one of the most popular members of the Candler field flying contingent, has been transferred to New Orleans and will have a regular mail run between that city and Houston, it was announced Friday by Lee Sanders, division manager here for Gulf Coast. Estill's departure will be a source of genuine regret to his many friends at the airport. Interstate mail pilots, during their "off" time in Atlanta, will act as reserve pilots for Gulf Coast. Candler field operations of Gulf Coast and Interstate, both subsidiaries of American Airways Corporation, recently were consolidated under the management of Sanders, who will act as division manager for both.

Taking off from Candler field soon after dawn Friday, Beeler Blevins, at the controls of Asa G. Candler's Lockheed Wasp Vega and with three passengers aboard, hoped to reach Detroit after a non-stop flight of slightly more than four hours. Detroit is approximately 630 miles from Atlanta as the crow flies. While there Blevins planned to take delivery on a new Lycoming-powered Stinson Junior monoplane and turn it over to John C. Ferenbach, flying traveling salesman, who ordered the plane several weeks ago. Ferenbach, who travels the south for the Ferenbach Silk Mills, of New York, is a capable pilot of several years' experience and is thoroughly sold on the airplane as a medium of efficient, economical transportation. Blevins is scheduled to return to Atlanta in the Lockheed this afternoon, if weather conditions to the north are satisfactory.

R. M. Young, Jr., of LaGrange, with a brand-new limited commercial license and an equally brand-new Fairchild KR-34, arrived at Candler field Friday after a flight from Love field, Dallas. Young made a noteworthy record at Love, where he enrolled in a flying school and won his L. C. license (50 solo hours) during a six week's course. It all goes to show that learning to fly is not necessarily a long-drawn-out process, but can be mastered in an extremely short length of time if the student earnestly applies himself. In flying here from Dallas, where he purchased his new plane through Southern Air Transport, Inc., Young completed his first long cross-country trip. The journey was entirely without incident, he reported.

On a flight from Wichita, Kan., to Washington, D. C., and return, J. H. McKenney stopped for lunch at Candler field Friday with five transport students of the Braley School of Flying, who are building up cross-country time and experience by taking turns at the controls of the six-place monoplane. J. G. Woodward, of Birmingham, Ala., landed during the afternoon in an OX-5 Travel Air and stored his plane for the night in the Gulf Coast hangar.

H. J. Walls, chief engineer of the radio division of the department of commerce, and D. T. Stevens, also a radio engineer as well as a transport pilot, arrived Friday on a tour of inspection of the department's stations in the southern states. They will spend two or three days here in looking over the government station which recently went into operation in Hapeville, about a mile from the field. The officials are making the journey in a J-5 Stearman.

Suspended Priest Held for Robbery

NEW YORK, July 11.—(AP)—A man who said he was a suspended Catholic priest was confronted today with charges of possessing bonds stolen in an $89,000 robbery in Philadelphia, in 1927.

He is Marius Legnani, 49, and a detective arrested him yesterday in a downtown surety office when he attempted to borrow money on some of the bonds. Employes of the surety firm noticed that the securities were listed on their records as stolen.

Dressed in a clerical garb, but not that of the church he said he once served, Legnani explained that while riding from Asbury Park, N. J., to New York, nine months ago he fell into conversation with a fellow passenger who said he was a Catholic and offered to make a donation to the priest's church.

He said they exchanged addresses and the man got in touch with him later, gave him the bonds, and promised to donate $10,000 to the church if Legnani could negotiate a loan on the securities.

Legnani said he was ordained in Italy in 1904 and that he had been attached until differences with his superiors led to his suspension, to St. Pius church, Jamaica, L. I., for many years.

Sermon for Funeral Written by Patient

OMAHA, July 11.—(AP)—William B. Wyckoff wrote his own funeral sermon yesterday before submitting to a serious operation. His condition today was said by hospital attaches to be critical.

Wyckoff, a deep student of the Bible, said his sermon refuted the belief of immediate after-life.

OKLAHOMAN FACES DEATH FOR MURDER

WEWOKA, Okla., July 11.—(AP)—Paul B. Cole, former secretary of the Seminole county election board, today faced the death penalty for the murder of Ernest Irby, one-time Texas banker and Wewoka drug store owner.

In convicting Cole last night the jury made no recommendation for mercy, making the death sentence mandatory.

Frank Hunt, a former attorney of Tulsa, faces a charge of murder growing out of the killing. He testified Cole killed Irby because the latter insisted he would testify against the former election board secretary in a liquor law violation case. Hunt said he and Cole took Irby riding last March and stopped near Lake Wewoka. As Irby alighted from the car, he testified, Cole, who preceded him, shot the former Texas banker to death. They then tied iron pipe to the body and lowered it into the water.

Evelyn Laye Wins Divorce in England

LONDON, July 11.—(AP)—Evelyn Laye, actress wife of Robert Hale Monro, known on the stage as "Sunny" Hale, today was granted a divorce on the ground of her husband's alleged misconduct. Jessie Matthews, an actress, was named co-respondent.

NEW YORK, July 11.—(AP)—Evelyn Laye, granted a divorce today in London from "Sunny" Hale, and Jessie Matthews, named as co-respondent, were rivals on Broadway last season.

Miss Laye, a dainty blonde, was the star of "Bitter Sweet," and Miss Matthews, a tall and striking brunette, was Jack Buchanan's leading woman in "Wake Up and Dream."

Just before they both came over for their New York engagements, Miss Laye filed her divorce action against "Sunny" Hale, naming Miss Matthews, who had been Hale's leading woman in the London production of "Wake Up and Dream." Hale remained in London.

During the winter both Miss Laye and Miss Matthews became popular with Broadway playgoers, but they were never invited to the same parties. Stage associates said they exchanged frequent unpleasantries by note.

Friends of Miss Matthews said today she intends to marry Hale as soon as the divorce decree becomes final.

Flames Gut Factory, Damage Three Houses

Fire, fanned by a stiff breeze, late Friday afternoon virtually destroyed a mattress factory in the rear of 149 Mills street and caused heavy damage to three frame dwellings.

The flames are said to have started from sparks in a gin in the factory, owned by Mrs. C. A. Beecham. The fire quickly spread to her residence at 149 Mills street, and subsequently to a vacant house at 151 Mills street. The roof of the home of Charles Pelot at 137 West Peachtree place, more than a block away, was damaged badly when ignited by flying embers. No estimate of the damage could be obtained late Friday night.

Girl Is Sought.

Police Friday were asked to search for a 14-year-old girl, Mary Voyles, of Forrest Park, who is alleged to have left her home with a 34-year-old man. The request was made by the girl's father, according to police and detectives, as a result, posted orders to arrest the man and to hold him on a charge of kidnaping.

Paramount Offers New Program Today

"A Man From Wyoming," latest and best talking screen feature with Gary Cooper as the star, heads the new program which opens at the new Paramount this morning. A totally different type of story for Cooper—it is laid far from the west—it reveals him in a new and intriguing role as the male half of a sophisticated and romantic love affair.

The scenes of the picture are laid in France. The story is told against a war background, but it is really not a war picture. It is rather the love story—before and after marriage—of two young Americans thrown into startlingly unconventional surroundings.

The new stage presentation, also starting today, is "Polkadot Follies," with the Paramount Rockets again featuring snappy dance routines and colorful costumes. Lou Forbes and his Paramount grand orchestra will present "Russian Fantasy;" Dick Gordon will give "Moments of Melody" at the concert grand piano; Gladys Lyle offers an organ concert; Eddie Cantor stars in a screen comedy; there is a Krazy Kat cartoon, and Paramount Sound News completes the program.

New Fox Program Is Offered Today

Beginning today the Fox theater will present "On the Level," a Fox Movietone feature, starring Victor McLaglen, the he-man hero of the movies, and with Fifi D'Orsay, who will be remembered as the little French girl in Will Rogers' picture, "They Had to See Paris;" William Harrigan and Lilyan Tashman. The story is of a structural steel worker who is vamped by a siren into luring his fellow workers into buying worthless building lots. Just at the moment when it looks darkest he discovers the plot, and then comes the typical McLaglen fireworks. Miss D'Orsay plays the part of a French cabaret entertainer who "falls for" McLaglen.

On the stage, Fanchon and Marco present "International," which, as its name implies, is a gathering of types from many nations. Not the least interesting of the acts is Senor Federico Flores, noted Mexican baritone, and the Osaka brothers, acrobats and risley performers.

Enrico Leide will lead the Fox Grand orchestra in an especially prepared overture, "A Festival at Bagdad," and Dwight Brown, the "organ ace," will present another of his popular organ concerts.

"You forget that Bill Dingle is my guest. Caraveo told the foreman to guard the sheep well and to engage other herders; that Bill Dingle would return anon, like Mary's lamb, dragging his tail behind him. The foreman wanted to know who was going to meet the payroll, and Caraveo told him I would."

"Isn't Enrico taking a lot for granted, Don Jaime?"

"Oh, Enrico knows me pretty well. Better go to Los Algodones tomorrow, Ken, draw about a thousand dollars from the bank and pay off those sheepmen. They'll stick on the job and take good care of those range sheep, when they know they're being watched. Better hire half a dozen new herders for that foreman, too, and relieve our men who are now helping him."

"And do you intend keeping Bill Dingle and his men in your private hoosegow indefinitely?"

"Oh, no, not indefinitely, Ken. I've only sentenced them to 30 days for trespass and assault with intent to do great bodily harm. I like to be judge and jury in all matters that affect my own welfare, and if I turned Bill Dingle and his dinglets over to the law there would be the usual fuss and feathers and delay."

"But Dingle claims that part of his remuneration as manager for Tom Antrim was an interest in the lamb crop. He'll charge you with stealing his lambs and sue you for huge damages."

"But I'll give his foreman a receipt for all the sheep and wool I possess myself of. I'll even give Dingle a duplicate receipt. Sign it myself, too."

"Don Jaime, you're hopelessly medieval. You and all of the Higuenes tribe have been a law unto yourselves so long you don't know anything about the law of the land. Now, I've been an officer of the law and naturally an officer of the law has to be familiar with the law. I'm perfectly familiar with the law covering kidnaping—and if Dingle charges you with kidnaping and swears that you held him a prisoner 30 days in an effort to make him sign over his interest in those lambs, it's going to cost you a lot of money to defend yourself. And if you're convicted the punishment is imprisonment for life."

"An Higuenes cannot be convicted in Las Cruces county, my friend. There would be an overwhelming preponderance of Latin blood in the jury, and a Latin doesn't care two hoots in a hollow for the law. All he wants is justice and he doesn't want any justice other than the brand that appeals to him. King John of Runnymede and Don Quixote could never agree on anything."

But Don Jaime shook his raven head. "The best I'll do for Dingle is to let him have a dozen packs of playing cards and a couple of guitars for his Mexican and Basque herders to strum on." He pondered a few seconds, "Yes, I'll do better than that. I'll let him have all the newspapers that come to the ranch after we've finished reading them, for of course he'll want to look at the market reports on mutton and wool!"

"Nothing to worry about. Providentially Tom Antrim used steel-jacketed bullets fired at something over 200 yards. The bullets had settled in their flight by the time they reached me, so they drilled nice, neat, round little holes that are healing beautifully. I'll be on the job again in a month."

Crooked Bill's well-laid plan worked with the smoothness of a piston, thanks to Roberta. Her heart, filled with sympathy for her rascally old uncle, was cheered considerably by the sight of Glenn Hackett's calm presence in the library when she came down to dinner. To her airy greeting he returned one of the utmost gravity, so Roberta, jumping instantly to the conclusion that Crooked Bill had been talking his affairs over with his lawyer, promptly precipitated the drama, much to the relief of the principal actors.

"Well, Glenn," she said, "has Uncle Bill been telling you his sad story?"

Hackett nodded owlishly.

"Do you see the slightest glimmer of a silver lining in the dark clouds that beset him, Glenn?"

"All appears to be lost save honor, Bobby."

Crooked Bill raised a protesting hand. "Let us not discuss it, if you please, Bobby. I am past help now, so let us forget it and glean what meager measure of comfort may possibly be wrung from my wasted career. Remember, girl, I'm not the whipering kind."

"I know you're not, dear Uncle Bill. You're a perfectly good old sport."

"I admit I was knocked for the count at first, but now that I have my second wind—"

"Save it for your cigar, dear. I have just had a long telegram from my lawyer in Los Algodones, Texas. He informs me that the affairs of Uncle Tom's estate are in excellent shape and that he died leaving even more sheep than was at first suspected. They have all been counted and the wool crop is being garnered and placed in safety. There are about ten thousand lambs that will soon be ready for market and which should bring ten dollars a head and there are upwards of a hundred thousand pounds of excellent wool worth 30 cents a pound—why, it would seem that Uncle Tom's estate will run close to half a million dollars. We should worry and grow wrinkles and gray hair, darling."

The butler announced dinner—and between the fish and the roast, as per agreement, Glenn Hackett suddenly laid down his knife and fork and commenced to question Crooked Bill adroitly as to the exact nature of his operations in the market. And when Crooked Bill had answered all of his questions and Glenn Hackett had made a number of notations in a note-book, he resumed his meal in silence. Roberta, however, noted a grim little smile playing across his face from time to time, so presently, with her customary impulsiveness, she asked him to share the joke with them.

"It's on your Uncle Bill," he replied. "At the risk of being ungracious to my host, it is my duty to inform you, Bobby, that your Uncle Bill is an antediluvian idiot who can't see the woods for the trees. If he could he'd see a path out of this mess he's in—a path as wide as the boardwalk at Atlantic City. Let us eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow Uncle Bill will no longer be a financial corpse. He will have commenced his resurrection . . . . . By jove, this is most excellent roast beef. I remember once I had a cut of roast beef in a restaurant out west, in the cattle country. I couldn't even bend it, much less eat it, so I said to the waiter, 'Waiter—'"

"How are you going to save Uncle Bill?" Roberta demanded sharply.

"I'll explain after dinner, Bobby."

"Explain now," the girl commanded. "Don't you see Uncle Bill is suffering?"

"Let him suffer. He deserves it."

"Glenn, dear, please—"

"Well, when you talk to me that way, Roberta, I can't resist." And thereupon Hackett proceeded to outline to her, patiently and in words of one syllable, his plan for the salvation of Crooked Bill.

"I understand perfectly, Glenn," Roberta said when at last he finished. "You're a wonderful, wonderful friend."

"The plan is vetoed," Crooked Bill declared virtuously. "Friendship will bear up under anything except the indorsement of notes or the swift kerry touch."

"But, Uncle Bill, if there is such a small element of risk—"

"No more, I beg of you, Roberta. There is a definite element of risk, and whether small or large, I will not have my friend accept it. I've had a bellyful of risks lately," he added vulgarly. "I do not crave a second helping."

"But, Uncle Bill—"

Uncle Bill raised his leonine head and his cold, steely-gray eyes flickered murderous lights at her. His mouth closed with a snick, like the door of a safe. "There will be no further discussion of this unpleasant subject," he informed her coldly.

GASOLINE ALLEY—AND RETURN

ROME DENIES REPORT OF BERLIN APPROACH

Report Denounced as Fabrication in Italian and French Capitals.

LONDON, July 11.—(UN)—A report, emanating from a high official German source, that Italian agents had "unofficially" approached the foreign office in Berlin with a proposal that Germany remain neutral in event of a French-Italian war, was denied emphatically at Rome and Paris today.

The report was denounced in both Italian and French capitals as a fabrication.

The French denial concerned specifically a portion of the report in which it was asserted France had learned of the "proposal" and, in turn, had opened negotiations with the German foreign office. These negotiations, the German report had said, were broken off recently because of tension arising from German nationalist attacks on separatists in the Rhineland.

The German source said that the French ambassador in Berlin, Pierre De Margerie, learned of the Italian move and visited Dr. Julius Curtius, German foreign minister. The French envoy, according to German high official advices, told Curtius of France's misgivings about the effect of such a move by Italy on Franco-German friendship.

Louis Loucheur, former labor minister in the French government, the German advices said, personally conferred with the German ambassador at Paris, Dr. L. Von Hoesch, and though an intermediary advised the German minister of occupied territories, Dr. Gottfried Treviranus, that France would regard such German-Italian discussions with misgivings.

These denials, were apparently anticipated in Berlin, where the report of the Italian "proposal" was said to be regarded as an overture to Germany made clandestinely because Italy found herself unable to pay the price Germany would require for the neutrality desired.

Germany has four outstanding aims with regard to foreign policy at present, namely:

(1) Revision of the German eastern frontier and return of the Polisy corridor to Germany.

(2) Elevation of Germany to a plane of international armament parity.

(3) Reduction of reparation payments.

(4) Early return of the Sarre region to Germany.

Reports current in certain quarters in the German capital appear to indicate a belief Italy at present is not in a position to gratify any of these German wishes, hence she would not be able to offer Germany an adequate price for the desired neutrality pledge.

The German advices further indicated the German government's disinclination to accept the "unofficial Italian proposal" was due to a desire to avoid an arrangement which world opinion might construe as a German-Italian political and military alliance against France.

Germany's relations with Italy have been becoming increasingly close in recent weeks, and the French are observing developments with growing uneasiness.

The possibility was not ignored here that the German report of negotiations was put out as an official "feeler," to see what would happen. This has been done often in similar circumstances.

Three Officers Seeking Post AsMarineHead

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(UN) A three-cornered race has developed in the marine corps for the post of commandant made vacant by the death Tuesday of Major General Wendell C. Neville.

Major General Smedley Butler, exczar of Philadelphia's police force, and now commandant of the marine barracks at Quantico, Va., is the best known nationally of the three under consideration.

The other two are Major General Logan Feland, commandant of the department of the Pacific with headquarters at San Francisco, and Brigadier General Ben H. Fuller, acting commandant of the corps. Both have distinguished records, but lack the fiery personality and knack of doing the spectacular that have made Butler famous.

President Hoover is due to make the appointment sometime next week, after the return here of Navy Secretary Adams from New England.

The senior major general of the corps, Butler is in line for the post—and if the marine corps is looking for publicity he is the logical man to attract it. He has been on the front pages of America's newspapers consistently since the war, one of the most notable occasions resulting from his speech last December at Pittsburgh in which he ridiculed American occupation of Caribbean countries. The attack came simultaneously with a fresh outbreak in Haiti which necessitated the dispatch of troops there by President Hoover.

Butler was "called on the carpet" by both Adams and the state department for this speech which President Hoover is understood to have regarded as an "indiscretion."

Butler has an eminent fighting record, being one of a very few in active service who have been advanced in rank for "eminent and conspicuous conduct in battle." He won the advancement for his exceptional conduct in the battle of Tientsin, July 30, 1900.

The marine firebrand, youngest of the three, is but 49 years old.

From the standpoint of age, experience and number of years of service, unbiased observers believe Fuller will be chosen. They contend the appointment is only for a four-year term, which would leave plenty of time for elevation of Butler.

Fuller, 60, has completed 39 years in the corps. Both Fuller and General Feland, who is nearly 61, participated in actual battle in France, where each received many decorations for valor.

SCHOOLGIRL KILLED FALLINGTHROUGHGLASS

NEW YORK, July 11.—(AP)—A schoolgirl, hiding in fun from her geography teacher, broke through a glass roof of the Union Methodist church today and fell to her death on a hardwood floor 30 feet below.

She was Stella Nicolish 11, member of a vacation class at the church.

Steamer Sinks.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., July 11.—(AP)—The grain steamer Yorkton of the Matthews Line was sunk off Whitefish Point last night in a collision with the steamer Mantadoc of the Paterson Line, bound for the lake head with coal. None was injured. The Mantadoc took aboard the Yorkton's crew and came into port slowly.

NEW OFFICIAL ASKED FOR LINGLE INQUIRY

Citizens' Association Asks for New Prosecutor in Probe.

CHICAGO, July 11.—(AP)—A new prosecutor, independent of Chicago newspapers, was proposed for the Lingle murder case today by civic leaders, who said they believed that only such a man can bring to justice the killers of the Tribune reporter.

The suggestion was made in a letter to John A. Swanson, state's attorney, who at the moment was telling newspapermen he lacked sufficient evidence to present to a grand jury.

"It isn't always possible to clear up a case in a day," Swanson said. "Sometimes it takes months and months."

But to the question: "Will this investigation die a natural death?" Swanson answered an emphatic "No."

The suggestion of a special prosecutor came from Augustus Peabody, head of the Citizens' Association; Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago crime commission, and Albert R. Brunker, chairman of the civic safety commission. Their letter referred to a "controversy" among certain leading Chicago newspapers and urged that a Chicago Bar Association committee be invited to select a new prosecutor to direct the investigation to a successful issue.

"The presidents of the various organizations signing this letter," it read, "believe that new and vital facts pertaining to the Lingle murder can be developed in a comparatively short time to a sufficient extent to warrant their feeling that it may easily lead to the discovery and punishment of the person or persons guilty of the crime.

"Without the slighest reflection on the integrity of the members of the Chicago Tribune law firm now charged as special state's attorneys with the duties of discovering the perpetrators of this murder, we are firmly convinced, from the standpoint of public confidence, that the investigation should be conducted by persons who were in no way connected with Lingle or with the paper upon yhich he was employed. . .

"Further, in view of the controversy which has arisen among various of the larger papers of the city, we feel that from that standpoint alone it would be advisable to have the investigation conducted by people in no way connected with any paper."

Presenting their plan for appointment of an independent prosecutor, the civic leaders added: "To such a prosecutor we will present the information which we think is readily procurable, and we are confident that through an impartial and fearless prosecutor the whole sordid tale leading up to the Lingle killing will be fully developed and the guilty parties brought to answer for their crime at the bar of public justice."

Swanson told the reporters he did not know at this moment who would be called before the grand jury—"I am going to call people when I get something to call them for."

One suspect was still held today in connection with Alfred Lingle's death—Patsy Tardi, hoodlum picked up last Monday. His attorney applied for a habeas corpus writ to free him today and then spent several hours trying to find his client. He was found, at last in Coroner Herman N. Bundesen's office undergoing examination with a lie detecting device from which he shied. The coroner was given until 10 a. m. Saturday to book him on some charge or bring him into court.

Afghanistan Picks New National Flag

CALCUTTA, Bengal, July 11.—(AP) Because its old flag too often was taken as asign of mourning Afghanistan has a new flag, on which are three perpendicular stripes of black, red and white, with the crescent of a mosque in the center.

The old flag was a black square in the center of which shone a white crescent. Diplomats and foreign office officials complained that citizens of other nations invariably raised their hats when passing nearby believing it indicated a funeral.

Then, too, the Afghans are not a sad race and the sombre black was considered as altogether incongruous with the gay music and decorations in general of official functions. Its composition was explained as indicating an age of darkness and a world darkened by sin through which Islam shone in a clear cold night.

The flag designed by King Nadir Shah is also intended to be symbolic, the touch of black being meant to convey the idea the Afghanistan for ages was held within the grip of darkness. The brigno red band denotes the revolution into which the country was plunged after having emerged from the darkness, while the white stands for peace and prosperity of the nation. The mosque in the center is designed to announce to the world that Afghanistan has achieved its present peace through the grace of God and shall remain under the shadow of Islam forever.

PRESIDENT APPROVES OLEOMARGARINE TAX

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(AP)—President Hoover has signed a bill to amend the oleomargarine act providing for an assessment of a 10-cent tax per pound on all colored imitations of butter.

The measure had been in congress several years following the growth of the manufacture and sale of compounds as butter.

Under the new act all compounds containing more than one per cent of moisture and colored to imitate butter are to come under the oleomargarine act and all quarter and pound packages must carry the information the product is oleomargarine.

15-YEAR-OLD BOY STABS FATHER TO DEATH

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR No. 102

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Months had passed. The labor of the Waziri and the gold of Opar had rebuilt and refurnished the wasted homestead of the Greystokes. Once more the simple life of the great African farm went on as it had before the coming of the Belgian and the Arab. Forgotten were the sorrows and dangers of yesterday. For the first time in months Lord Greystoke felt that he might indulge in a holiday, and so a great hunt was organized that the faithful laborers might feast in celebration of the completion of their work.

In itself the hunt was a success, and ten days later a well-laden "safari" took up its return march toward the Waziri plain. Lord and Lady Greystoke with Basuli and Mugambi rode together at the head of the column, laughing and talking together about the coming feast. Jane Clayton's horse shied suddenly at an object half hidden in the long grasses of an open space in the jungle. Tarzan's keen eyes sought quickly for the reason. "What's this!" he cried, swinging from his saddle. A moment later the four were grouped about a human skull and a litter of whitened bones.

Tarzan stooped and lifted a leathern pouch from the grisly relics of a man. The hard outlines of the contents brought an exclamation of surprise to his lips. "The jewels of Opar," he cried, holding his pouch aloft, and, pointing to the bones at his feet, "all that remains of Werper, the Belgian." Mugambi laughed. "Look within, Bwana," he cried, "and you will see what are the jewels of Opar—you will see what the Belgian gave his life for," and the black laughed aloud.

"Why do you laugh?" asked Tarzan. "Because," replied Mugambi, "I filled the Belgian's pouch with river gravel before I escaped from the Abyssinians' camp. I brought away the real jewels. That they were afterwards stolen from me is my shame and disgrace. But, anyway, the Belgian lost them. Tarzan had untied the thong. The contents trickled forth into his palm, a stream of brilliant, scintillating gems. "The jewels of Opar," cried Tarzan. "But how did Werper come by them again?" None could answer. Both Chulk and Werper were dead and no other knew.

Ponce de Leon Baptist Plans Special Service

The Ponce de Leon Baptist church is making plans to move into the first two units of its new building out at Peachtree road and Wesley the first Sunday in August. Leading up to that, however, it is to have special services for three Sundays, today, July 20 and July 27, at the old Ponce de Leon location, at the corner of Ponce de Leon and Piedmont. Through the courtesy of the Central Congregational church, which purchased the Ponce de Leon Baptist property, the latter church is to have its Sunday morning services in its old home for the next three Sunday mornings, at 11 o'clock. There will be no afternoon or evening services.

Dr. Luther Rice Christie, the pastor, will preach at these services and the music will be provided by the choir of the Central Congregational church, under the leadership of Mrs. R. G. Sawyer.

ENGINE BLOWS UP, SCALDING THREE

PETERSBURG, Va., July 11.—(AP) One trainman is dead and two others are seriously injured in a Petersburg hospital as the result of an explosion of a Seaboard Air Line express freight locomotive here late today.

The dead: Fred D. Drewry, Raleigh, N. C. The injured: Fireman S. S. Taylor, Middleton, N. C, both legs broken, body burns and scalded, and Brakeman S. S. Wiggins, address unknown, seriously burned and scalded. Hope is held by hospital attaches for the recovery of the injured men.

Engineer Drewry died two hours after the engine exploded and ten cars of the northbound freight piled up at a Dinwiddie county crossing one mile south of here on the S. A. L. main line.

Drewry, Wiggins and Taylor were in the engine cab when the locomotive exploded and were hurled clear of the wreckage by the blast.

Sparks set fire to the derailed cars and flames enveloped several cars. Petersburg firemen were forced to resort to dynamite to scatter the burning mass when it was found no water connections were available.

Two other members of the train crew, Conductor S. S. Wheeler and Trainman E. P. Logan, both of Petersburg, in the caboose of the 50-car train escaped injury.

Logan said he heard two explosions before the ten derailed cars plowed along the track for several hundred yards.

Low pressure in the boiler was believed by surviving members of the crew to be responsible for the blast, although an official investigation was planned to determine the exact cause of the explosion.

Railway officials were at the scene of the accident a short time after the blast and were ready to begin the investigation.

Services Are Planned At Decatur Church

Convict Rest Period Asked by Doctor

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 11.—(AP)—Dr. James A. Hayne, state health officer, today entered the controversy raging around alleged cruelty to South Carolina convicts with the suggestion that they be permitted to rest during the heat of the day.

The suggestion, laid before Governor Richards, was made, Dr. Hayne said, "as a matter of humanity." He suggested a rest period from 10 a. m. until late afternoon.

A representative of the health department, he said, recently attended a convict suffering from heat prostration as the result of being forced to work on the roads in Fairfield county at midday.

"The convict's life was saved only because a widow of the neighborhood furnished him a drink of illicit whisky to revive him," Dr. Hayne added.

A few days ago alleged cases of extreme cruelty to prisoners in Spartanburg county were reported to Governor Richards.

Prisoners there were said to have been hung by their thumbs as punishment for infractions of gang rules.

The county superiontendent admitted unruly prisoners had been punished, but denied there had been any cruelty.

Five Hi-Jackers Fire On Kentucky Home

NEW HAVEN, Ky., July 11.—(AP) Five men who claimed to be federal prohibition agents raked the home of Mrs. Franklin Ball, near here, today with sub-machine gunfire when refused permission to search the house. They fled in an automobile when her two sons returned the fire and later in an encounter with a sheriff's posse Omer Alford, Bowling Green, was killed and two were captured. Two others escaped.

The men are believed to have been seeking to rob the place or expected to find a large quantity of liquor there, but at the sheriff's office it was said the Hall family had never been suspected of having liquor. No one was injured by the firing at the home.

WESTERN FORESTS SWEPT BY FIRES

MISSOULA, Mont., July 11.—(AP) Forests of Montana, northern Idaho and Wyoming today were spotted with burned areas as the result of a terrific electrical storm which started more than 60 fires yesterday.

District forestry officials said that scouts and rangers had been able to control all of the flame so far.

National guard troops sent to the Laramie peak country succeeded in bringing under control two fires in that region which had burned over 1,000 acres of timber land. One hundred and twenty men fought the flames throughout the night.

Rains around Great Falls, Mont., extinguished all blazes in that vicinity.

Fear of further outbreaks at the scene of the French creek fire in the Medicine Bow National forest was materially lessened when a shower drenched the area. The blaze, which started June 30, destroyed 3,500 acres of timber.

In Wyoming several fires kept fighters busy before they were brought under control.

Fire Chief Howard Flint reported no fires of consequence after an air patrol over the Missoula forest and the Blackfeet Protective Association area.

Lightning started 41 fires in the Bitter Root valley, but the situation was reported under control.

An observer on Mount Jumbo, east of here, reported counting 238 lightning bolts yesterday, 183 of which struck the ground.

A fire starting in Cedar gulch, near Rayfork, Calif, 75 miles west of Redding, gave concern to a group of fire fighters on the Pacific coast, but was reported held in check today. Rangers said it could be extinguished unless the wind rose or changed direction. About 700 acres of mixed conifers and brush was burned over.

COVINGTON MEN FIGHT TIMBER FIRE.

COVINGTON, Ga., July 11.—(AP)—Crews of men from Covington are fighting a forest fire on the Brown's Bridge road, about three miles from here, where about a thousand acres of cutover land and standing timber are in flames. Most of the land is said to belong to the Bibb Manufacturing Company and N. S. Turner.

Playing Dead Puts Carolinian Behind the Bars

Getting money to defray his own funeral expenses when he was not dead, landed B. L. Crawley, of 156 Luckie street, behind the bars of police station Friday night on a technical charge of suspicion.

Thursday night C. C. Brooks, secretary to Night Chief Connally, received a wire from Mrs. J. E. Register, of Hartsville, S. C., asking that the death of B. L. Crawley be confirmed. This Mr. Brooks was unable to do, and Friday night a second wire came requesting that a J. W. Hughes, of the Luckie street address, be arrested on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Detectives A. E. Davis and George G. Caldwell were assigned to the case and they went to the Luckie street address after the man named "Hughes." When arrested "Hughes" turned out to be none other than B. L. Crawley about whose death the first inquiry was made.

Crawley told the detectives that he was a nephew of Mrs. Register and that he had wired her under the name of Hughes, saying that he (Crawley) was dead and requesting $15 to finish paying funeral expenses. He stated that he obtained the money. Pending word from Hartsville police as to whether charges will be preferred against Crawley or not, local officers are holding him on a technical charge of suspicion.

Mendenhall Will Not Face Another Trial

CLEARWATER, Fla., July 11.—(AP)—Judge Orville S. Dayton has ruled that John Mendenhall, released from the state prison after serving 15 years of a life sentence for the murder of Miss Sue Elliott, will not have to stand trial for the murder of the girl's mother, Mrs. Charles Elliott.

E. Pasco Wilson yesterday placed a formal request with the circuit court to dismiss the indictment and the oral request was granted. Judge Dayton was on the bench in place of Judge John U. Bird, who was disqualified because he was one of Mendenhall's attorneys.

Mendenhall was released from prison on a conditional pardon granted by the state pardon board. He was convicted of killing the two women, whose bodies were found beside his automobile on a highway near Tampa. Mendenhall maintained his innocence since he first was arrested.
